THE MARYLAND PHILOSOPHY

- Our goal is to strive to be the best in everything we do.
- In the classroom, our expectation is that each and every student-athlete will earn a degree while achieving the highest possible academic average.
- On the field, we expect to become a consistent Top 20 team. Our primary goals are to win the conference championship and be in a position to contend for the national title. We will do this by mastering the art of preparation, which will enable us to perform at our optimal level.
- We will apply the lessons learned through football into our daily lives. We will learn to be accountable for our actions, to rely on one another, and always do what's best for the good of the team.
- We will embrace the concept of family through team bonding and working toward common goals.
- We will learn to fight through adversity and to be winners in every aspect of our lives.
- We will develop relationships that last a lifetime.
- We will have fun playing the great game of football.

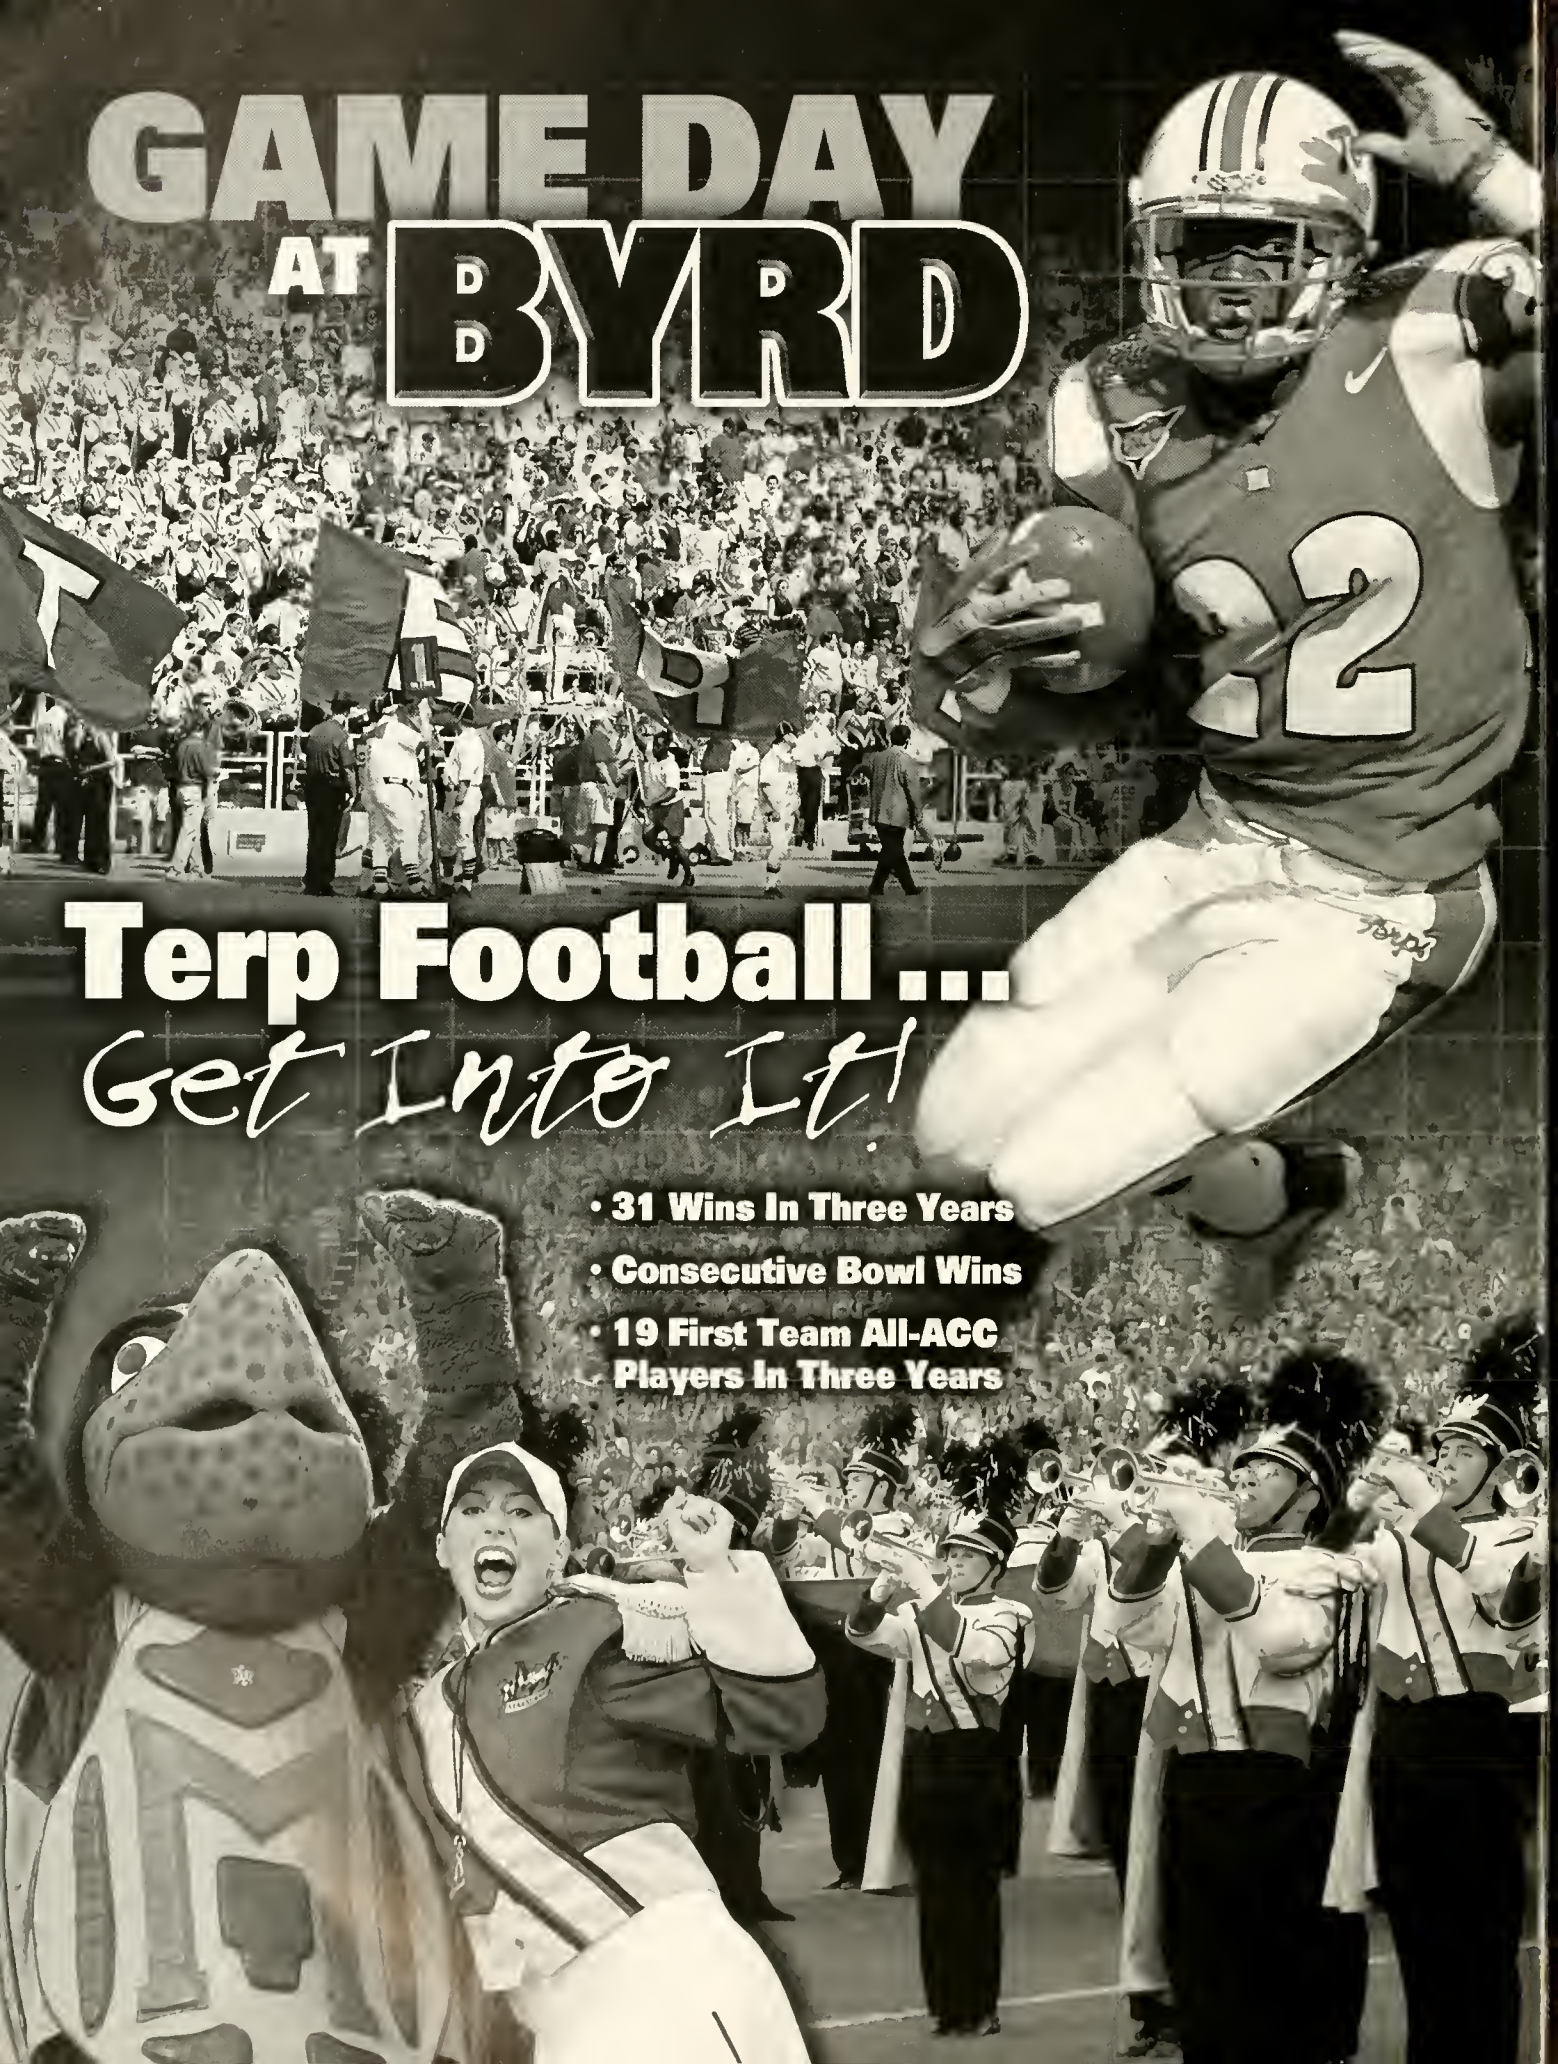
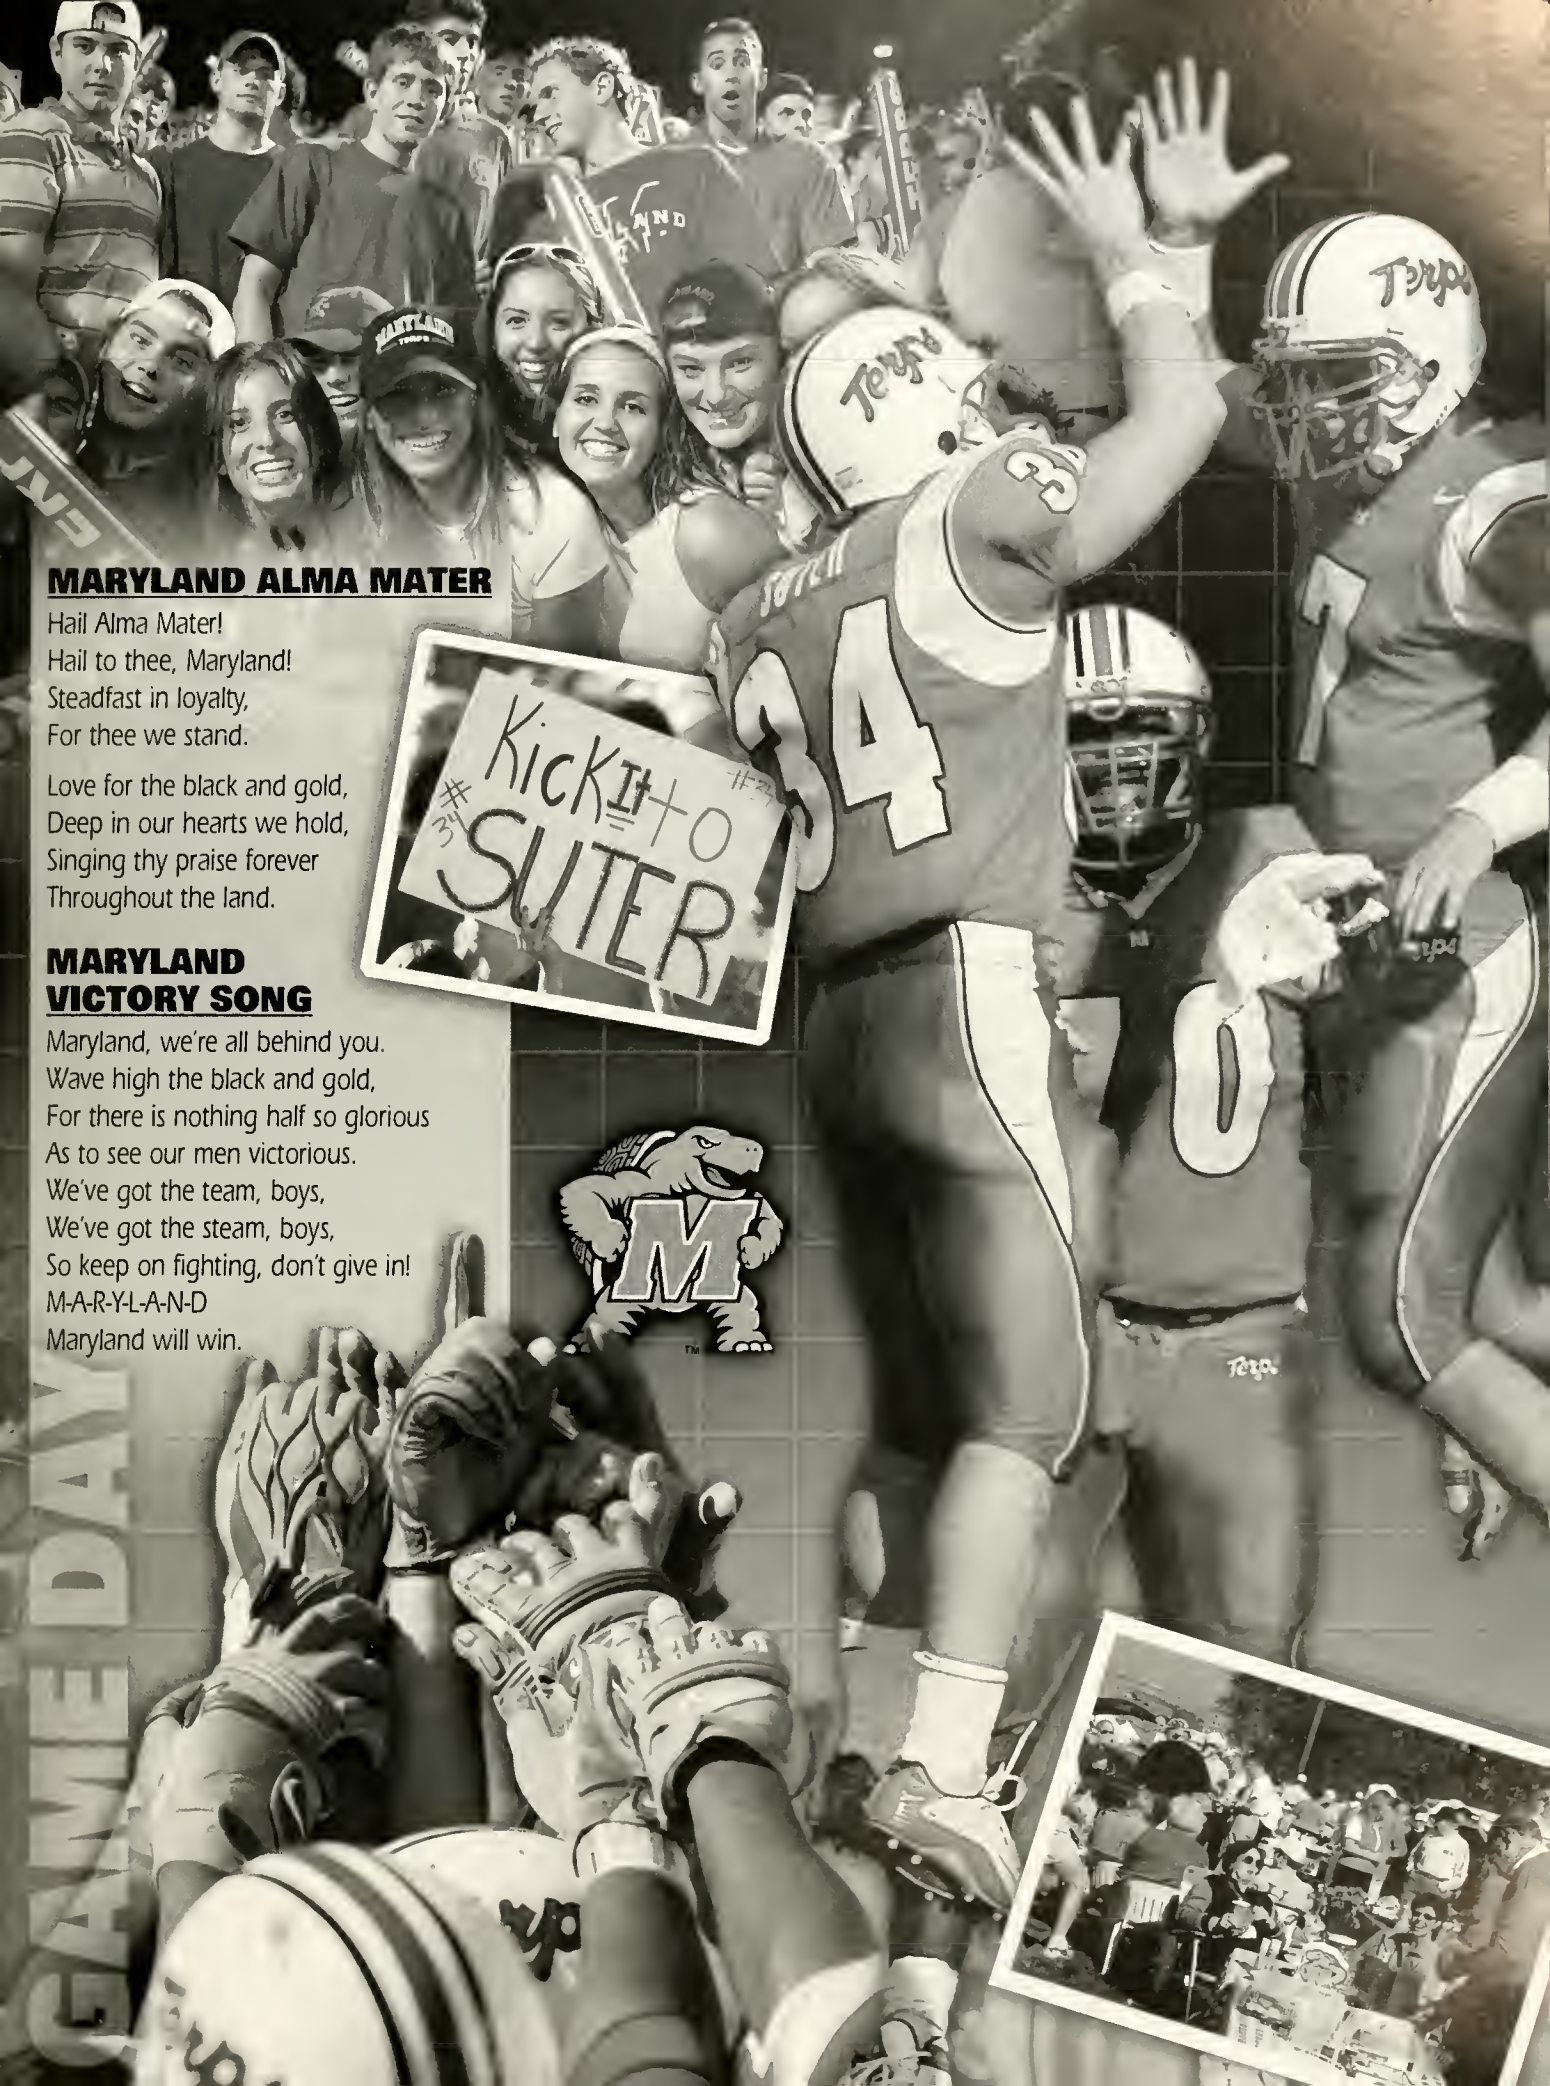
GAME DAY AT BYRD



Terp Football ...
Get Into It!

- 31 Wins In Three Years
- Consecutive Bowl Wins
- 19 First Team All-ACC Players In Three Years



MARYLAND ALMA MATER

Hail Alma Mater!
Hail to thee, Maryland!
Steadfast in loyalty,
For thee we stand.

Love for the black and gold,
Deep in our hearts we hold,
Singing thy praise forever
Throughout the land.

MARYLAND VICTORY SONG

Maryland, we're all behind you.
Wave high the black and gold,
For there is nothing half so glorious
As to see our men victorious.
We've got the team, boys,
We've got the steam, boys,
So keep on fighting, don't give in!
M-A-R-Y-L-A-N-D
Maryland will win.

GAME DAY

FRIDGE FEVER

It caught on quickly and continues to spread... Fridge Fever, that is.

Perhaps never in the history of Maryland Athletics has a coach overseen a more immediate and dramatic turnaround of his team's fortunes than Ralph Friedgen, the consensus national Coach of the Year in 2001, who has the 7th-most number of wins by a head coach in the first three years of his career in NCAA history.

Friedgen's rookie season included an ACC title, a BCS appearance in the FedEx Orange Bowl, and a final ranking of No. 10... Maryland finished each of the last two seasons by winning 10 of its last 11 games, including dominating performances in postseason bowls (30-3 over Tennessee in the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl and 41-7 over West Virginia in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl).

A high-powered, exciting offense that has resulted in back-to-back scoring records... an attacking suffocating defensive style... standout special teams play — all have been hallmarks of Friedgen's Terrapin teams, as they have posted an ACC-best 31-8 record the past three seasons.

"Some people look at a football field and see hash marks and yard lines. Ralph Friedgen sees plays and patterns invisible to every other naked eye. And if anyone on defense does see them, they see them a step too late. More important, Ralph has the skill to teach what he sees to his players.

You always hear about great middleweights who are 'pound for pound' the best fighters in the world. That's meant as a compliment to smaller men. Ralph is not a small man, but pound for pound he's still the best offensive coach in the country."

Ivan Maisel
ESPN.com

"Those of us who watched Coach Friedgen for all those years as an assistant knew that if any school would finally have the good sense to hire him, he would be a dynamic head coach. His first three years at Maryland have certainly proven to be true. Everyone knew he had a brilliant offensive mind, but now Coach Friedgen has shown that he has the complete package of skills to make Maryland an annual contender for the ACC championship. Ralph Friedgen is the real deal."

Tony Barnhart,
The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

Friedgen was featured in the Sports Illustrated 2003 College Football Preview.

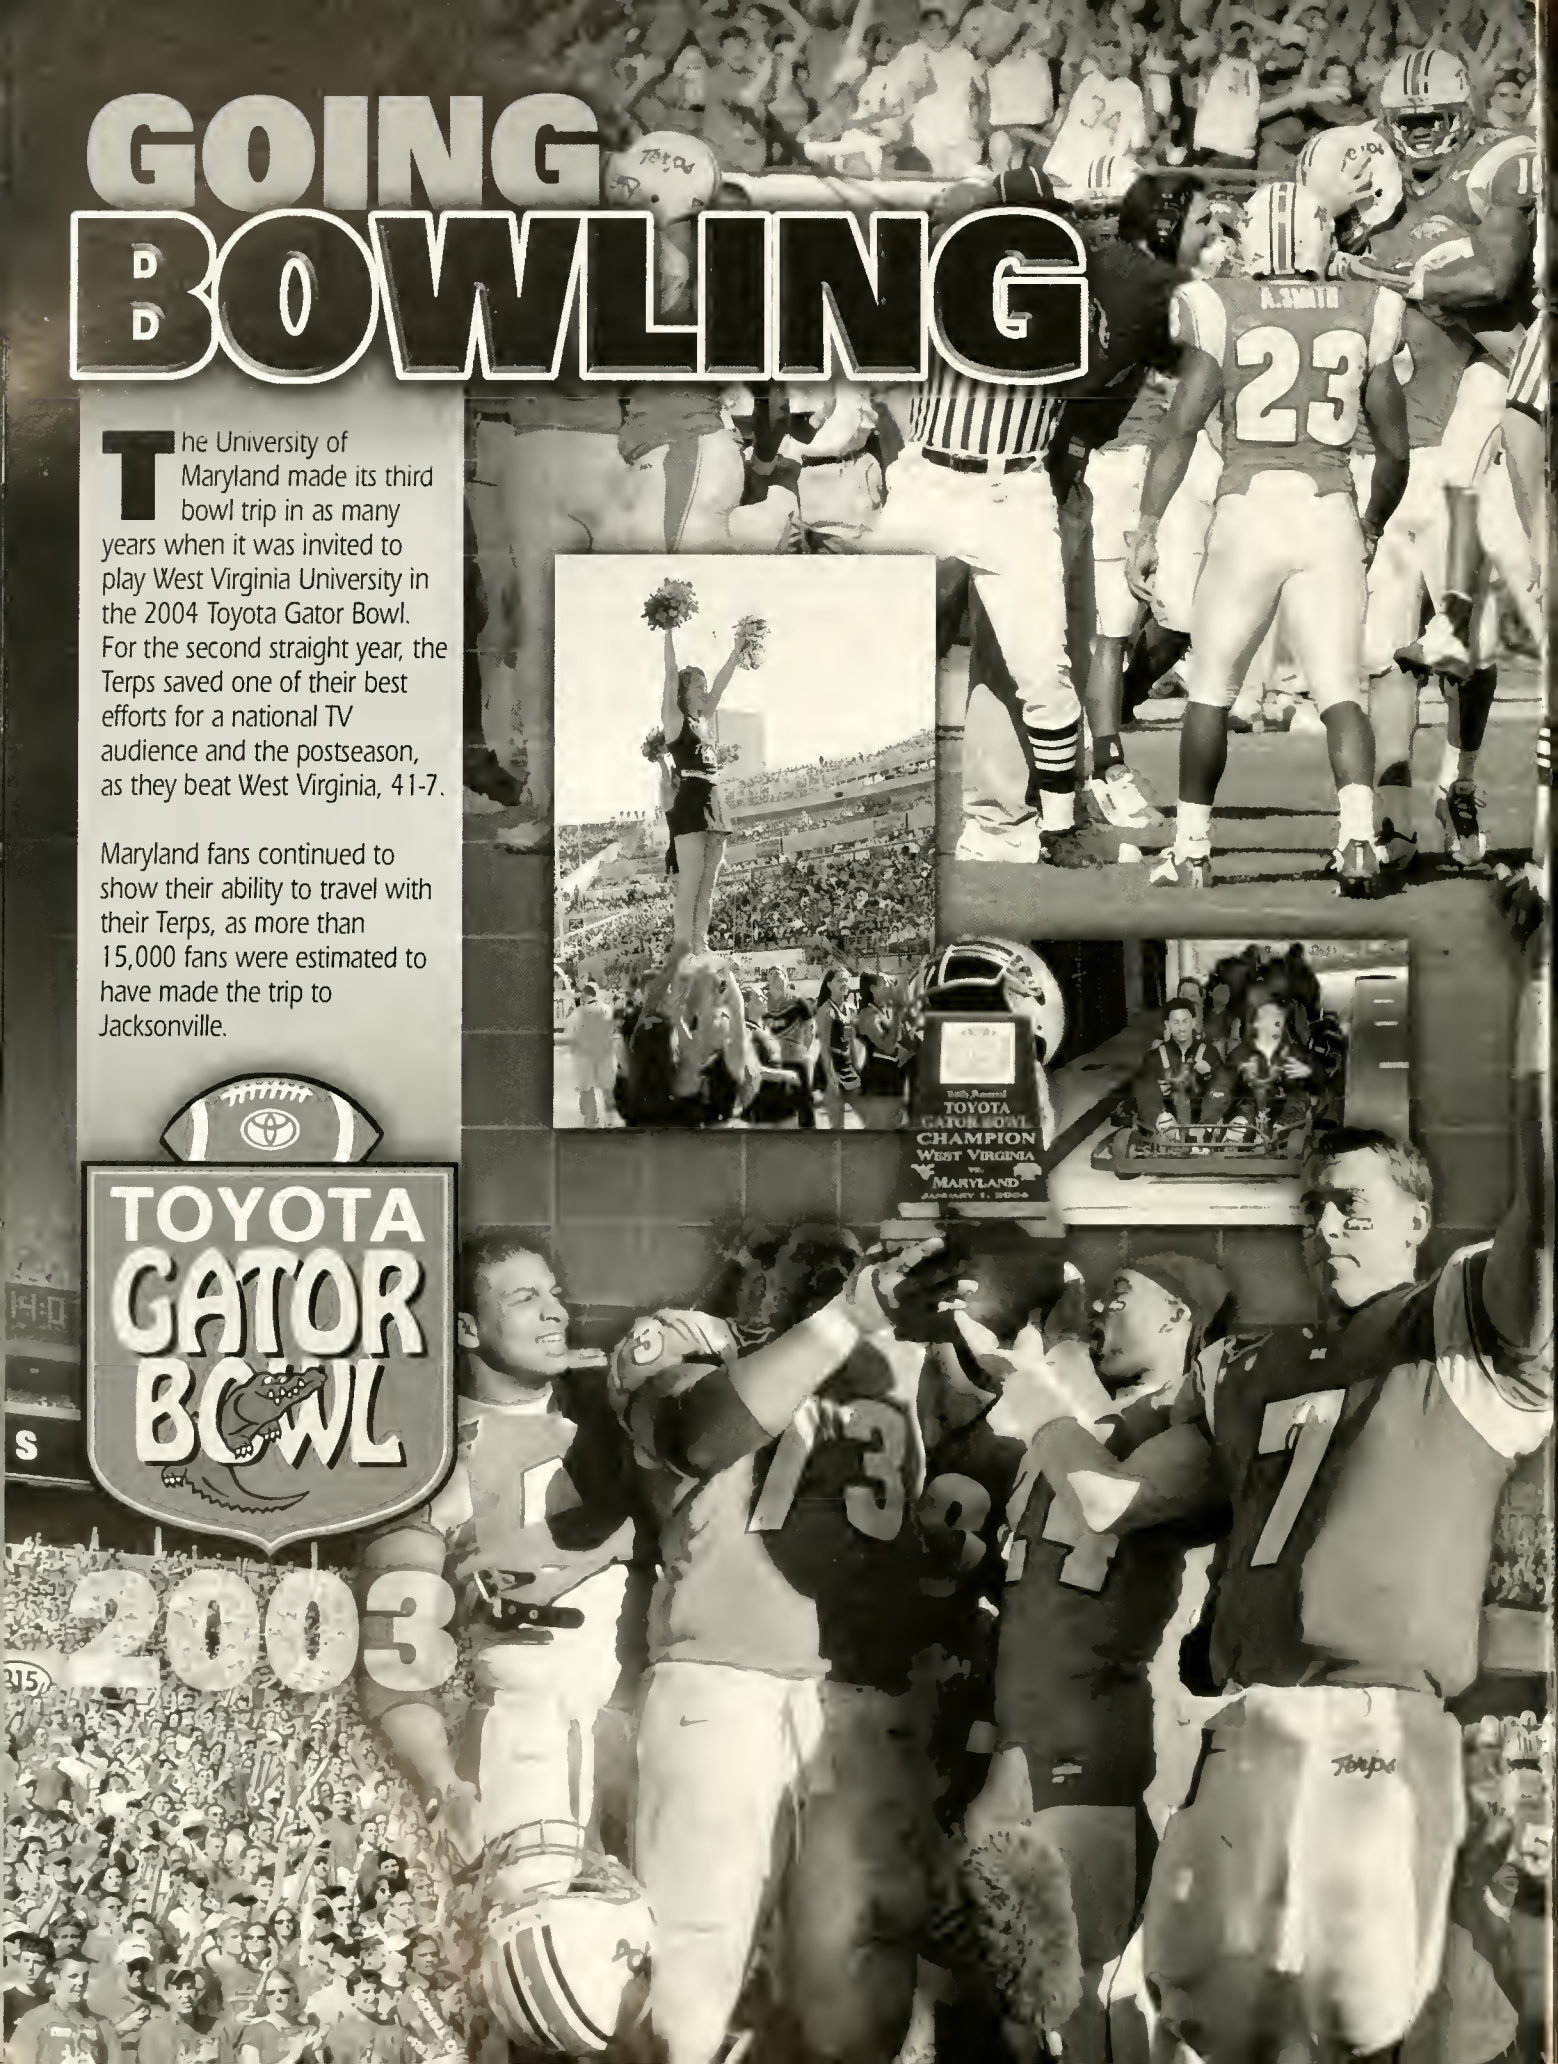
GOING BOWLING

The University of Maryland made its third bowl trip in as many years when it was invited to play West Virginia University in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl. For the second straight year, the Terps saved one of their best efforts for a national TV audience and the postseason, as they beat West Virginia, 41-7.

Maryland fans continued to show their ability to travel with their Terps, as more than 15,000 fans were estimated to have made the trip to Jacksonville.



Maryland has made bowl trips in each of the past three seasons. Only three times in school history (1973-78 and 1982-85) has the Terrapin football program had this kind of prolonged postseason success.

The Terps' last two postseason victories have been by a combined 71-10 score, with victories over nationally prominent schools such as Tennessee and West Virginia.

Maryland set 10 school bowl-game records in the New Year's Day victory over West Virginia in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl.

HONORED TERPS

Ten Maryland football players earned first- or second-team recognition on All-Atlantic Coast Conference teams in 2003, the most of any conference school.

Maryland has had 28 All-ACC selections under coach Ralph Friedgen, one more than the school had in the previous 17 years combined. In 2002, a school-record eight Terrapins earned first team All-ACC honors.

Terrapin football players have become more prominent nationally, earning recognition in a number of places before, during and after the last three seasons. In 2003, 17 different players were noted in preseason publications, weekly awards and postseason honors.

In 2002, linebacker E.J. Henderson became Maryland's first national award winner in 28 years when he won the Dick Butkus Award as the nation's best collegiate linebacker, as well as the Chuck Bednarik Trophy, symbolic of the nation's outstanding defensive player.

OUR HOUSE

Gossett Team House & Byrd Stadium

The Gossett Football Team House expansion project, which began with the first phase in the Spring of 2002, will improve the University of Maryland's football facility to better meet the needs of Terrapin student-athletes and recruits through the expansion of four components:

- Expanded academic support and career development unit
- New recruit meeting room/dining facility with kitchen
- New team meeting auditorium
- Expanded entrance and lobby

Phase One of the 15,500 square-foot renovation is complete with the creation of an expanded academic support lab. This increased the existing space dedicated to support and strengthen the academic and career-achievement initiatives of football student-athletes by more than 4,000 square feet. In addition, a brand new video board was finished in time for the 2002 season, giving fans a more vibrant and exciting experience in Byrd Stadium with game action and replays shown on a board measuring 21 feet by 28 feet.

Phases Two and Three, just completed in the summer of 2004, include a 3,500 square-foot meeting room and dining facility which will provide a multi-purpose showcase for hosting recruits and their families.

It also includes a new team meeting auditorium which will give the entire football team the opportunity to meet together in one room, allowing the coaching staff to teach using state-of-the-art technology in an environment that has sufficient seating space for all the players. This addition will help transform the staff's capability to effectively present offensive and defensive game plans.

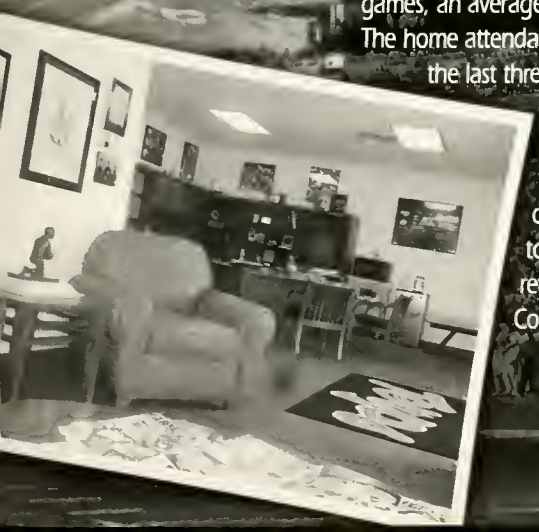
The construction also includes an enhanced entrance and lobby for the Gossett Team House that will showcase the programs tradition, importance and success. An impressive first impression for recruits and visitors, the entrance and lobby will highlight the rich past of Maryland football and will showcase the Terps' return to national prominence.

BYRD STADIUM

19-1 Under Friedgen at Home

Undefeated at Home in 2001 and 2003

Attendance at Byrd Stadium has reached record levels over the last three years. In 2004, Maryland averaged 51,236 through the turnstiles at Byrd, beating the best previous home average of 49,385 set in 1985. Maryland has averaged more than 43,000 fans at home over the last three years, the first time in school history that feat has been accomplished. In Friedgen's three seasons, 935,529 fans have attended the 20 home games, an average of 46,776. The home attendance figure in the last three seasons is more than in the previous five-plus years combined prior to Friedgen's return to College Park.



THE ACC–CONFERENCE OF CHAMPIONS

The Atlantic Coast Conference has a brand new look for the 2004-05 year, its 52nd in existence. The new year brings the University of Miami and Virginia Tech into the storied conference, making the ACC one of the top leagues in all of college football.

Maryland and Miami are two of only five Division I-A teams to have won at least 10 games in each of the past three years (Miami 35-3, Oklahoma 35-6, Texas 32-7, Maryland 31-8, Washington State 30-8).

ACC teams have won two of the last five national championships, five titles since 1990 and nine national crowns overall since the 1981 season.

The ACC now features three teams who have played in five of the first six BCS National Championship games.

Eight of the 11 ACC members in 2004 played in postseason bowl games a year ago. The league sent six teams to bowls in 2001 and, in 2002, set an NCAA record for the percentage of teams in a conference making the postseason when seven of the nine teams received invitations.

For the first time ever, the ACC surpassed 3,000,000 in total attendance in 2003 and for the fourth-straight year, the league set a new per-game average record at 51,842 per contest.

The ACC remains the nation's all-time winningest conference in bowl play with a 97-83-5 record (.538). The SEC and Pac-10 are tied for second at .518.

Over the past three years, the ACC is 13-6 in postseason play, including a 5-1 bowl mark in 2003. The ACC is the only conference to have a winning bowl record in each of the past three seasons.

The ACC, with seven of its nine teams listed in the top 50, finished the 2003 season as the top-ranked conference in the Sagarin computer rankings.

IN THE MEDIA SPOTLIGHT

DID YOU KNOW?

- Playing for the Terps means competing in the nation's fourth-largest media market.
- The Terps are covered extensively by two of the nation's top 10 newspapers: the Washington Post and the Baltimore Sun.
- USA Today, the nation's newspaper, is headquartered less than 20 miles from Byrd Stadium.
- The Maryland Terrapin radio network, which can be accessed up and down the East Coast, boasts one of the largest coverage areas in collegiate sports. Johnny Holliday, one of the top announcers in college football, is in his 26th year as Voice of the Terps.
- Every major national television network – ABC, NBC, CBS and FOX – has a major news-gathering affiliate in both Washington and Baltimore. No university in the East boasts eight major news outlets within a 35-mile radius of its campus – except the University of Maryland.
- ACC football will receive extensive live television coverage over the next decade, with ABC, ESPN/ESPN2 and Jefferson Pilot Sports combining for more than 200 telecasts.
- The Atlantic Coast Conference was cleared on more than 295 radio stations during the 2003 season, totaling more than 500 hours of live game coverage.
- ESPN, which originated its first-ever sports telecast from the University of Maryland in 1979, has been a regular visitor to Byrd Stadium over the years. Two Terp games for 2004 have already been tabbed for national coverage by ESPN.
- The Tyser Tower press box at Byrd Stadium seats more than 160 members of the print media on its third level and features state-of-the-art facilities for radio and television on the fourth level.
- FridgeTV.com made a successful debut in 2003 and has unique insider's views of the Terrapin football program, making it the top coaches' web site in college football.
- The Ralph Friedgen Show, featuring the popular Terrapins football coach, airs weekly on Comcast SportsNet, one of the top regional sports networks on cable.

TERPS NFL CONNECTION

Beginning with Maryland's first-ever NFL draft pick in 1937 and continuing in 2000 with Frank Wycheck's lateral in the "Music City Miracle," the Terrapins have fashioned an impressive tradition in the National Football League. Names like Scarbath, Jones, Nolan, White, Avellini, Esiason, Shiner, O'Donnell, Collins, Nehemiah, Lewis, Glover, Atkinson and Mike-Mayer have dotted NFL rosters over the years. In all, nearly 150 Terrapins have gone on to play professionally following their Maryland careers.

DID YOU KNOW?

- Maryland has had 185 National Football League Draft choices since 1937, fourth-most among Atlantic Coast Conference schools.
- Twelve Terrapins have been taken in the first round of the NFL draft, including a pair of No. 2 overall selections in quarterback Jack Scarbath (1953) and defensive lineman Randy White (1975).
- Butkus and Bednarik award-winning linebacker E.J. Henderson was selected early in the second round of the 2003 NFL Draft by the Minnesota Vikings. Henderson was the 40th selection overall.
- Four former Terrapin quarterbacks have appeared in the Super Bowl: Boomer Esiason (1988), Frank Reich (1990-93), Neil O'Donnell (1995, 2000) and Scott Zolak (1996).
- 17 former Terrapins were on NFL rosters at the end of the 2003 season.
- Three former Maryland head coaches (Bobby Ross, Lou Saban and Clark Shaughnessy) and four former Maryland players (Dick Modzelewski, Dick Nolan and Ron Waller) have gone on to serve as head coaches in the NFL, while former Maryland player Mike Tice is in his third season as head coach of the Minnesota Vikings.
- Former Dallas Cowboy Randy White made eight Pro Bowl appearances during his career, among the most in NFL history. White was co-MVP of Super Bowl XII and was later inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Maryland's recent success has been noticed by scouts and coaches at the top level of the game. There were 12 players from the Terps' Gator Bowl-champion squad in 2004 NFL camps, including five who were selected in the NFL Draft.

The five Terrapins picked in the 2004 NFL Draft were the most since 1988 and the most since the draft was shortened to seven rounds. Maryland had five players taken in 11 rounds in 1988.

TERPS QUARTERBACK LEGACY

Over the years Maryland has carved a well-earned reputation as Quarterback U, producing 14 players who have gone on to play the position in the National Football League. Here's a brief look at some of the Terps' most celebrated signal-callers:

JACK SCARBATH (1950-52) — Maryland's split T quarterback was runner-up to Billy Vessels for the Heisman Trophy and was a unanimous All-America selection in 1952. Named Sport magazine's "Sportsman of the Year," Scarbath was a unanimous All-South selection and the Southern Conference Player of the Year. In three seasons, the Terps were 24-4-1 with Scarbath as QB, including 10-0 in 1951. He went on to become Maryland's second first-round draft pick, going to Washington in 1953.

DICK SHINER (1961-63) — An honorable mention All-America selection in 1962, Shiner was a three-year starter for the Terps. He was a two-time first team All-ACC choice who helped lead the Terps to a 21-17 win over Penn State in just his seventh game as the signal-caller. He was later drafted by the Washington Redskins and went on to play 11 years in the NFL.

BOB AVELLINI (1972-74) — In his first start as a sophomore, he showed a glimpse of things to come, setting school marks for total offense (312 yards) and passing yards (314) while completing 21 of 31 passes in a game vs. Duke. He still ranks among the most accurate passers in school history, completing 58.6 percent of his passes for 3,222 yards. A sixth-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1975, he went on to have a 10-year NFL career.

BOOMER ESIASON (1981-83) — He was a two-time All-American who set 17 school records and led the Terps to the ACC championship in 1983 and a berth in the Tangerine Bowl. Arguably the most prolific left-handed quarterback in NFL history, Esiason was a four-time Pro Bowl selection and spent 14 seasons in pro football. In 1988, he was named the league's MVP and led his Cincinnati Bengals to Super Bowl XXIII against the San Francisco 49ers.

FRANK REICH (1983-84) — Best known for leading the Buffalo Bills back from a 32-point deficit in the 1992 NFL playoffs against Houston, he also commanded the greatest comeback in the college game as well. On Nov. 10, 1984, Reich replaced Stan Gelbaugh at halftime against No. 6 Miami (Fla.) down 31-0. Thirty minutes later, Maryland pulled off the miracle upset, 42-40, preserving its run for a second consecutive ACC title. He finished the season as one of the top-rated passers in the country. He was drafted in the third round of the 1985 draft by Buffalo and appeared in four Super Bowls

STAN GELBAUGH (1984-85) — He played behind Boomer Esiason and Frank Reich before moving into the Terps' starting lineup in 1984 when Reich went down with a shoulder injury. Gelbaugh stepped in to lead Maryland to four wins and a narrow one-point loss on the road to Penn State. The following season, the anticipation of Gelbaugh's return brought the Terps a preseason No. 1 ranking by Sport magazine. The Terps went on to win the ACC title and a Cherry Bowl championship in '85. He served a pair of NFL clubs, the Buffalo Bills and Seattle Seahawks.

NEIL O'DONNELL (1987-89) — A two-year starter for the Terps, he ended his career in the No. 2 spot on most major Maryland passing charts. Drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1990, he became the team's franchise player during his six seasons on the team, making a Pro Bowl appearance in only his second year and leading the Steelers to an appearance in Super Bowl XXX. O'Donnell continued his career with the New York Jets, Cincinnati Bengals and Tennessee Titans.

SCOTT ZOLAK (1989-90) — Despite starting just one season for the Terps, he finished his collegiate career among Terp leaders in passing yards (3,124) and completions (270). His 2,589 passing yards in 1990 ranked as the second-highest single-season total in school history and helped earn him honorable mention All-America recognition from Football News. He was taken in the fourth round of the 1991 NFL draft by the New England Patriots.

Scott Milanovich

SCOTT MILANOVICH (1993-95) — He left campus as one of the most decorated Terrapin QBs ever. In fact, Milanovich still owns or shares 31 Maryland passing records, including career standards for passing yards (7,301), touchdowns (49) and completions (650). He was drafted in 1996 by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

SHAUN HILL (2000-2001) — He came to Maryland as a junior-college transfer, won the starting job and flourished under the new system installed by Ralph Friedgen. Hill sparked the Terrapins to the 2001 ACC championship and earned team MVP honors, throwing for 13 touchdowns and rushing for seven more. He was given a chance as a free agent by former Terrapin Mike Tice, currently the head coach of the Minnesota Vikings, and stayed with the squad as their third-team QB. Hill spent the spring of 2003 with the NFL Europe Amsterdam Admirals, where he threw for 2,256 yards and 13 touchdowns.

SCOTT MCBRIEN (2002-2003) - After entering the 2002 season still competing for a starting job, few had hopes for Scott McBrien as high as the goals he would accomplish in his two years as a Maryland starter. The southpaw transfer from West Virginia led the Terrapins to 21 wins in his two years as a starter – most by any Terp QB in two years – and was named most valuable player of the Peach and Gator Bowls. A free agent signee of the Packers in 2004, McBrien left Maryland third all-time in yards (5,169), third in TD passes (34) and first in pass efficiency (142.03) for his career.

NO BETTER PLACE TO BE

There is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park. With its top-ranked academic programs, nationally recognized faculty, diverse population, and lush 1,580-acre campus located between Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, Md., it's no wonder the University of Maryland is a sought-after destination for some of the state's — and the country's — best and brightest students.

Attracting them are some 111 majors and some of the highest-ranked programs in the country. As of 2003, 68 programs rank in the Top 25 nationally among public universities, and 50 programs are in the Top 15. For instance, in the latest U.S. News & World Report undergraduate rankings, the University of Maryland's business school was rated 18th nationally, while the engineering school was ranked 24th. In graduate school rankings, the A. James Clark School of Engineering, the School of Public Affairs, the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences, the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences and the College of Education all recently ranked in the top 25, according to U.S. News & World Report.

High-tech, engineering, and service industries thrive in close proximity to the campus, offering a wide spectrum of internships, work-study opportunities and career choices for students. And, the campus is surrounded by the dynamic cultural opportunities that only a major metropolitan area can provide.

Whether your focus is the sciences or the humanities, a small-town atmosphere or a metropolitan feel, the University of Maryland offers a wide range of educational and cultural opportunities.

There truly is no better place to be than the University of Maryland, College Park.

U.S. News & World Report Gives Terp Athletics High Marks

In its first-ever ranking of intercollegiate athletic programs, U.S. News & World Report named the University of Maryland's athletic program to its Top 20 Honor Roll recently. The Honor Roll was compiled based on an evaluation of data from all 321 NCAA Division I institutions for the 2000-2001 academic year.

The Honor Roll recognizes institutions that did well across several categories, including NCAA compliance, commitment to gender equity, overall win-loss records, total number of sports offered and graduation rates.

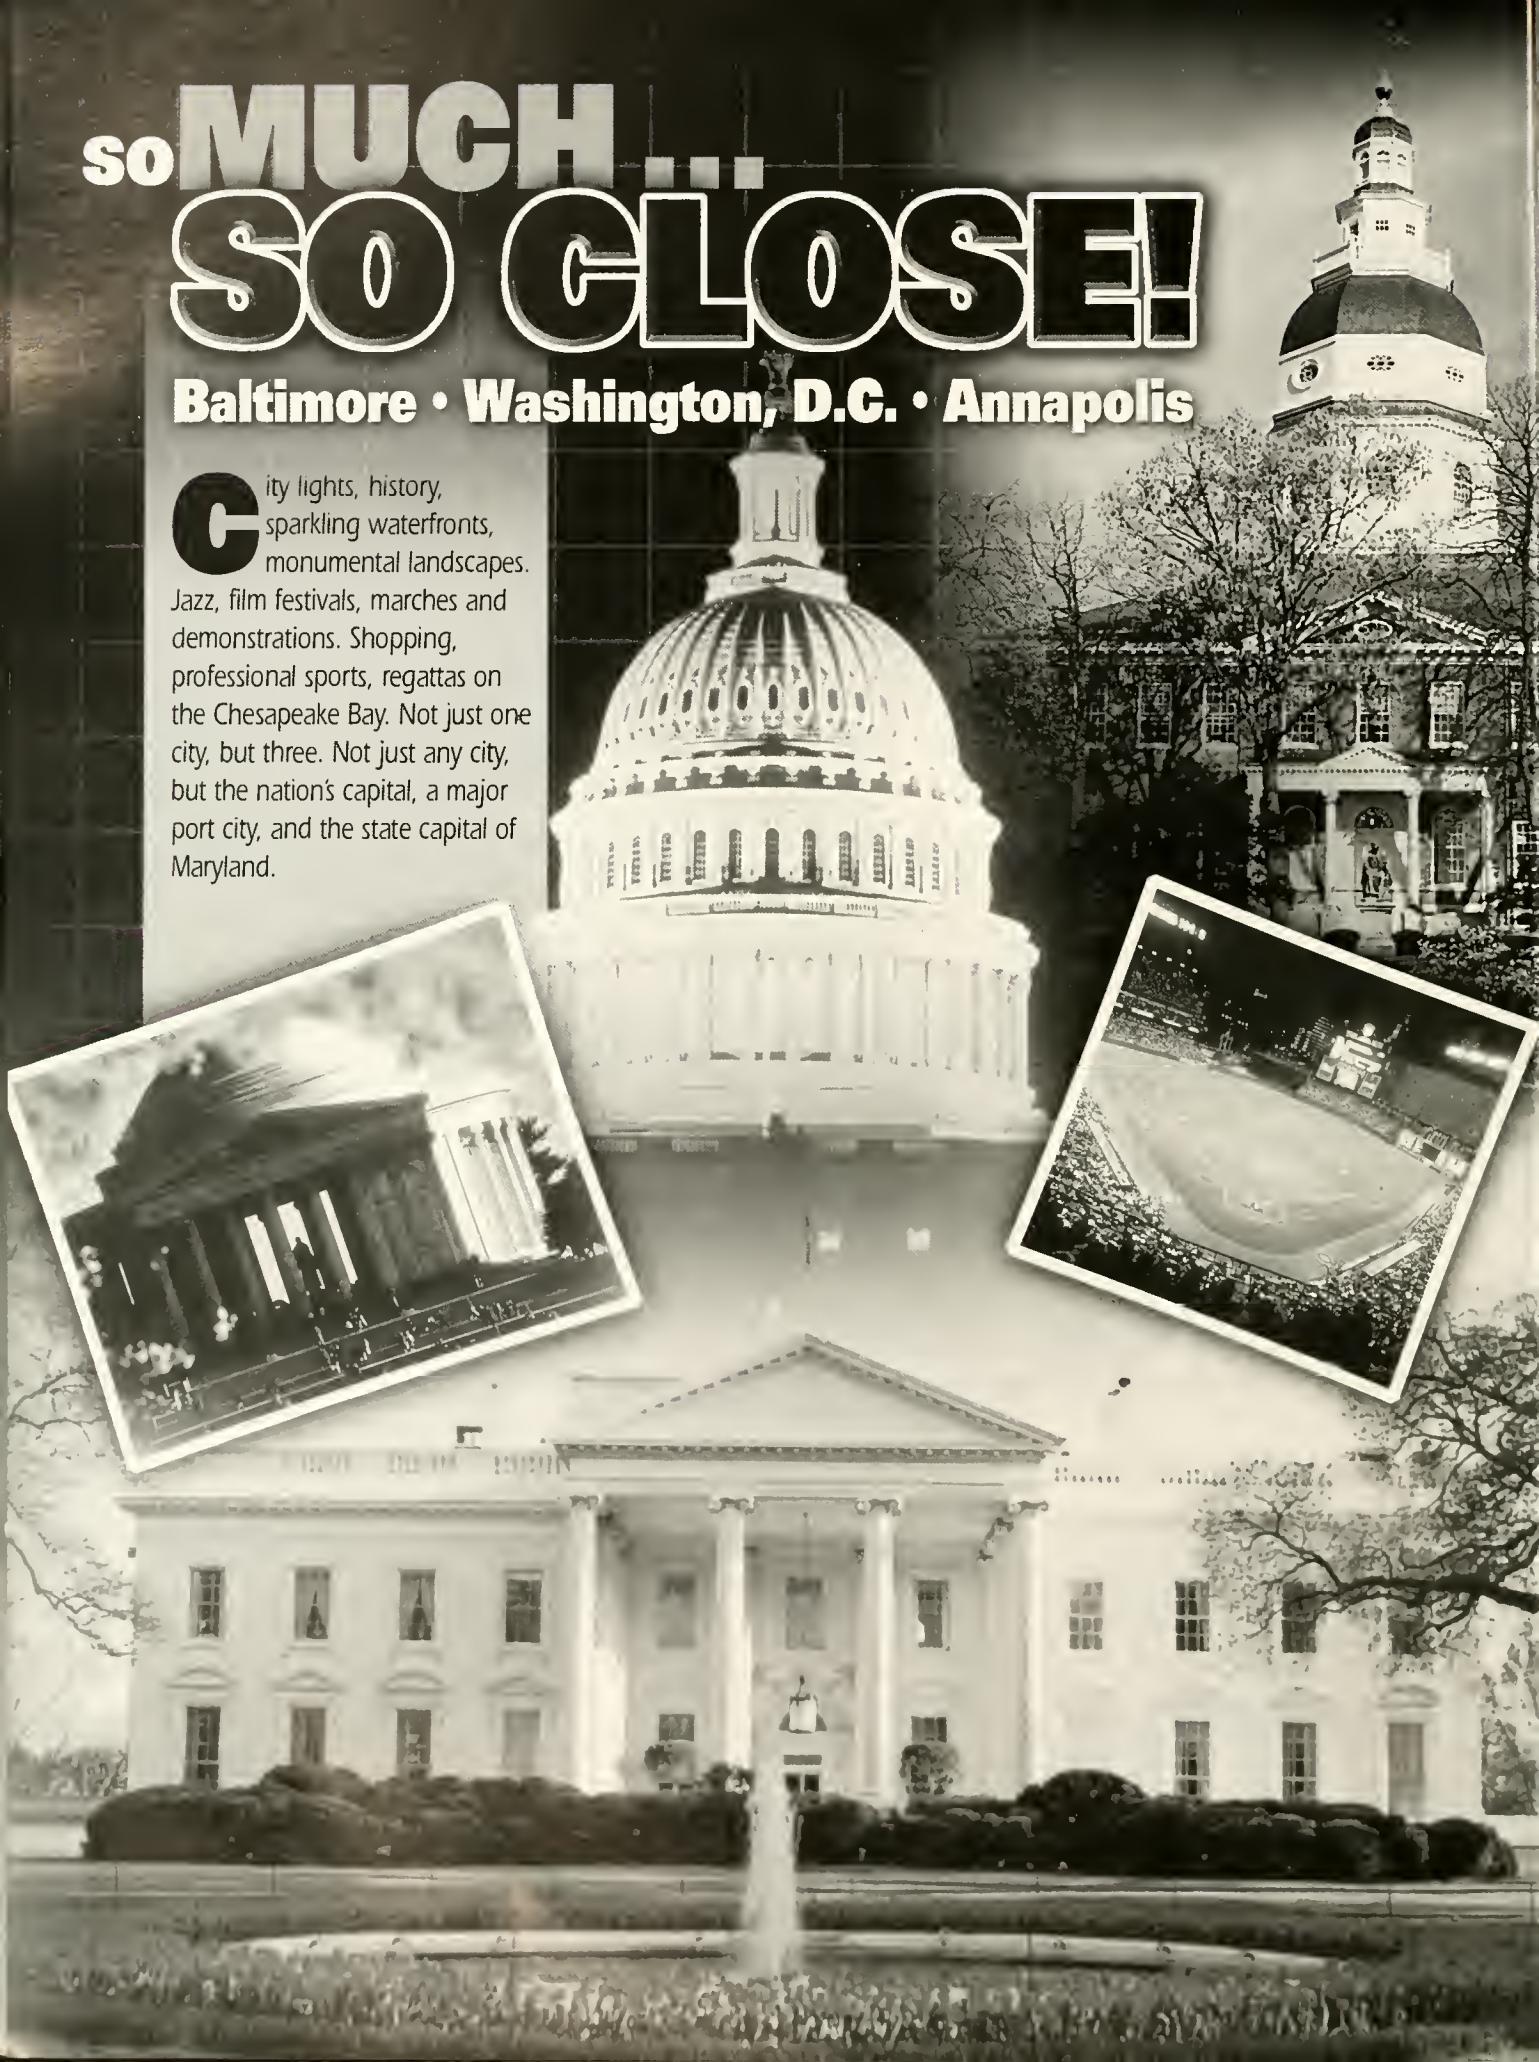
Baltimore • Washington, D.C. • Annapolis

City lights, history, sparkling waterfronts, monumental landscapes. Jazz, film festivals, marches and demonstrations. Shopping, professional sports, regattas on the Chesapeake Bay. Not just one city, but three. Not just any city, but the nation's capital, a major port city, and the state capital of Maryland.



WASHINGTON, D.C.

The nation's capital and its major attractions are within 10 miles of Byrd Stadium. And the highly efficient Metro rail system, with a station at the campus doorstep, makes navigating the greater Washington, D.C., area easy. Campus shuttle buses serve the College Park Metro station, allowing easy access to one of the country's model transportation systems.

BALTIMORE

The 12th largest city in the United States is often referred to as the "Charm City." Located just 35 miles north of the University of Maryland, its rejuvenation as an urban center is unprecedented. The Inner Harbor, its National Aquarium and tall ships, and the nearby Oriole Park at Camden Yards create an exciting, vibrant holiday atmosphere in a city that boasts one of the world's great sea ports.

ANNAPOLIS

The state capital of Maryland lies just 30 miles east of the University of Maryland. Long called the "sailing capital of the United States," Annapolis is located at the mouth of the Severn River on the Chesapeake Bay. The historic downtown area is known for its wonderful eating and shopping opportunities. There are few places in the world that rival the Chesapeake Bay area for its appealing qualities.

FROM WALK-ON TO FRONT & CENTER

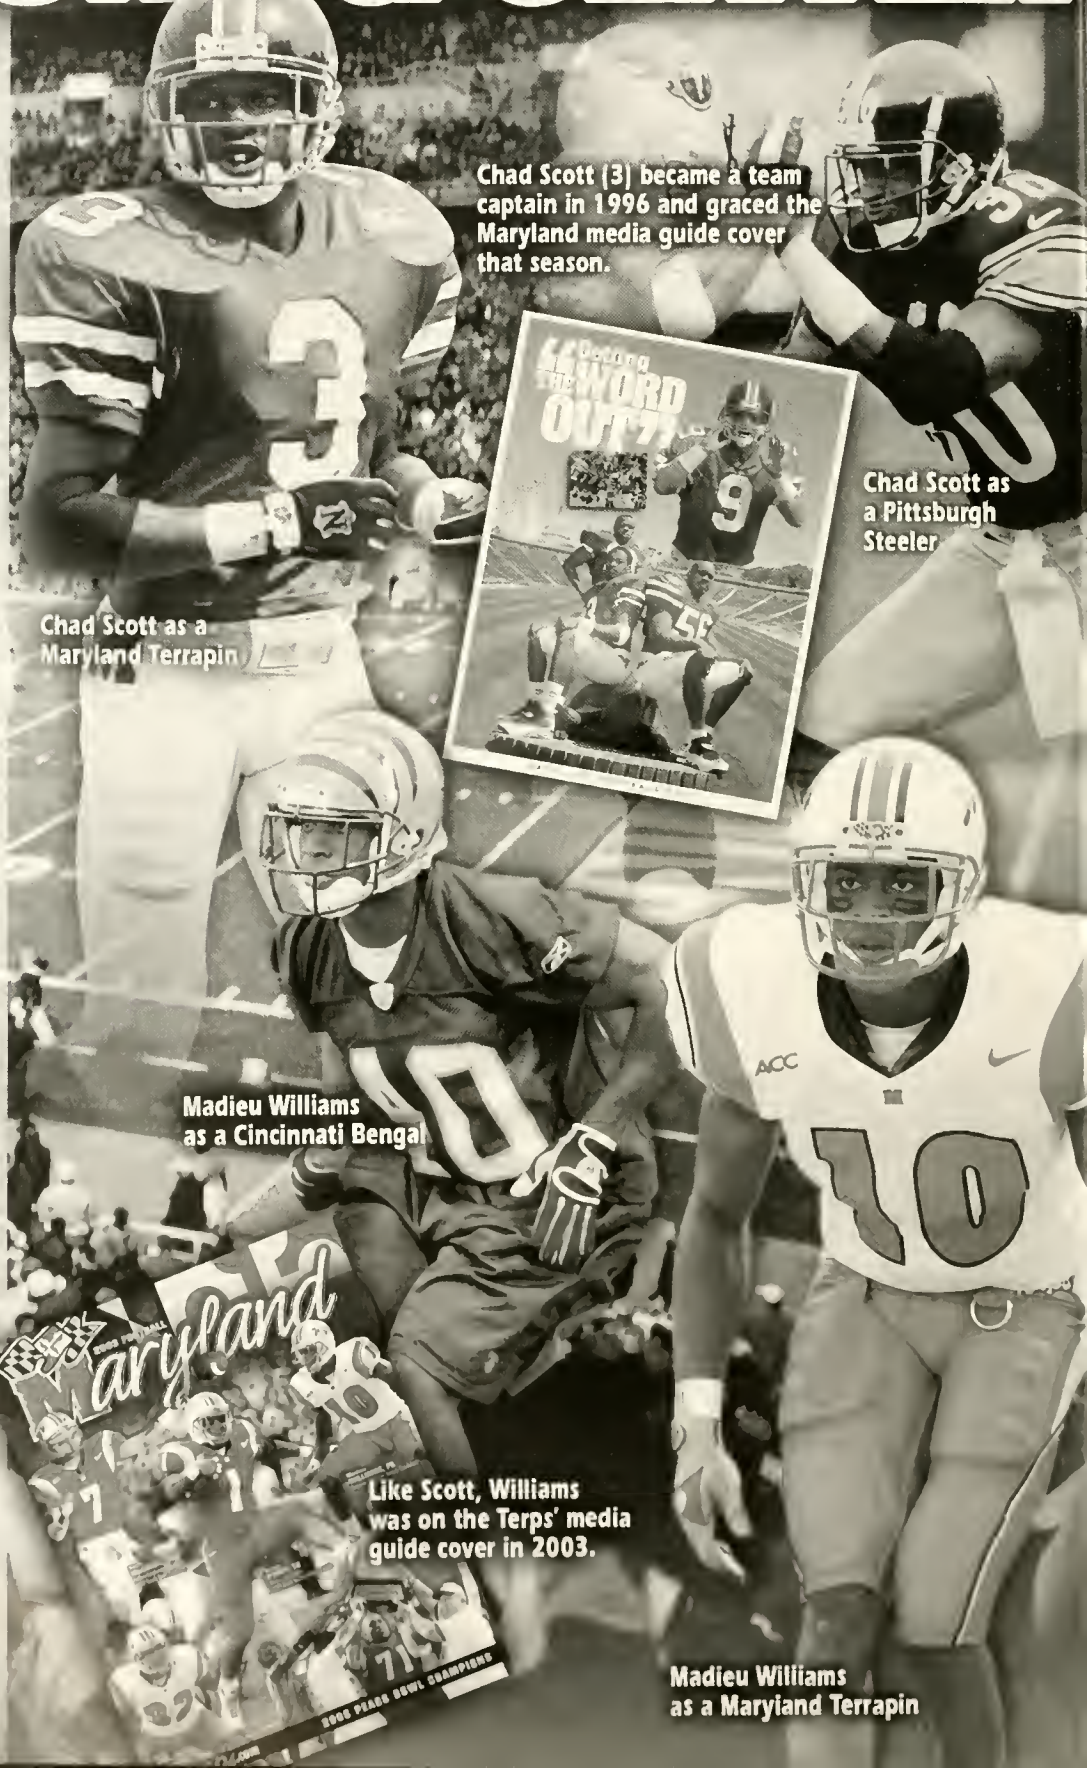
Important to any college program are walk-on players, who not only make a difference in aiding a team's depth and continuity, but can also earn their own scholarship and bid for significant playing time.

Take the case of Chad Scott. After playing two seasons at Towson in 1993 and 1994, Scott chose to walk on at Maryland, uninvited. By the end of his first semester on campus, Scott was awarded a scholarship and became a Terrapin co-captain for his senior year in 1996. The rest is history. Scott was a first-round pick in the 1997 NFL Draft and, now, is chasing opponents and intercepting passes for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Scott exemplifies the ultimate walk-on scenario. However, every season at Maryland, there are walk-on players who find their niche and contribute greatly to the Terrapins' program. With recent scholarship reductions, walk-on players have become a vital component to the rebuilding of Maryland football fortunes.

Another example is receiver Jermaine Arrington, who walked on and was the Terps' leading receiver in 1998, moving on to sign a free-agent contract with the San Francisco 49ers.

The latest Maryland player to go from walk-on to standout is safety Madieu Williams, a transfer from Towson who became the first Terrapin picked in the 2003 NFL Draft, going on the second round to the Cincinnati Bengals.



Chad Scott (3) became a team captain in 1996 and graced the Maryland media guide cover that season.

Head Coach RALPH FRIEDGEN

Maryland '70 Fourth Year at Maryland

Ralph Friedgen, the first coach in Atlantic Coast Conference history to lead a team to three-straight seasons of 10 wins or more, enters his fourth year at the University of Maryland with a rapidly-growing reputation as one of the top coaches in the game.

A long-time successful assistant coach at Georgia Tech, where he was credited with overseeing one of the nation's most potent offensive attacks, Friedgen continues to build a new level of pride and glory to his alma mater's football program, guiding the Terps to a 31-8 record and a trio of major bowl appearances – including two decisive wins — in his three seasons as a collegiate head coach.

Not only are his 31 wins four more than any third-year coach in Atlantic Coast Conference history, his 31-8 start is the seventh-best in the history of Division I-A college football. Only one other coach since 1978 (Miami's Larry Coker, 35-3) has posted as many wins in his first three years at the helm.

The consensus national Coach of the Year in 2001 after leading Maryland to its first ACC championship since 1985, Friedgen and Company have now proved in back-to-back seasons that his 10-2 rookie campaign of 2001 was no one-hit wonder. The Terrapins have posted 21 wins in the last two years — including a school-record tying 11 wins in 2002 — and dominating triumphs in the 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl (30-3 over Tennessee) and the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl (41-7 over West Virginia). The 31 wins by the Terps over the last three seasons is one better than Maryland's win total in the six years prior to Friedgen's arrival.

By making its way to last season's Toyota Gator Bowl, Maryland made a third consecutive bowl appearance for the first time since playing in four consecutive postseason games from 1982-85.

Long overlooked as a head-coaching candidate, the 1970 Maryland graduate was tapped as the Terps' head football coach following the 2000 season, and he wasted no time in returning the program to the glory days it achieved when Friedgen was an assistant to Bobby Ross in the 1980s.

Three years ago, in his first season as the Terps' grid boss, Maryland won its first seven games and eventually halted Florida State's reign as perennial ACC champion, earning the league's automatic berth in the Bowl Championship Series. In 2002, despite a 1-2 start and without 19 seniors from the previous year, the Terps made their way back to a major bowl game, winning 10 of their last 11 games and finishing in a tie for second in the ACC. The 2003 campaign provided a bit of déjà vu for Friedgen and the Terrapins as they again started 1-2, and again ran off 10 wins in their final 11 games to earn a second New Year's bowl bid in three years.

Named the winner of the Frank Broyles Award as the top assistant coach in the country in 1999 while at Tech, Friedgen brought 32 years of assistant coaching experience – including 21 as an offensive coordinator either in college or the NFL – with him in his return to College Park.

The 57-year-old Friedgen (pronounced FREE-jun) owns the rare distinction of coordinating the offense for both a collegiate national champion (Georgia Tech in 1990) and a Super Bowl team (San Diego in 1994).

Friedgen spent 20 seasons with Ross in coaching stops at The Citadel, Maryland, Georgia Tech and the San Diego Chargers. He returned to Tech in 1997, where he served another successful stint as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach under good friend George O'Leary.

On Friedgen...

"Some people look at a football field and see hash marks and yard lines. Ralph Friedgen sees plays and patterns invisible to every other naked eye. And if anyone on defense does see them, they see them a step too late. More important, Ralph has the skill to teach what he sees to his players."

"You always hear about great middleweights who are "pound for pound" the best fighters in the world. That's meant as a compliment to smaller men. Ralph is not a small man, but pound for pound he's still the best offensive coach in the country."

degree in physical education, Friedgen launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant before heading off to a triumvirate of jobs including stints at The Citadel (1973-79), William & Mary (1980) and Murray State (1981). In '82, he returned to Maryland as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach under Ross, with Friedgen's tenure lasting until 1986. During that stretch, the Terps captured three consecutive ACC championships (1983-85) and played in four bowl games. All told, the Terrapins were 39-15-1 from 1982-86 and won two bowl games (the Sun Bowl in 1984 and the Cherry Bowl in 1985). It is the type of success Friedgen has re-instilled in the current group of Terrapins.

The Ross-Friedgen connection began in 1973, when Ross hired the former Maryland offensive lineman as defensive line coach at The Citadel. Friedgen spent seven seasons at The Citadel, the last three as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. Friedgen then worked one season (1980) as offensive coordinator at William & Mary and one season (1981) as assistant head coach at Murray State before Ross tapped him to be his offensive coordinator at Maryland in 1982.

During his five-year stay at Maryland under Ross, Friedgen was instrumental in the development of future pro quarterbacks Boomer Esiason, Frank Reich and Stan Gelbaugh, all of whom spent at least 10 seasons in the National Football League. Esiason played professionally from 1984-97, Reich from 1985-98 and Gelbaugh from 1986-95.

2001 National Coach of the Year

Friedgen followed Ross to Georgia Tech in 1987, becoming the Yellow Jackets' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the next five seasons, including the 1990 campaign when Tech, unranked in the preseason, captured the national championship with an 11-0-1 record. The national title came just two years after the Jackets had posted back-to-back seasons of three wins or less.

When Ross was named head coach of the San Diego Chargers in 1992, he tapped Friedgen to serve as running game coordinator for two seasons (1992-93) before elevating him to offensive coordinator in 1994, when the Chargers advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in franchise history. During his time with the Chargers, Friedgen helped a club that had not made the playoffs in a decade reach postseason play three times in five seasons.

Known for developing balanced offensive attacks with multiple looks, Tech was one of only two teams in the country in 1999 to average at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing. Tech also accomplished the feat under Friedgen's guidance in 1990, '91 and '98. The 1999 team, with the diminutive Joe Hamilton at quarterback, set 59 school records, rewriting many marks established by the 1990 national championship team, which was led by another Friedgen pupil, Shawn Jones (1989-92). Friedgen was a finalist for the Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach in 1998 when the Rambling Wreck set a then-school record with 50 touchdowns.

The first Maryland alum since Bob Ward (1967-68) to serve as the Terps' head football coach, Friedgen originally came to Maryland as a quarterback in the mid-'60s

On Friedgen...

"The thing that is most impressive to me about Ralph Friedgen is that he adapts to personnel changes and the shifts that you see in the course of a game unlike many coaches you will find in the college game. He is a coach that gives you a secure feeling that — no matter how many players leave the program through graduation or through the NFL – this is a team that will never feel like it is rebuilding. That it will always be on a steady flow upward.

"I think great leaders have a certain aura that you can't pinpoint and he is a tremendous leader because he gives such a secure, confident feeling to the fans and anybody associated with the program that a solid job is going to be done and that Maryland is going to be in contention, year-in and year-out."

— Mel Kiper Jr., ESPN Football Analyst & Maryland native

On Friedgen...

"Those of us who watched Coach Friedgen for all those years as an assistant knew that if any school would finally have the good sense to hire him, he would be a dynamite head coach. His first three years at Maryland have certainly proven that to be true.

"Everyone knew he had a brilliant offensive mind, but now Coach Friedgen has shown that he has the complete package of skills to make Maryland an annual contender for the ACC championship. Ralph Friedgen is the real deal."

—Tony Barnhart, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

and spent most of his career as an offensive lineman, lettering in 1966 and '68 and capturing Academic All-ACC honors. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Memorial Award (1968-69) for having the highest academic average on the football team.

"Coach Friedgen is an experienced and consistently successful football coach who also has a passion for Maryland," said Maryland athletics director Deborah A. Yow. "He understands the ACC, embraces Maryland's philosophy of the student-athlete, and has a clear and complete vision for returning Maryland to national prominence."

Because of his obvious ties to Maryland as a university and a state, Friedgen has stated implicitly that he wants to keep the area's best players at home.

"I think that has to be the main focus of our recruiting," said Friedgen. "We have to get the better players from the state. Not every player is meant to come to the University of Maryland, but a large portion of them should. I know a lot of coaches in this area and they know me from the last time I was here, a lot of the coaches are former Maryland players and I think it is time the Maryland community unites. We have a Terrapin now as the head coach. The alumni, the fans, the former players; we all have to become a strong force. Part of that is going to be recruiting in the state and I am going to rely on those former players to get the better prep players to stay in state."

Friedgen's coaching roots run deep. His father, Ralph, Sr., was a high school coach for more than 30 years and masterminded, among other teams, the 1964 Westchester County (N.Y.) High School team that went undefeated and averaged 44 points per game running what was then an unusual multiple offense. It was an offense run by a 190-pound quarterback later recruited by Maryland named Ralph Friedgen, Jr. Maybe as a sign of things to come, the younger Friedgen called all of his team's offensive plays from his junior year on.

Friedgen and his wife, the former Gloria Spina, have three daughters: Kelley, Kristina and Katie. Gloria is currently serving as an adjunct professor at the University of Maryland; Kelley passed the bar and is currently in Germany on a law fellowship; Kristina is in her first year in the theater program at Maryland; and Katie is a student at Sherwood High School

On Friedgen...

"I grew up watching Maryland football, first with Jerry Claiborne and then with Bobby Ross, and what Ralph Friedgen has done in three years is restore all of the luster to the program that those guys built. The tradition that they established, he took years of dust off of it and shined it probably brighter than when those great coaches were here.

"I think that what is most exciting for all of us who are Terrapin fans is to see where it is that he takes the program from here. Because when he gets all of his guys in there"– look out. There is no reason to believe that Ralph can't take Terrapin football to heights it has never seen before."

— Scott Van Pelt, ESPN anchor and Maryland grad

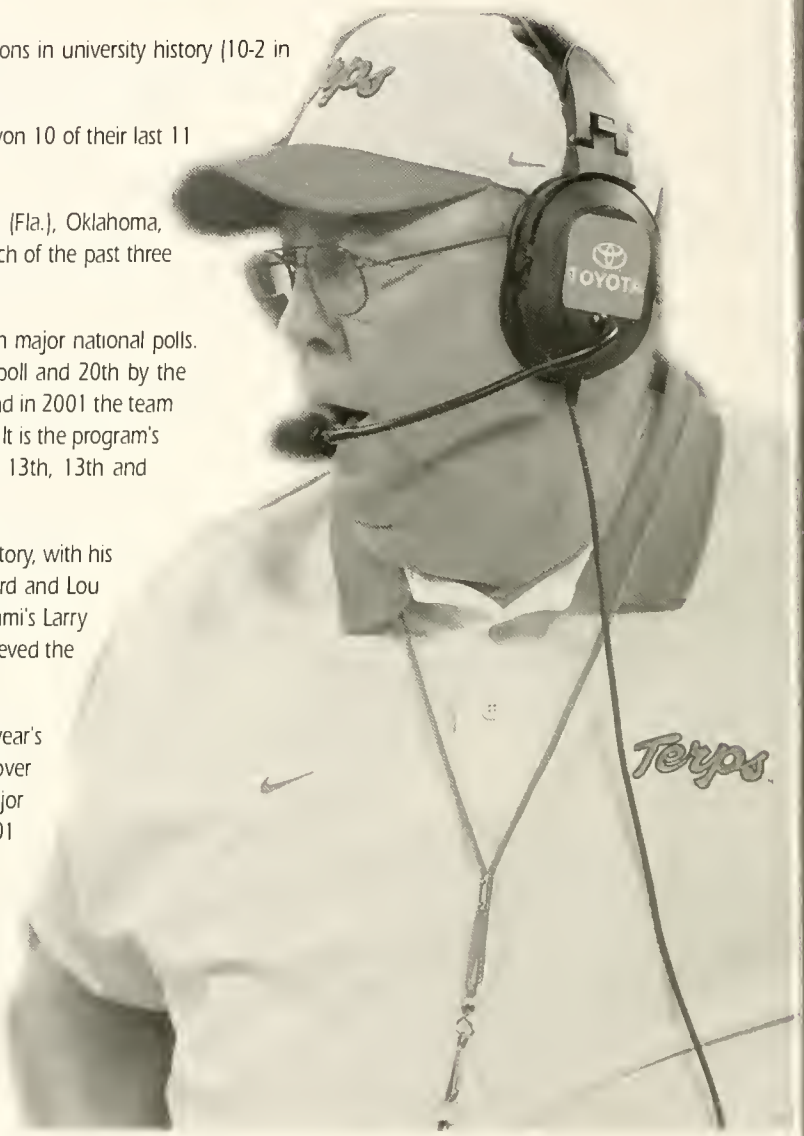
TERP HIGHLIGHTS UNDER FRIEDGEN



★ A 31-8 record, including the first back-to-back-to-back 10-win seasons in university history (10-2 in 2001, 11-3 in 2002 and 10-3 in 2003).

★ A school record-tying 11-victory season in 2002, when the Terps won 10 of their last 11 games. Only the 1976 team won as many games.

★ Maryland is joined by only four other Division I-A schools - Miami (Fla.), Oklahoma, Texas and Washington State - to have won as many as 10 games in each of the past three seasons.

★ Three consecutive years ranked among the nation's top 20 in both major national polls. Maryland ended 2003 ranked 17th in the ESPN/USA Today Coaches' poll and 20th by the Associated Press A year ago, the Terps were ranked 13th in both polls and in 2001 the team finished 10th in the ESPN/USA Today poll and 11th in the AP standings. It is the program's best three-year ranking finish since 1974-76 (when the Terps finished 13th, 13th and eighth).

★ Friedgen, himself, is the most successful third-year coach in ACC history, with his 31-8 mark eclipsing those of such former league mentors as Danny Ford and Lou Holtz. He also ranks seventh-best in NCAA Division I-A history. Only Miami's Larry Coker can mark a better mark of active coaches at the schools they achieved the mark.

★ Three-straight bowl appearances, including dominating wins in this year's Toyota Gator Bowl (41-7) and a 2002 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl victory over perennial national power Tennessee (a team ranked fifth in the two major preseason polls). The Terrapins also earned a BCS berth during the 2001 campaign.

★ A 19-5 Atlantic Coast Conference record, including a 7-1 mark in 2001 when the Terps became the first team other than Florida State to win an outright ACC title since the Seminoles joined the league, and a 6-2 mark and runner-up finish in 2002.

★ Nineteen wins in 20 games at Byrd Stadium, where the Terps had no less than 50,000 fans (a school record) at all six home games in 2003.

★ The program's first major national award winner since '74 in linebacker E.J. Henderson, a two-time consensus first team All-American who was named the winner of the Dick Butkus Award (nation's outstanding linebacker) and the Chuck Bednarik Trophy (nation's outstanding defensive player) in 2002.

★ Back-to-back school records in number of first team All-ACC performers in 2001 (7) and 2002 (8) and an ACC-best 13 overall all-conference honors.

★ Twenty-two weeks in at least one of the country's two major Top 25 polls, including a streak of seven consecutive weeks to end the 2002 campaign.

★ The only consensus national coach of the year award (2001) in Maryland football history.

★ A school-record 27,300 season tickets sold for the 2003 campaign.

★ Back-to-back school scoring records (2001 and 2002) and a two-year team scoring average of more than 33 points per game in those seasons.

★ Three-straight impressive season-long defensive performances in which the Terps have allowed just 18.0 points per game since he became head coach. Maryland finished sixth nationally in scoring defense in 2003, giving up just 15.8 points per game.

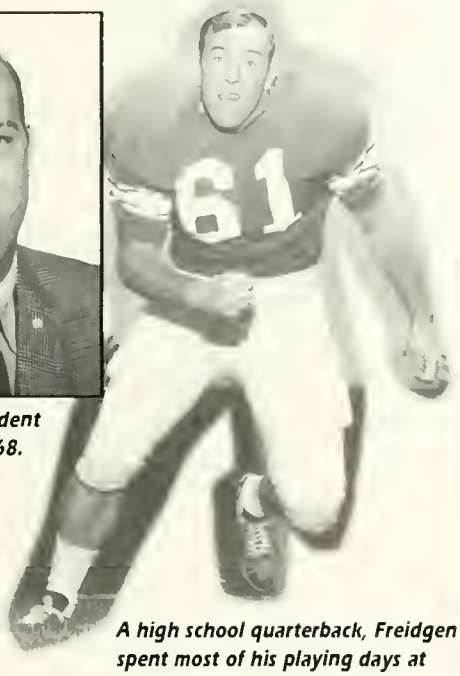
★ Eighteen national TV appearances, including a school-record eight showings in 2002.

FRIEDGEN THROUGH THE YEARS

Friedgen (17) was the starting quarterback for Harrison High School in New York, playing under his father Ralph Friedgen.

Friedgen returned to Maryland as an assistant coach in 1982, where he served through 1986.

Friedgen as a student at Maryland in 1968.



A high school quarterback, Freidgen spent most of his playing days at Maryland on the offensive line.

Friedgen, winner of the 1999 Frank Broyles Award as the nation's top assistant coach, with 2000 winner Mark Mangino, then an assistant at Oklahoma.

After stints at Georgia Tech and with the NFL's San Diego Chargers, Friedgen returned to his alma mater, as he was named head coach on Nov. 29, 2000.

Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks
CHARLIE TAAFFE

Siena '73
Fourth Year at Maryland

Charlie Taaffe is in his fourth season as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the Maryland Terrapins.

In Taaffe's first three years at Maryland, the Terrapins have seen unprecedented success on the offensive side of the ball. Last season, Taaffe helped guide the Terps through a myriad of injury problems to finish the season ranked in the top 30 nationally in four offensive categories (rushing (24th), total offense (28th), scoring (27th) and pass efficiency (26th)). It was a season that began with some difficulty, but ended with Maryland rolling to an average 514.6 yards of offense in its last five games.

In 2002, the Terps set a school record for points scored with 451 while finishing second in the ACC in rushing (198.8 ypg) and scoring (32.2 ppg) offense. Taaffe helped guide quarterback Scott McBrien from what seemed like a possible early season liability into an honorable mention all-league performer who finished 12th nationally in pass efficiency.

In his first year, Taaffe was able to steer Maryland to 390 points (then a school record as well), or an average of 35.5 per outing. The Terps' 439.7 yards of total offense per game were tops in the ACC. Taaffe's expertise in the option helped the team to an average of 220.7 yards per game on the ground, second-best in the league. From an individual standpoint, Shaun Hill flourished at quarterback, becoming the leader of the offense en route to a second team All-ACC selection.

Before making his way to Maryland, Taaffe spent two years with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League, where he served as head coach in 1999 and 2000. With Taaffe at the helm, the Alouettes had a combined 25-14 record (back-to-back 12-6 regular seasons and a 1-2 playoff record) and advanced to the 2000 Grey Cup finals. For his efforts in 1999 and 2000, Taaffe was named CFL Coach of the Year, making him only the second Montreal coach to earn such distinction (Marv Levy being the first in 1974) and the first coach in league history to earn the honor in each of his first two years. He also earned the same distinction from the Canadian Football Writers Association. All together, Taaffe spent four years in Montreal, as he served two years as the Alouettes' offensive coordinator before taking over as head coach.

While in Canada, Taaffe's offenses put up some lofty numbers. In 2000, the Alouettes broke the all-time league record for points in a regular season as they posted 594. Taaffe helped quarterback Anthony Calvillo to a 112.9 pass efficiency rating in 2000 after a 108.9 rating led the league. Former Boston College back Mike Pringle also excelled in Taaffe's system, as he ran for a league-best 1,656 yards in 1999.

Prior to his stint north of the border, Taaffe was the head coach at The Citadel from 1987-96. Taaffe took the Bulldogs to new heights in his 10 years with the Division I-AA school as he won more games than any coach in the history of the school. Prior to his tenure, The Citadel had not won a league game or road game in more than two seasons. Under Taaffe, the Bulldogs won a Southern Conference championship, finished a regular season (1992) ranked No. 1 in the country and advanced to the Division I-AA playoffs three times. He was the 1992 recipient of the Eddie Robinson Award (which recognizes the top coach in Division I-AA), the Southern Conference Coach of the Year in 1988 and '90, and the Kodak Region II Coach of the Year in those same seasons. In addition, his teams beat six different Division I-A opponents (in 12 tries), including upsets of South Carolina (1990) and Arkansas (1992), and four of his teams were ranked in the final national I-AA poll (14th in 1988; 15th in 1990; 20th in 1991; 1st in 1992).

His 1992 team was arguably the best in The Citadel's history as it finished 11-2, was the top ranked team at the end of the regular season, and fell to the eventual champ (Youngstown State) in the quarterfinals. For his efforts in '92, Taaffe was named AFCA Division I-AA National Coach of the Year. His overall record at The Citadel was 55-47-1, with six seasons of .500 or better.

Taaffe came to The Citadel after a successful stint as an offensive assistant at the U.S. Military Academy from 1981-86. In the three years Taaffe served as Army's offensive coordinator, the Cadets had a combined record of 23-13.

Taaffe's ties to the Atlantic Coast Conference are strong. Before his stint at The Citadel, Taaffe coached at three different ACC schools for a total of seven years. From 1976-80, he was an assistant at Virginia where he coached the offensive backfield, linebackers and special teams. His position with the Cavaliers came on the heels of graduate assistantships with NC State (1975, backs) and Georgia Tech (1974, receivers).

The 1973 season was Taaffe's first as a coach at the collegiate level as he was an offensive backfield coach at Albany (N.Y.) State College. The position came right after his graduation from Siena College in Siena, N.Y., where he was a quarterback for three years and earned a B.A. in education in 1973. He was inducted into Siena's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1990.

Born April 20, 1950, Taaffe is married to the former Jan Anderson, a former athletic trainer at Army. The couple has one son, Brian Patrick, an aspiring young athlete who was born March 17, 1989.

Jan, Charlie and Brian Taaffe.

Defensive Coordinator/Secondary

GARY BLACKNEY

Connecticut '67
Fourth Year at Maryland

Gary Blackney is in his fourth season as the Terrapins' defensive coordinator and secondary coach.

In three seasons, Blackney has taken the Maryland defense and transformed it from a liability to one of the best units in the nation. In each of his three years, the Terps have finished the season in the nation's top 20 in scoring defense. In fact, only one school (Georgia) has finished higher than Maryland in the NCAA rankings each of those three years.

Last season, the Terp defense was the rock while the offense took a few games early to get on track. In the end, the team finished ranked in the nation's top 25 in pass efficiency defense (17th, 105.86), total defense (15th, 308.4 ypg), scoring defense (sixth, 15.9 ppg) and pass defense (12th, 179.0 ypg). The unit placed five players on the conference's first or second team and had all four defensive backs earn some sort of all-conference recognition.

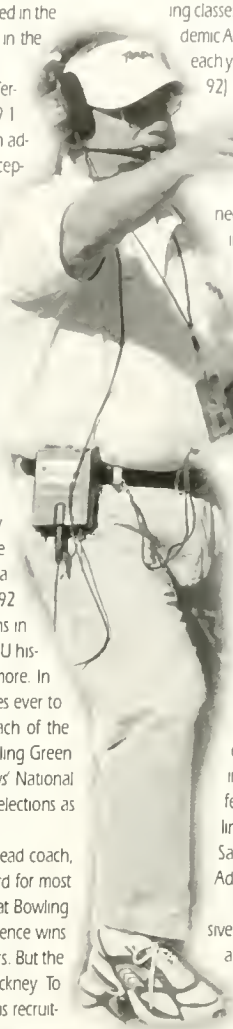
In 2002, the Terrapin defense ranked first in the ACC and seventh nationally in scoring, allowing a paltry 16.3 points per game. In addition, the Maryland rushing and passing defense each ranked in the top three in the league while the team was second in the conference in sacks (37) and red-zone defense.

Under Blackney's guidance in 2001, the Terrapin defense led the ACC in scoring defense (19.1 ppg), rushing defense (90.6 ypg) and sacks (37). In addition, the Terps were second nationally in interceptions (24) and tied for seventh in turnovers forced with 34. The 24 interceptions were the most by a Maryland team in 51 years.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Blackney most recently served as the head coach at Bowling Green State University. He resigned his post following the final game of the 2000 season after 10 successful years with the program and an overall record of 60-50-2 (47-32-2, Mid-American Conference). The BGSU job was his first as a head coach and his 60 wins as a Falcon ranked third on the school's all-time list when he took the Maryland job.

Blackney left Bowling Green as the only coach in school history to win a bowl game, as he led the Falcons to victories in the 1991 California Raisin Bowl (28-21 over Fresno State) and the 1992 Las Vegas Bowl (35-34 over Nevada). With 11 wins in 1991 and 10 in 1992, he is the only coach in BGSU history to have back-to-back seasons of 10 wins or more. In doing so, he also became one of just three coaches ever to have been named Mid-American Conference Coach of the Year in consecutive seasons. Other honors at Bowling Green included being named a finalist for Football News' National Coach of the Year award in 1991 as well as two selections as AFCA Region 3 Coach of the Year (in '91 and '92).

The 1991 season was Blackney's first as a head coach, and with 11 wins that year, he tied an NCAA record for most wins by a first-year head coach. In fact, his career at Bowling Green began with a MAC-record 19 straight conference wins and a 22-game unbeaten streak in the first two years. But the accolades did not end on the playing field for Blackney. To date, he is the only coach from the MAC to have his recruiting classes receive the American Football Coaches Association Academic Achievement Award (70 percent or better graduation rate) each year of the award's existence. His first recruiting class (1991-92) finished with one of the top marks in the nation at 93 percent.



Prior to taking over at Bowling Green, Blackney was an assistant coach for 21 years. After serving as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Connecticut, in 1968 and '69, he got his first full-time position in 1970 as a defensive backs coach at Brown. He then spent two seasons (1973-74) as offensive backs coach at Rhode Island.

From there his stint serving big-time programs began, often alongside some big-time coaching names. From 1975-77, he was a defensive backs coach and ultimately defensive coordinator (1977) at Wisconsin. After three years with the Badgers, he moved to the West Coast and UCLA where he worked as a defensive backs coach under Terry Donahue. In 1980, Blackney came back east to Syracuse where he held the same post from 1980-83 under Dick MacPherson. His final coaching spot before Bowling Green was at Ohio State where he began his tenure in 1984 as a defensive backs coach under Earle Bruce and ended as an inside linebackers coach from 1988-90 under John Cooper. In between (1985-87), he was the Buckeyes' defensive coordinator.

Of all of his positions, however, none had the eventual name power that could match that of his playing days at Connecticut. In Storrs, he was on a team that featured names such as Rick Forzano, current South Carolina coach Lou Holtz, former Cleveland Browns head coach Sam Rutigliano, as well as eventual NFL assistants Dave Adolph and Dan Sekanovich.

A 1967 graduate and former running back/defensive back at UConn, Blackney is a native of Plainview, N.Y., and was born in Astoria, N.Y. He and his wife, Lauretta, have four children (Debbie, David, Kyle and Gary, Jr.) and four grandchildren (Keri, Jamie, Abby and Celia).

TIM BANKS

Central Michigan '95 Second Year at Maryland

Tim Banks enters his second season at the University of Maryland, serving as the Terrapins' inside linebackers coach after joining the staff in 2003. Banks came to College Park from the University of Memphis.

In his first season with the Terps, Banks helped coach a linebacking unit that was one of the keys to the 2003 season. In his first year as a starter, D'Qwell Jackson successfully replaced departed Butkus Award winner E.J. Henderson by leading the team in tackles and being named second team all-conference. Overall, the Terp defense was 15th nationally in total defense (303.4 ypg) and sixth in scoring defense (15.9 ppg).

Banks joined the Tiger staff when former Clemson head coach Tommy West took the reins of the Memphis program in '01. He oversaw outside linebackers in his first season in Memphis before taking over as cornerbacks coach for the 2002 campaign. In his first season coaching cornerbacks, the Tigers finished ninth in Division I-A in pass defense, allowing an average of just 165.8 yards per game.

Now entering his ninth year of coaching at the collegiate level, Banks is another Terrapin coach with ties to the current staff. Prior to his being hired at Memphis, Banks served as defensive backs coach at Bowling Green State under current Terp defensive coordinator Gary Blackney. Like his first season coaching cornerbacks at Memphis, Banks' first season coaching defensive backs at Bowling Green offered immediate results as the Falcons tripled their interception total from the previous year.

In addition to coaching under Blackney, Banks also served alongside current Terp assistant Al Seamonson, who was the Falcons' linebackers coach in 2000. All told, Banks spent two years as a full-time coach at BGSU — both during the Blackney regime — serving one (1999) as a running backs coach and the other (2000) in charge of the defensive backs.

Bowling Green was also the site of the start of Banks' coaching career as he was the school's graduate assistant for the 1996 season after completing his collegiate playing career. After serving that season working with the Falcons defense, he was hired to his first full-time post, coaching defensive backs at Ferris State University in Big Rapids, Mich. In his two seasons, he worked as the Bulldogs' defensive backs coach while also having a hand in the passing game and special teams.

A four-year letterwinner at cornerback for Central Michigan, Banks graduated in 1995 with a bachelor of science degree in industrial management. In his time with the Chippewas, Banks earned All-Mid-American Conference honors as a junior and a senior while also being named his team's most valuable defensive back in those seasons. A team co-captain his senior year, Banks finished his career with over 200 tackles and a pair of interceptions.

Born December 16, 1971, Banks is a native of Detroit, Mich. He and his wife, Robin, were married in 1994.

Offensive Line
TOM BRATTAN

Delaware '72
Fourth Year at Maryland

Tom Brattan is in his fourth season as the Terps' offensive line coach. He boasts 32 years of coaching experience, including 22 at the collegiate level.

Brattan is coming off one of his most challenging, yet rewarding seasons as a collegiate coach. The 2004 Terrapin offensive line suffered through injury after injury – specifically at the guard position – but Brattan continued to field a unit that fought and clawed until the Maryland offense got on track. In the end, guard C.J. Brooks was named first team All-ACC, and center Kyle Schmitt had his best season, earning a spot on the watch list for this year's Rimington Award (given to the nation's top center). Despite the early injury trouble, the Terps finished the season allowing just 20 sacks while ranking second in the league and 24th nationally in rushing offense (191.3 ypg).

In 2003, Brattan directed a group that was among the most decorated in the ACC. Four of five starters in '03 earned All-ACC recognition (C Todd Wike and T Matt Crawford, first team; G Lamar Bryant, second team; G C.J. Brooks, honorable mention). The honors were a product of the Terrapins' continued success on offense, as they boasted the league's second-rated rushing (198.8 ypg) and scoring (32.2 ppg) offense while allowing just 21 sacks in 14 games.

The Terps' success in year two was a perfect follow-up to their offensive start in 2001, a season that saw them average 35.5 points per game, allow just 18 sacks (third-best in the ACC) and pave the way for a Doak Walker-finalist season by tailback Bruce Perry (1,242 yards). From an individual standpoint, two of Brattan's linemen (Melvin Fowler and Todd Wike) earned first team All-ACC recognition, with Fowler also being named a finalist for the Rimington Award and ultimately being picked in the third round of the NFL Draft by the Cleveland Browns. Brooks also earned mention as a Freshman All-American by The Sporting News.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Brattan spent two years at Stanford University, where he served as the Cardinal's offensive line coach in charge of centers and guards. Of the two years Brattan spent with the Cardinal, 1999 was the brightest. Stanford went 8-4 that season and had wins over Arizona, UCLA, Oregon State and Notre Dame on the way to a Rose Bowl bid. The '99 Stanford offense scored at least 31 points in all but three games and hit the 50-point plateau three times. That year, Brattan's offensive line allowed a paltry 15 sacks despite 385 passing attempts (an average of one sack for every 27 attempts).

Brattan took his first job at the collegiate level at William & Mary in 1983 as an offensive backfield coach. After just one season, he was promoted to offensive coordinator and served the remainder of his tenure (1984-91) in that capacity. He also worked with the offensive line at William & Mary. While Brattan was there, the Tribe advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs three times. From 1986 to 1990, William & Mary earned national rankings in three seasons (No. 9 in 1986; No. 13 in 1989; No. 7 in 1990). The success was largely a product of Brattan's offensive design as his unit ranked in the top 20 in offense in 1985 and '86, while it had the top-rated attack in Division I-AA for the 1990 season and the sixth-best in '91.

Brattan took his success at the I-AA level to his next job, Northwestern, where he resided from 1992-98 as offensive line coach. In Brattan's first three years at the school, the Wildcats continued their struggle to regain their winning ways, pushing their streak of seasons without a winning mark to 23.

Then in 1995, the Wildcats were in the national spotlight as they came seemingly out of nowhere to win the Big Ten championship for the first time in 47 years and advance to the Rose Bowl where they ultimately fell to Southern California. They finished that season — despite the Rose Bowl loss — ranked seventh in the nation with a 10-2 record. Brattan's offensive line played a huge role in the team's success, as it allowed just eight sacks all year while helping propel Darnell Autry to a new school rushing record. As a team, Northwestern finished fifth nationally that season in rushing.

The Wildcats went on to post a combined 15-1 conference record in 1995 and 1996, taking the Big Ten crown both years after having won just five league games in the previous three years. In '96, they earned a bid to play Tennessee in the Citrus Bowl.

Brattan got his start in coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Delaware, in 1972. After one year in Newark, he took his first full-time coaching post at Highland Springs (Va.) High School as an offensive line coach. After three years (1973-75) at Highland Springs, he moved back to his home state and took his first head coaching job at McKean High School in 1977. He spent one year at McKean – the same high school that helped produce Maryland legend Randy White — before moving back to Virginia and taking over as the head coach at Lloyd C. Bird High School. After serving at Bird in 1978, he returned to Highland Springs — this time as a head coach — for his final four years (1979-82) at the prep level. That final stint was a successful one, as he led HSHS to one Central Region and three district championships in his four years.

A native of Newark, Del., Brattan is a 1972 graduate of his hometown University of Delaware, where he earned his bachelor's degree in history and later earned his master's degree in education in 1977. He was a member of the Blue Hen football team and earned a varsity letter in 1971. He and his wife, Anne, have three children — Kristen, Kate and Megan.

Wide Receivers/Recruiting Coordinator

JAMES FRANKLIN

East Stroudsburg '95 Fifth Year at Maryland

James Franklin is in his fifth year as wide receivers coach and second as recruiting coordinator at Maryland. He joined the staff in April 2000 following a one-year stint as wide receivers coach at Idaho State University.

Franklin's wide receiving corps has shown constant improvement since he joined the staff in 2000. In 2003, for the second year in a row, four Terrapin wideouts posted 300 receiving yards or more despite the fact that the unit returned just one starter from the previous year.

A look ahead to 2004 shows that Franklin's unit may be up for its best year in his tenure, as only one player with significant numbers – Latrez Harrison – was lost to graduation, while the competition for playing time will be fierce. Without question, his unit is faster than it has ever been, as six of his players ran 4.5 or better in off-season testing.

The 2003-04 academic year was also Franklin's first as recruiting coordinator, and all the Pennsylvania native did was help Maryland land a consensus top 20 class, one considered the best in school history. For his efforts, Rivals100.com named him one of the nation's 25 best recruiters.

A 1995 graduate of East Stroudsburg, where he was a Harlon Hill nominee for Division II Player of the Year, Franklin also has served on the coaching staffs at Washington State, James Madison, East Stroudsburg and Kutztown. He also coached for the Roskilde Kings in the European League, serving as offensive coordinator in 1996.

In 1999, he coached an Idaho State receiver corps that amassed 29 touchdowns, 258 receptions and more than 3,300 receiving yards. The Bengals, who posted one of their best offensive seasons in school history, finished ninth nationally in total offense, averaging better than 30 points per game.

Franklin, 32, joined the Idaho State staff prior to the 1999 season after serving one year as a graduate assistant coach at Washington State, where he worked primarily with the tight ends.

Prior to his position at Washington State, he spent the 1997 season as the wide receivers coach at James Madison University. In the summer of 1998, he worked as an assistant running backs coach with the Miami Dolphins in the National Football League's minority internship program. In 1996, he served as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, East Stroudsburg, working primarily with the secondary.

In the summer of 1999, Franklin worked with the Philadelphia Eagles coaching staff as part of the NFL's minority internship program.

During his career, he has recruited the Maryland-Virginia area, as well as New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia and California. He is currently responsible for recruiting in Pennsylvania, Florida, Maryland and Washington D.C.

Franklin was a two-time Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference selection as a quarterback at East Stroudsburg, earning team MVP honors as a senior when he set seven school records, including single-season marks for total offense (3,128), passing yards (2,586) and TD passes (19). He was honored by Sports Illustrated as a national player of the week in October 1994.

He played one season of professional football in the European League, capturing league MVP honors in 1996 for the Danish national champions.

Franklin earned his master's degree in educational leadership from Washington State, posting a 3.74 grade point average while completing his degree requirements in 1999.

BILL O'BRIEN

Brown '92 Second Year at Maryland

Bill O'Brien enters his second year at Maryland working with the Terrapin running backs. Though one of the two newest members of the coaching staff, the product of his work far from new to Maryland faithful.

Prior to 2003, O'Brien spent eight years with Georgia Tech, where he worked with current Terp and former Tech cohorts Ralph Friedgen and Dave Sollazzo, as well as assistant recruiting coordinator John Donovan. In his final season in Atlanta, O'Brien served as the Yellow Jackets' assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach, a combination of titles that reflects great progress by the 34-year-old in his tenure with Tech.

In his first three years (1995-97) at Georgia Tech, O'Brien served as a graduate assistant to the offense. His final season as a G.A. was his first working with Ralph Friedgen after Friedgen returned to the college ranks following five years in the NFL.

In 1998, O'Brien was hired as Tech's running backs coach, another position he would hold for three years and excel in (notably, his graduate assistant role was filled by Donovan). In each of his three seasons coaching the running backs, the Yellow Jackets finished no lower than third in the Atlantic Coast Conference rankings. In addition, he showed a flair for recruiting that led to the addition of recruiting coordinator to his list of responsibilities in his final two years (1999-2000) as a running backs coach.

At the end of a successful 2000 season, Ralph Friedgen was hired away from his post as Georgia Tech's offensive coordinator to resurrect the Maryland football program. With Friedgen having no choice but to leave prior to the Jackets' bowl game, all eyes were on O'Brien as he took the reins of the offense for the 2000 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl. It was a role he would succeed in for the next two seasons.

In O'Brien's first season as an offensive coordinator, Tech led the ACC in passing offense and ranked third in the league in scoring, while tailback Joe Burns posted the first 1,000-yard season by a Yellow Jacket since 1995. In his second season, the Jacket offense was off to a flying start when tailback Tony Hollings — who was averaging 158.2 yards per game — went down with an injury in the fourth game of the season. Overall, O'Brien placed five players on the All-ACC first or second team in his two seasons.

Prior to his arrival in Atlanta, O'Brien spent two seasons at his alma mater, Brown University, coaching tight ends in 1993 and inside linebackers in '94.

A three-year letterwinner at outside linebacker for the Bears, O'Brien graduated in 1992 with a bachelor of arts degree with a double concentration in political science and organizational behavior management.

Born October 23, 1969, O'Brien is a native of Andover, Mass. He is married to the former Colleen Corron and the couple had their first child, Jack, in August 2002.

RAY RYCHLESKI

Millersville '79
Fourth Year at Maryland

Ray Rychleski is in his fourth year as Maryland's special teams coordinator and tight ends/H-backs coach. He is in his 25th year of coaching overall, and his 23rd at the collegiate level.

The 2003 season was another strong year for Rychleski, as his tight ends and special teamers both made headway. TE Jeff Dugan continued to impress as one of the top blocking tight ends in the country, while he closed his career with his best receiving season in Ralph Friedgen's system. Nick Novak broke the all-time Maryland scoring record, notching his 324th career point and second straight 100-plus point season en route to Lou Groza Award semifinalist and first team All-ACC mention. First-year punter Adam Podlesh — the first Terp freshman ever to be honored by the league — was a Ray Guy semifinalist with his 42.3-yard average and Steve Suter – though hobbled – returned two punts for touchdowns, repeating as a first team all-conference pick.

In 2002, Rychleski saw both of his units turn in outstanding performances. Dugan earned honorable mention All-ACC status, while the special teams had three first team All-ACC performers. Novak finished his sophomore season ranked fifth in the NCAA in field goals and 16th in scoring, and Brooks Barnard led the ACC in punting and finished 12th nationally with a 43.1-yard average. But while the Terrapin return game was nearly an afterthought the year before, Suter blossomed under Rychleski's guidance into one of the top return men in the country. Suter finished 2002 with an ACC-record 771 punt return yards while finishing second in the conference in kick return average and tying an NCAA record with four punt returns for a touchdown.

The 2002 season came on the heels of an inaugural season that saw Maryland tight ends and specialists shine as well. In 2001, Matt Murphy went from a player in search of a position to a tight end displaying enough skills to be selected by the Detroit Lions in the 2002 NFL Draft. Highlights from Rychleski's special teams units included the fourth-best net punting average in the nation, first team All-ACC recognition for Barnard, and Novak earning honorable mention all-conference status in just his first year kicking at the collegiate level.

Prior to coming to College Park, Rychleski served for eight years at Wake Forest University where his tenure could best be described as diverse. For the 1999 and 2000 seasons, Rychleski was the Demon Deacons' tight ends coach while also serving as the team's special teams coordinator. For the three years prior to becoming tight ends coach and special teams coordinator (1996-98), he worked with WFU's outside linebackers. During his first three seasons at Wake (1993-95), Rychleski coached the defensive line.

Rychleski began his coaching career on the prep level in Pennsylvania in 1979 before heading to Temple University, where he took a position as a graduate assistant. After a short time as the Owls' graduate assistant, he was promoted into his first full-time collegiate coaching post. He spent eight years at Temple (1981-88) before heading to Northeastern (1989-90) as a defensive coordinator/inside linebackers coach. After two years at Northeastern, Rychleski spent a year at Penn State (1991, graduate assistant) and one summer with the Toronto Argonauts (1992, defense) as a volunteer assistant.

In 1992, Rychleski was hired as a special teams coordinator and defensive backs coach at East Stroudsburg University where he helped the Warriors to their best record in 13 years. After his brief stint there, he left for Wake Forest in 1993.

A native of Old Forge, Pa., Rychleski earned his degree in social studies from Millersville (Pa.) State College (now known as Millersville University) in 1979.

Outside Linebackers/Special Teams Asst.

AL SEAMONSON

Wisconsin '82 Fourth Year at Maryland

Al Seamonson is in his fourth season as outside linebackers coach for the Terrapins. He also assists Ray Rychleski in working with special teams. In 2004, his unit will consist of the strongside linebacker position as well as one of the defensive ends, a spot that was converted from the former "Leo" position when the Terps' defensive scheme switched to a 4-3.

In three years in College Park, Seamonson has quickly gained the respect of pundits and peers as an outstanding, organized defensive football coach. In 2003, he helped lead a defense that was again one of the top units in the nation in scoring (sixth) and total defense (15th). He helped second-year player Shawne Merriman to the second-most sacks in the ACC while continuing to build depth at other positions that will be a factor in 2004.

In 2002, Seamonson helped coach a Terp defense that ranked first in the ACC and seventh nationally in scoring, allowing just 16.3 points per game. In addition, the Maryland rushing and passing defense each ranked in the top three in the league while the team was second in the conference in sacks (37) and red-zone defense. Seamonson's outside linebackers were a source of both steady improvement and big plays while Merriman was named to The Sporting News' ACC All-Rookie team. All of this came on the heels of a team that had the nation's fourth-best turnover margin (+1.45 average) and the ACC's lowest scoring defense (19.1 points per game) in his first season on the job in 2001.

Seamonson boasts 22 years of collegiate coaching experience. Prior to coming to Maryland, he spent the 2000 season at Bowling Green State University — where he worked under current Terp defensive coordinator Gary Blackney — as the Falcons' special teams coordinator and linebackers coach.

In his lone year at Bowling Green, Seamonson helped the Falcons produce a defensive unit that ranked fourth in the MAC in rushing defense and total defense. Hired by Blackney, who at the time was the Falcons' head coach, he was responsible — in addition to his duties with special teams and linebackers — for recruiting Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Florida.

Seamonson's coaching tenure prior to BGSU was weighted heavily in military settings. From 1987-99, he coached at The Citadel, where he started as a wide receivers coach (1987) before serving the remainder of his tenure (1988-99) as special teams coordinator and linebackers coach. At The Citadel, Seamonson coached under current Terp offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe and worked alongside defensive line coach Dave Sollazzo. He helped coach five linebackers to All-Southern Conference honors and one (J.J. Davis) to an appearance in the Senior Bowl. The highlight of his tenure was in 1992 when the Bulldogs led Division I-AA in scoring defense, yielding just 13.0 points per contest en route to a Southern Conference championship and advancing to the I-AA playoffs for the third time in five years.

The Citadel was not Seamonson's first taste of the military life, however, as he was a linebackers coach at the U.S. Military Academy (Army) in West Point, N.Y., for the 1985 and "86 seasons. In his first season at Army, the Cadets were one of the surprise teams in the country as they won the 1985 Peach Bowl, 31-29, over Illinois. It was one of just four times in the Academy's history that it had gone to a bowl game.

A 1982 graduate of Wisconsin and a two-year letterwinner for the Badgers at wide receiver, Seamonson got his start in coaching in Madison. In 1982, he served as a volunteer coach for Wisconsin's wide receivers. He then was a graduate assistant for the next two years where he worked for the Badgers' secondary unit.

Born September 7, 1959, in Stoughton, Wisc., Seamonson was a wide receiver at Stoughton High School and was a captain for the all-state Shrine Team in 1977. He and his wife, Kristi, have three children: Kylen, Kalvin and Karter.

Defensive Line
DAVE SOLLAZZO

The Citadel '77
Fourth Year at Maryland

Dave Sollazzo is in his fourth season as defensive line coach at the University of Maryland. It is his seventh season overall at the university. Sollazzo was a volunteer defensive line coach for the Terps in 1986 and '87 as well as a graduate assistant in 1984.

In his three years with the Terps, Sollazzo's unit has been one of the most overachieving groups on the team. Last season, the Terps were first in the league in total defense (15th nationally) and pass defense while finishing third in rushing defense. They recorded 35 sacks, just one fewer than league leader Florida State, and DT Randy Starks became just the second Maryland tackle in 15 years to earn first team all-conference honors. Starks ultimately left school early and was selected in the third round of the NFL Draft by the Tennessee Titans.

In 2002, Maryland finished second in the league in total defense while holding its opponents to an average of 57 yards below their season rushing averages coming into their respective games with the Terrapins. In addition, the Terps finished atop the league and seventh nationally in scoring defense, yielding just 16.3 points per game. Starks earned second team All-ACC honors in just his second season at the collegiate level while DE Durrand Roundtree completed his successful tenure in College Park and was signed to a free agent contract by the hometown Washington Redskins.

In his first season back at UM, Sollazzo took a group that entered the season as a concern in terms of talent and depth, and turned it into a rock-solid unit that helped anchor one of the top defenses in the ACC as the team led the league in rushing and scoring defense. Under his tutelage, nose tackle Charles Hill became an honorable mention All-ACC pick and, ultimately, a third-round choice of the Houston Texans in the 2002 NFL Draft.

Prior to his current stint at Maryland, Sollazzo was at Georgia Tech in 1999 and 2000 as a defensive tackles coach. In his two years in Atlanta, Tech participated in a pair of bowl games — the Gator Bowl in 1999 and the Peach Bowl in 2000.

Before joining the Yellow Jackets, Sollazzo was the defensive line coach at The Citadel from 1989-98. The Citadel was another homecoming for Sollazzo, as he had lettered for the Bulldogs for three years on the defensive line from 1974-76. In that time, he started 33 consecutive games under former Maryland coach Bobby Ross. His position coach was Ralph Friedgen.

As a coach at The Citadel (where he was hired by current Terp offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe), Sollazzo coached Brad Keeney to All-America honors and Southern Conference-leading totals in sacks and tackles for loss in 1995. In addition, he coached nine other defensive linemen to all-conference honors while with the Bulldogs. The highlight of his coaching career in Charleston, however, may have been his involvement in helping The Citadel in 1992 to the Southern Conference championship and a No. 1 ranking at the end of the regular season. That '92 squad led the nation in scoring defense at 13 points per game and finished sixth in pass efficiency defense. In 1997, he was a part of an impressive defensive effort in which the Bulldogs finished their season by not allowing a touchdown in their final 13 quarters.

Along with his ties to Maryland and The Citadel, Sollazzo has an extensive history in prep coaching. With the exception of the Maryland job in 1984 (a season that saw the Terps win the ACC and earn a berth in the Sun Bowl), Sollazzo was a high school defensive coordinator in South Carolina from 1978-85.

Sollazzo was born in the same hometown as Friedgen, Harrison, N.Y., on Christmas Eve, 1955, and earned his degree from The Citadel in 1977. He is married to the former Ellen Beloin of Farmington, Conn. The Sollazzos' first child, Christopher Francis, was born in October of 2003.

Director of Football Operations
TOM DEAHN

Heidelberg '87
Sixth Year at Maryland

Tom Deahn is in his sixth year on the Maryland football staff and his fifth as director of football operations. He served as assistant recruiting coordinator during the 1999 season. His administrative responsibilities include daily management of the football program, including operations, team travel and schedule coordination.

Deahn came to Maryland following a five-year stint at St. Norbert College in DePere, Wis., where he spent time as assistant head coach, recruiting coordinator, offensive coordinator and quarterbacks/wide receivers coach. He also served as travel coordinator and equipment manager for a 19-sport program. While at St. Norbert, he coached two offensive linemen to All-America honors and 15 players to all-conference honors.

During each of the team's last three seasons, Deahn's offenses at St. Norbert set school records for single-season all-purpose yards while ranking among national statistical leaders.

Prior to his arrival at St. Norbert, he spent three years at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., where his responsibilities included serving as recruiting coordinator and strength coordinator during his stay. Catholic's defense ranked second in the country in 1993. Two of his players received All-America recognition.

Deahn played collegiately at Heidelberg College in Ohio, where he was a member of two nationally-ranked teams.

Deahn and his wife, Dawn, have a daughter, Amanda.

DWIGHT GALT

16th Year at Maryland

Dwight Galt, a member of the Terps' strength staff since 1989, is in his 16th year at Maryland and his 11th year as the school's director of strength and conditioning. His responsibilities include managing the department's three weight-training facilities, and coordinating strength and conditioning programs for the Terps' 27 varsity sports, with special emphasis on football.

In addition to earning his bachelor's degree in business management in 1981 and his master's degree in exercise physiology in 1989 from Maryland, Galt is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association, the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association and the United States Powerlifting Federation.

Galt began his career at Maryland as an intern strength coach in 1984 and assisted with the training of the 1984 and 1985 ACC champion football teams. In 1989, he became a full-time assistant strength coach at the university, and for the next three years worked with all of Maryland's intercollegiate sports programs. In 1992, Galt became the assistant strength coach for football and he is now in his 15th year of providing complete athletic development training to Terp football team members.

Galt, 47, and his wife Jan are natives of Hyattsville, Md., and have four children: Angie, Teri, Dwight IV and Tommy.

John DONOVAN

Assistant Recruiting Coordinator
J. Hopkins '97
Fourth Year at Maryland

John Donovan is in his fourth season with the Terrapins as assistant recruiting coordinator.

Donovan is a familiar face to coaches Ralph Friedgen, Bill O'Brien and Dave Sollazzo, as he served as a graduate assistant for the Georgia Tech offense from 1998-2000. While with the Yellow Jackets, one of his responsibilities was helping Friedgen with game plan and practice preparation.

Prior to his tenure in Atlanta, Donovan worked as an assistant secondary coach at Villanova, helping the Wildcats in 1997 to a 12-1 season and a No. 1 ranking in the season's final six weeks.

A 1997 graduate of Johns Hopkins and three-year starter for the Blue Jays' football team, Donovan was twice named an all-conference defensive back. He went on to earn his master's degree in economics from Georgia Tech.

Brian FLEURY

Graduate Assistant (Defense)
Towson '02
Second Year at Maryland

Brian Fleury is in his second season with the Maryland football team and his first year as the defensive graduate assistant. He served as a video intern in 2002. His duties in 2004 will include breaking down opponent film, working with the offensive scout team and assisting with the secondary.

Prior to coming to Maryland, Fleury was a two-year letterwinner at Towson University where he played quarterback. He graduated in 2002 with a bachelors degree in sports management.

Fleury's local ties extend even beyond his college days and recent ties to the Terps. He was the starting quarterback at Seneca Valley High School in Germantown, Md., where he led his team to the first of three undefeated state championship seasons in 1997. His stepfather, Terry Changuris, is the long-time Seneca Valley head football coach.

James PERRY

Graduate Assistant (Offense)
Brown '00
First Year at Maryland

James Perry is in his first season as an offensive graduate assistant with the Maryland football team. Perry's responsibilities will include breaking down opponent game film, working with the defensive scout team and assisting with the Terp offensive line.

Perry brings a good deal of coaching experience to the Terrapins, as he spent two years at Williams College in Williamstown, Mass., as a quarterbacks coach and recruiting coordinator (2002-03) and as the Eph's offensive coordinator early in 2004. In 2002, he served as a quarterbacks coach at the University of San Diego after having spent the 2001 season as an assistant OB and wide receiver coach at Dartmouth.

A 2000 graduate of Brown University, Perry was a three-time All-Ivy selection at quarterback and that league's 1999 Player of the Year. He captained the Bears to the second Ivy League championship in school history in 1999 and holds the league's career passing records in yards, touchdowns and completions. Following his time at Brown, he spent the 2001 season in NFL Europe and the Arena Football league.

Ron OHRINGER

Head Equipment Manager
Maryland '85
17th Year at Maryland

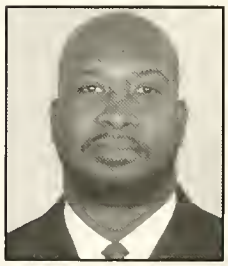
Ron Ohringer is in his 17th year as the Terrapins' head equipment manager. Ohringer oversees the ordering, inventory, maintenance and distribution of all athletic equipment for the university's 27 intercollegiate sports programs. While managing the overall equipment operation for the entire department, Ohringer primarily serves as the football equipment manager on a day-to-day basis.

A native of nearby Bethesda, Md., Ohringer graduated from Maryland with a bachelor's degree in journalism and public relations in 1985. While a student in College Park, he served the football team as a manager and was the team's head student manager for his final three years.

Following graduation, Ohringer utilized his degree by serving as an assistant with both the Washington Redskins and Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League. He also worked with the Washington Commandos of the Arena Football League and the former Alexandria Dukes baseball team in the Carolina League.

Ohringer was married on November 28, 1992 to Amy Brennan. The couple resides in Laurel, Md., and has two children: Casey Ryan (7) and Derek James (3).

Kevin GLOVER



Director of Character Education
Maryland '84
First Year at Maryland

A name that will be familiar to Terp and local NFL fans alike, Kevin Glover is in his first season with the Terrapins as the school's first-ever Director of Character Education.

As it relates to the Maryland football program, Glover will be a liaison between the team and the National Football League, taking care of all dealings regarding scouts and agents. He will also, however, serve the university's other varsity sports programs, helping provide developmental programs and appropriate speakers on topics of interest to each team and their growth, collectively and individually.

A first team All-American (The Sporting News) at Maryland in 1984 and a member of the Maryland Athletics Hall of Fame, Glover was a second-round selection of the Detroit Lions in 1985. He anchored a line that helped Barry Sanders to 2,053 yards in 1997 and ultimately saw Glover earn three trips to the Pro Bowl. He was his team's NFL Player Association Representative for six seasons and was ultimately elected to serve on that organization's Executive Committee for two years.

An active speaker in local youth and church organizations, Glover and his wife, Cestaine, reside in Columbia, Md., and have three children: Maya, Matthew and Zaria.

Jonah BASSETT

Football Video Director
Catawba '99
First Year at Maryland

Jonah Bassett is in his first year as the Terrapins' football video director. His duties will entail working with his staff to videotape all Maryland practices, scrimmages and games and then use the team's state-of-the-art Pinnacle Sports Pro video equipment to edit and break down the footage to best serve the needs of the coaches and players.

Bassett comes to Maryland after spending the last four years with the Atlanta Falcons, serving in the capacity of assistant video director and intern along the way. His experience includes stints with the Barcelona Dragons of NFL Europe (2000), Catawba College (1993-99), the Frankfurt Galaxy of NFL Europe (1999) and the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League (1999). He worked with current Terrapin offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe while in Montreal.

A native of Rutland, Vt., Bassett is a 1999 graduate of Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C. Bassett married the former Donna Johnson in May of 2003.

Sandy WORTH

Head Athletic Trainer
Maryland '73
31st Year at Maryland

Sandy Worth, who has been affiliated with Maryland's athletic program since 1973, coordinates and directs the medical care for the Terps' football program in addition to her responsibilities as the university's head athletic trainer.

A native of Timonium, Md., Worth supervises and schedules a professional staff of six full-time assistants and approximately 25 student trainers who combine to provide medical assistance to the university's more than 600 student-athletes. Worth, a 1973 graduate of Maryland, joined the Terps' staff that same year as an associate trainer. She was promoted to head trainer in 1992.

During her career at Maryland, Worth has worked directly with five teams that have captured national championships — four in women's lacrosse and one in field hockey. In addition, she was the trainer for the women's basketball program when it won eight ACC titles and advanced to three NCAA Final Fours.

Matt CHARVAT

Associate Head Trainer
Baldwin-Wallace '96
Sixth Year at Maryland

Matt Charvat is in his fifth year with the athletic training staff at the University of Maryland, handling responsibility with the football and women's basketball teams. Charvat came to College Park after three years on the training staff at Morehead State, where he worked with the football, women's basketball and baseball teams.

A native of Hinckley, Ohio, Charvat earned his bachelor's degree in sports medicine from Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio in 1996. He played baseball at Baldwin-Wallace and later worked two summers as a trainer for the Canton-Akron Indians Double A baseball team. Charvat earned his master's degree from Morehead State in exercise science in 1998.

Greg CREESE

Football SID
Florida St. '94
Fifth Year at Maryland

Greg Creese is in his fifth year in the Terrapin Athletics Media Relations Department. He is Maryland's primary media contact for the football program after spending his first three seasons working with both the Terp football and women's lacrosse teams.

Prior to coming to Maryland in 2000, Creese served as a primary football contact at the University of New Mexico while also working with the Lobos' softball and track & field teams. He went to UNM after a stint as an intern at another Mountain West Conference school, San Diego State, where he worked with the Aztecs football, women's water polo and baseball teams. In his time in the Mountain West, he helped lead successful All-America campaigns for then-safety Brian Urlacher (UNM) and OT Kyle Turley (SDSU).

A 1994 graduate of Florida State, Creese has also worked as an intern at the University of Miami (Fla.) as well as in seasonal jobs with the Cleveland Indians, Orlando Cubs AA baseball team and the LPGA Tournament of Champions. He earned his master's degree in Sports Administration from St. Thomas University in Miami in 1997.

Creese married the former Bronwyn Talley in July of 1998 and the couple has two children: Austin (4) and Carter (born Jan., 2004).

Heather ARIANNA

Associate Director of ASCDU
Syracuse '92
Ninth Year at Maryland

Heather Arianna, Associate Director of ASCDU, coordinates the academic support services for Terrapin football student-athletes. Arianna, who is in her ninth year at Maryland, earned her Bachelor's degree from Syracuse University in 1992 and a Master's degree in Education and College Student Personnel Services from the University of Louisville in 1994.

She worked in the Academic Support Units at Syracuse and Louisville and then served as an Academic Assistant at Florida State University before coming to Maryland in 1995. Before taking over coordination of the academic program for the Terrapins in 1997, she worked with Men's and Women's Soccer, Women's Lacrosse, Field Hockey, Wrestling, Women's Swimming and Men's Golf. Her current responsibilities include monitoring the eligibility and coordinating all of the academic support services for the football student athletes, teaching UNIV 100 (a freshmen orientation course) and managing the ASCDU Satellite Facility located in the Gossett Football Team House.

Natasha CRISS

Academic Counselor
Maryland '92
Fourth Year at Maryland

Natasha Criss is beginning her fourth year back at her alma mater working with the football student-athletes. A 1992 graduate and former student-athlete herself, Criss earned a master's degree in college student personnel services from the University of Louisville in 1999 and then worked as an academic advisor at the University of Central Florida for two years.

Dahlia LEVIN

Program Studies
Maryland '99
Fourth Year at Maryland

Dahlia Levin, program assistant, joined the ASCDU staff on a full-time basis in 2000 after previously serving as an assistant, tutor and mentor in the athletics department for three years. Her areas of responsibility include class attendance, study hall and coordination of the tutor program. Levin graduated from Maryland in 1999 with a degree in sociology and is currently pursuing her master's degree in Education and Jewish Studies.

2004 SEASON PREVIEW

Predicting the future can be risky. Sometimes a prediction of a program's future comes to pass. Other times, reality is the exact opposite from the forecast. For the University of Maryland football program, things have definitely not gone according to plan – and that's a good thing.

When head coach Ralph Friedgen returned to College Park prior to the 2001 season, he thought it would take a few years to get the ball rolling. Take some time, get some of his own recruits in place, install his system, have the players understand it. Like everything else Friedgen does, it was a solid, detailed plan.

But as Terrapin faithful are already aware, the plan was ultimately so well crafted and so exceptional in its design that Friedgen took Maryland to an Atlantic Coast Conference championship in his first year and bowl wins in the two seasons that followed. Now, with Year Four of the well-documented "five-year plan" about to begin, Friedgen and Company face issues they've not had in their three previous seasons.

The 2004 edition of the Terps is the least experienced of all Friedgen's teams to date, and easily the one with the most question marks. Conversely, it also features some of the most athletic, talented players who have come to College Park in years. In addition, the team has put together consecutive recruiting classes that rank as high as any pair of incoming groups in the last few decades at Maryland.

Among the questions that need answering: Who will be the starting quarterback, and how quickly will he be comfortable in the offensive system? How will the right side of the offensive line hold up after losing two seasoned performers in Lamar Bryant and Eric Dumas? How will the young defensive linemen play? Who will play in which position in the linebacking corps? How will the Terps replace four players who earned some form of all-conference honors in 2003?

Despite the number of questions, some have already been answered through a successful spring practice session and others will wait until the curtain opens on Sept. 4 against Northern Illinois. In any event, Terp fans have come to expect that Friedgen and his staff will have the Maryland football team as prepared as it can possibly be in time for that season-opener.

The following is a position-by-position breakdown of the 2004 edition of the Maryland Terrapins as they write the next chapter in a book that, thus far, has been hard to put down:

OFFENSE

A quick glance at the depth chart on offense and it is clear that this year's Maryland team has depth and talent. Intertwined, however, are a few question marks as starting spots need to be filled at several positions of importance.

As they were in the spring, all eyes will be transfixed at the start of camp on the quarterback position as two-year starter Scott McBrien starts this football season in Green Bay trying to make a name for himself with the Packers. His incumbents have thrown a collective 25 career passes and showed both promise and nerves in the spring.

This year's group of wide receivers might offer a relief to that situation as it is very deep and probably the most talented offensive coordinator Charlie Taaffe has been afforded in his three-plus years at Maryland. The tailback position is again deep and talented while the offensive line has a few questions to answer. But overall, most questions will return to the quarterback position and if that one is answered, the Terps will again likely feature one of the most balanced, effective offenses in the country.

Quarterback

Two years ago at this time, Maryland was doing its best to figure out who would replace Shaun Hill at quarterback. Two years later, Scott McBrien is gone and the question is restated with a different selection of possible answers. Although spring did not give a definitive answer of who the starter will be in 2004, it did serve to provide a pecking order and some separation between those vying for the job.

Sophomore Joel Statham, a third-year player with good size, speed and a strong, accurate arm, will enter fall camp as the likely starter. His grip on the starting job was loosened by a sub-par first half performance in the spring game, but his overall performance in the offseason warranted his status as the starter. He has noticeably improved his knowledge of the offense and though far from seasoned, he is the lone Terp returning with live game experience. In his one game seeing "real" playing time last year (at Georgia Tech), he showed toughness and now seems to need to just improve his comfort level in a live game setting.

A close second on the depth chart to Statham is fellow sophomore Sam Hollenbach. Hollenbach has ideal size (6-5, 218) and has improved his passing greatly in his time at Maryland. He was a little inconsistent in the spring but showed enough that he and Statham distanced themselves from the pack and are the clear incumbents for the job as the season approaches.

When the offseason began, redshirt freshman Ryan Mitch was listed as a possible contender for the job, but his time appears to be a little further down the road. Mitch performed well on the scout team a year ago and showed that he has a strong, accurate throwing arm. Problems that arose in the spring for Mitch stemmed from his knowledge of the offense and comfort in seeing coverage and where to go with the ball. Nonetheless, he is certainly a player to watch in time.

One player whose future was considered even further off was freshman Dan Gronkowski, but Gronkowski showed the coaches something in the spring. Built similar to Hollenbach, Gronkowski (6-6, 250) did a nice job picking up the system in a short time. The final possibility to challenge for the starting job is from incoming freshman Jordan Steffy. By all reports, Steffy – a four-year starter in high school – is as seasoned as incoming freshmen get, he runs very well and has nice touch, but the question remains on how fast and effectively he can learn the system. By all accounts, Steffy is another young player at the position worth watching, if only for future fall camps.

"We are looking for a guy who can read coverage, make decisions and make plays," said Friedgen. "Entering camp, the position is a concern only because nobody on the roster has played a whole lot in an actual game. Joel (Statham) is the only one who has really played in a game. The players we have possess the talent; they just need to show the intangibles it takes to be a successful leader at this level."

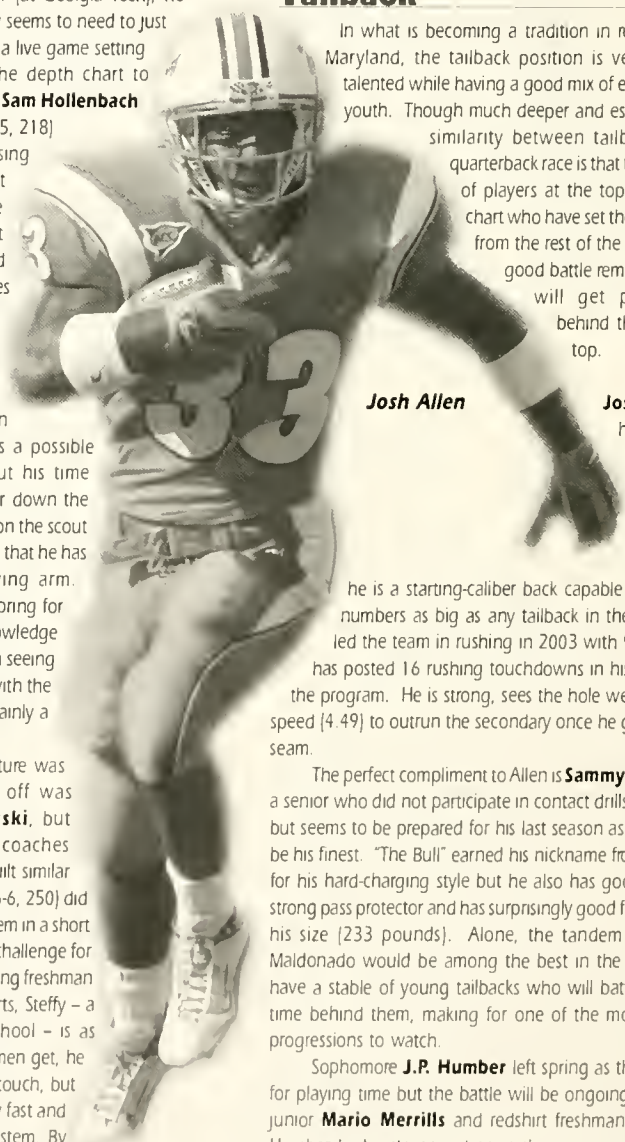
Tailback

In what is becoming a tradition in recent years at Maryland, the tailback position is very deep and talented while having a good mix of experience and youth. Though much deeper and established, one similarity between tailback and the quarterback race is that there are a pair of players at the top of the depth chart who have set themselves apart from the rest of the group while a good battle remains over who will get playing time behind the duo at the top.



Josh Allen

Junior Josh Allen has had two strong years as a Terp with his 2003 campaign showing that he is a starting-caliber back capable of putting up numbers as big as any tailback in the country. He led the team in rushing in 2003 with 922 yards and has posted 16 rushing touchdowns in his short time in the program. He is strong, sees the hole well and has the speed (4.49) to outrun the secondary once he gets through a seam.

The perfect compliment to Allen is Sammy Maldonado, a senior who did not participate in contact drills in the spring, but seems to be prepared for his last season as a collegian to be his finest. "The Bull" earned his nickname from teammates for his hard-charging style but he also has good hands, is a strong pass protector and has surprisingly good feet for a player his size (233 pounds). Alone, the tandem of Allen and Maldonado would be among the best in the ACC but they have a stable of young tailbacks who will battle for playing time behind them, making for one of the more interesting progressions to watch.

Sophomore J.P. Humber left spring as the next in line for playing time but the battle will be ongoing between he, junior Mario Merrills and redshirt freshman Lance Ball. Humber had a strong outing in the spring game and gives the team a classic "big back" with good quickness and good receiving skills. Merrills – who has successfully recovered from a hamstring injury suffered last season — continued to show the burst that makes him a threat on any carry while Ball showed a nice mix of size, vision, good feet and acceleration that makes him a strong candidate to challenge as a starter down the road. The lone characteristic that may have set Humber ahead of the other two is his ability to hold onto the ball, a quality Friedgen ranks as paramount when deciding who will see the field.

One other player who could factor in the mix as a backup is first-year back-Keon Lattimore, the younger brother of Baltimore Raven Ray Lewis. Lattimore made his mark as a prep as a slashing-type back with breakaway speed.

"We have a lot of good, experienced players at tailback," said Friedgen. "Josh Allen had a great year for us last year and Sammy Maldonado showed us what he could do. Sammy is a different type of runner than Josh. Josh has more speed and acceleration but Sammy is a more punishing runner, has good hands out of the backfield and is doing a very good job in pass protection. If they stay healthy, we should be pretty good with those two guys."

Fullback

As in the previous two seasons, Maryland enters 2004 having to replace a starter at fullback. The plan for spring was to choose an incumbent based on the performance of returnees Ricardo Dickerson and Maurice Smith. Due to injury, Smith was not able to compete, but fortunately for the Terps, Dickerson performed very well and is a clear number one heading into fall camp. Even with Dickerson's success, Maryland will likely employ a strategy this season that also uses more one-back sets and the use of H-backs, thus making the team's depth at fullback less of a concern.

Dickerson, a junior, played both ways last year, seeing limited time at fullback while getting on the field in dime situations from a rush end position. He will continue in the same role despite being the likely starter on offense. He showed in the offseason that his blocking skills are much improved and after starting his career as a linebacker, he now appears firmly entrenched in role as fullback-then-linebacker.

Smith served as Bernie Fiddler's primary backup most of the season a year ago and his playing time will depend on how far he has made it back after the missed time. Newcomer Matt Deese is also a possibility at the position as he has good size (245 pounds) and showed ability as a ball carrier as a prep (1,692 yards, 23 TDs as a senior).

"Ricardo (Dickerson) is much improved," Friedgen said. "I think he did a nice job in the spring. I thought he improved on his leverage, blocking, pass-catching and assignments. Mo Smith missed most of spring so we will have to see how much better he has gotten. Deese could factor in based on how fast he learns and picks things up but the fact that we have Vernon (Davis) and Rob (Abiamiri) who can play that position gives us some flexibility."

Tight End

A familiar face will be noticeably absent this year as four-year starter Jeff Dugan has exhausted his eligibility and now resides on the Minnesota Vikings roster. The Terrapins will certainly miss having what was essentially a sixth offensive lineman on the field and the result will likely be two groups of tight ends being utilized – a "big" tight end and a "small" tight end.

The "big" group – the more traditional tight end role — will be led by junior Derek Miller, who will likely be on the field most of the time and draw the majority of the starting assignments. Friedgen sees Miller's progress as an important part of the equation this year. Miller's speed has improved – he runs a 4.79 at 6-7 and 264 pounds – and he appears to be ready to take the next step toward being a solid contributor as a pass catcher.

"I think Derek's improvement is a key to us being a good football team," said Friedgen. "He is a good blocking tight end, but we are losing a great tight end and he needs to really strive to get to that level. But I think he came on at the end of spring and the weight he dropped really helped him improve his speed. He just seemed to get better for us all along."

Behind Miller in the group of big tight ends is a cluster of players who could vie for playing time. Sophomore Brad Schell and redshirt freshman Joey Haynos each have a considerable shot to see the field. Haynos is built a lot like Miller (6-8, 247) and has improved a great deal since walking on a year ago. At this stage, he lacks the experience of the other two he will be competing with.

The other group of tight ends – most commonly referred to in the offense as H-backs — will feature senior Rob Abiamiri and sophomore Vernon Davis. The pair have the size to play tight end joined with the speed to get down the field like a receiver. Abiamiri came on last year to earn his first letter while Davis showed flashes of the amazing physical skills that had him rated as one of the top tight ends in the country as a prep. Both played very well in the spring and Davis, who tested out as the strongest tight end pound-for-pound in Maryland history, showed playmaking ability like few players Maryland has seen before. If his play in the offseason can translate in the fall, the excitement he has elicited from fans and teammates will be warranted, making him an instant honors candidate.

"I think our two-tight end personnel group is going to be a bigger part of our offense this year," said Friedgen. "We've got two pretty good athletes in Davis and Abiamiri and we think it can give us some options we haven't been able to explore in the past. And with Derek Miller's improvement, we can mix any combination or leave him in there alone. Basically, there is a lot we can do to maximize the production at the position based on the talent we have."

Wide Receiver

One benefit that this year's group of players vying for the starting quarterback role is that the eventual starter will have a deep, solid corps of experienced wide receivers. In addition, if the group can stay healthy, it seems to have the ability to make the big play and get down field more than any unit since Friedgen has been here. Of the 10 receivers who were here for testing in the spring, seven clocked at 4.5 or better in the 40-yard dash. As importantly, this year's group of receivers offer versatility and several can line up in different spots, giving the Terps added depth and flexibility.

At the "X," junior Derrick Fenner is a player who appears to have turned the corner and gives the team a complete receiver. Fenner has good hands, is a strong route runner and is a good blocker and, based on his ACC-best 27.8 yards per reception, has the speed to get deep. Fenner will be backed up by sophomore Drew Weatherly, a big target who runs well and appears to have made strides in his route running and in polishing his skills as a receiver. Third-year player Paschal Abiamiri – who has performed well in each of the past two springs – also has a shot at playing time.

A trio of experienced players are at the "Z" (flanker) spot as two-time first team All-ACC selection Steve Suter, and juniors Dan Melendez and Jo Jo Walker give the Terps three playmakers who accounted for 61 receptions and 931 yards a year ago. Suter missed a good portion of spring but looks like he will be much healthier than in 2003, a season that still saw him finish second on the team in receiving and providing several memorable plays in the Gator Bowl. Though he will line up at flanker, he can play any one of the three spots. Melendez injured his foot toward the end of spring but appears to be coming on while Walker moves outside after spending his first two years in the slot, but can move back inside to give the offense flexibility if needed. Walker's play improved in the second half of last year and continued to look good in the spring.

Steve Suter

"Two guys who I think had really good offseasons were Derrick Fenner and Jo Jo Walker," said Friedgen. "We played Jo Jo at 'Z' all spring and that should really help us with our depth there. He is a big play guy with good speed and it really helps us when he is on the field."

Senior Rich Parson was described by Friedgen on numerous occasions last year as the team's most consistent receiver and he will be at the top of the list of slot receivers in 2004. He is another player Friedgen has been excited about based on his offseason work and gives the Terps a complete player in terms of speed, pass catching and blocking. Behind Parson will be Curtis Williams, a senior who has played three positions in his time at Maryland, but now has coaches convinced that they have the playmaker where he belongs.

"The thing I like about our receivers is they play multiple positions," said Friedgen. "So where we are going to get some of our depth is very much like where we got it on the offensive line two years ago because they are able to move and play different positions. Potentially, this group has a chance to do some things that we haven't had here. That really jumped out the first few days of spring, before we had some injuries."

Offensive Line

Maryland has lost a pair of solid performers in Lamar Bryant and Eric Dumas from a year ago, making the right side of the offensive line a source of focus. Their departure, however, appears to not have hurt the unit as much as could be expected for several reasons. First, though young, this year's team is deeper than those in the past. Second, it helps to some degree that the side now protecting the quarterback's blind side is the side with experience. With a left-handed Scott McBrien a year ago, that would not have been the case.

Kyle Schmitt enters his senior season at center and will do so as a candidate for the Rimington Award. In his first full year as a starter, Schmitt had his best season as a Terp and graded out as the team's top lineman, earning honorable mention All-ACC status along the way. In the offseason, he solidified his spot as possibly the team's most important lineman as his improvement continued and his role as the "quarterback" of the offensive line was never more apparent. His backups entering fall camp are Ryan McDonald and Robert Jenkins, a pair of players who will have a good battle to determine where they will reside on the depth chart when the season opens. McDonald has the edge in quickness, but Jenkins is a physical player that could help the team if he were able to take the next step. Coaches are also hoping to get a good look at newcomer Edwin Williams at center this season as well.

Kyle Schmitt

Senior C.J. Brooks is the starter at left guard and has drawn acclaim from a number of preseason publications as a likely All-American in his final season at Maryland. A first team All-ACC selection last year, he is a tenacious blocker who can play tackle or guard if needed. His team-high 37 knockdown blocks last year, however, make his return to guard for a second-straight year likely. Playing time behind Brooks will come from either junior Russell Bonham or redshirt freshman Garrick Clig. Bonham missed spring with a knee injury but is a physical player who was playing his best football prior to the injury toward the end of 2003. Clig is a physical player who came on as the season progressed last year, showing the ability to blow people off of the ball. Junior Matt Powell is a versatile veteran who will also work at the position.

On the right side, redshirt freshman Andrew Crummey appears to have wrapped up the starting job. Though his physical progress needs to continue, Crummey improved his size and strength in year one and gives the line an intelligent, athletic guard with very good feet. He may eventually end up at center, but is slated to play guard this year. Redshirt freshman Donnie Woods is listed as Crummey's backup while he will have to fight off a charge from Bonham should the junior not fit in on the left side. Woods seems to have overcome a knee injury suffered in high school and has steadily improved over the course of the last year. Considered one of the top prep linemen in the nation prior to his injury, he knows the game very well and could be a factor with improved strength. Sophomore Dave Quaintance will continue to work at right guard as well after moving over from the defensive side of the ball in the spring, and true freshman Jaimie Thomas will also get a look at the position.

As it should be, the Terrapins have their best pass blocker, Stephon Heyer at left tackle. Heyer had a good year in his first as a starter and a very good spring. As he continues to get stronger, he could become a dominant player and should be considered for postseason honors this season. Senior Ryan Flynn, who performed well in his first year as a lineman after switching from tight end, will be Heyer's backup and give the Terps some solid depth at the position. Redshirt freshman Brock Choate is a hard-working player with good size but still a work in progress. He will see increased playing time as his knowledge of the system continues to improve.

Right tackle will be manned by another experienced lineman, senior Lou Lombardo. Lombardo is a big, strong lineman who has seen significant playing time in his three non-redshirt years. His first season as the starter, he gives Maryland an excellent run blocker opposite the team's best pass blocker (Heyer). Behind Lombardo are second-year players Brandon Nixon and Eddie Matto as well as incoming freshman Scott Burley. Nixon dropped some weight in the offseason and improved his strength, making him a player whose development will continue to be of interest as he has the physical attributes coaches crave. Matto has been a pleasant surprise after walking on a year ago.

"We are in pretty good shape overall," said Friedgen. "We could use some more depth at certain spots but we have a lot of talent coming in, so we will see who is prepared and who isn't amongst that group. The left side is in good shape and on the right side, Lou is playing to the level Eric (Dumas) was last year and we think Crummey will be good as his strength improves."

The Terrapin defense will have some areas of concern when fall camp commences in August, but what is clear is that Maryland's style will stay the same: hard-charging. Based on the results of the previous three years under coordinator Gary Blackney, there is no reason for it to be any other way.

In the last three years, Maryland has finished each season ranked in the Top 20 nationally in scoring defense including seventh and sixth in 2002 and 2003, respectively. This season, the personnel will be different but the goals remain keeping the opposition off the scoreboard.

The Terps defensive line is strong on the outside but will see two new faces starting at tackle. The linebacking corps will be one of the focal points for the defensive staff and the secondary, though without three starters from last year, looks to be in good shape if the offseason is any indicator and will continue to be one of the team's strengths.

Defensive Line

To better utilize the strengths of particular players, the team will be lining up in more of a traditional 4-3 defense, though the responsibilities of the player formerly in the "Leo" position will not vary too greatly. With the new alignment, the Terp defensive front will certainly be strong on the outside while the inside will be manned by a pair of first-time starters. Though young, this year's defensive line is arguably the deepest and most talented that line coach Dave Sollazzo has been able to work with in his tenure at Maryland.

At the team's "traditional" defensive end spot, Kevin Eli returns for his senior season after turning in one of the surprise performances on the defensive side of the ball last year. Eli earned second team All-ACC accolades last year after taking over for Scott Smith three games into the season and finished with 11 TFLs and 5.5 sacks. Two redshirt freshmen will look to get their feet wet behind him as Patrick Powell and Omarr Savage are backups at the position. Powell and Savage are very similar players as both run well, but Powell moved ahead with his hard work and play in the spring, showing that he is a refined pass rusher despite his relative inexperience. Savage has long arms and is built like a pro, but needs to work on playing lower. A newcomer who coaches raved about on signing day, Mack Frost, will also work at the position.

On the opposite side, the team will look to make use of the skills of another player whose upside has yet to be reached in junior Shawne Merriman. Merriman's unrealized potential does not suggest that he has not been a performer in the past for the Terps as he posted 8.5 sacks and 9.5 tackles for loss last year. Those numbers were recorded, however, playing most of the year on a knee that gave him trouble, thus suggesting that he will give the team even more this year with improved health. Behind him is senior Jon Condo a steady player who has earned more recognition as the Terps' longsnapper, while second-year player Jermaine Lemons will also try to factor in. Jeris Smith, who will first get a look at "Sam" linebacker, could also line up at this end spot. He proved in the spring that his value improved lining up over a tackle or tight end as opposed to in space, which he would see more of at linebacker.

At defensive tackle, sophomore Conrad Bolston appears to have a hold of the starting job after playing in 10 games as a true freshman. Hard-working senior Henry Scott will challenge Bolston and redshirt freshman Dre Moore will also be in the mix for playing time. Moore is a big, strong tackle who moves well and is another young player to watch in the future on the defensive front. Three other first-year players will work and hope to factor in behind him as Jared Gaither, Jack Griffin and Dane Randolph join the team in fall. Gaither is an interesting story as he played just one year of high school football after drawing Division I basketball offers. At 6-9 and 300 pounds, he could also see time at end.

Second-year player Rob Armstrong is listed as the starter at nose tackle after spending more time on the field than any defensive freshman a year ago. Armstrong lives up to his name as he is a powerful inside force who should only get better with another year under his belt. Junior Justin Duffie is still battling medical issues, but hope is that an offseason surgery will have him back in the lineup as a reserve. He was coming on in 2002 before being sidelined due to the medical problems a year ago. Junior Davian Bryan and newcomer Dennis Marsh will fight for playing time behind Armstrong and Duffie, as will true freshman Carlos Feliciano, who joins the team in the fall. Marsh benefited from graduating high school early and joining the team in the spring.

"We have a lot of good young kids coming in on the defensive line," said Friedgen. ""Like I said prior to spring, the first thing we will be looking for is for this group to show that they can play the run and establish good pad position. After they do that, they can move on in their progression of learning the defense. But the positive is that we have a bigger pool of talent, inexperienced or not, than I think we have ever had."

Linebacker

Maryland's group of linebackers will likely be the most dynamic unit of any other spot on the defense in the preseason. Though some semblance of answers came from spring practice, several remain and the bottom line for the Terps will be getting their best players on the field

A year after successfully answering the question "who would replace E.J. Henderson," junior D'Qwell Jackson returns as the team's top playmaking linebacker. He enters fall camp as the starter once again at middle linebacker, but the only thing that is known for sure is that he will be a starter. Should the team need him to, he is versatile enough to be moved to weakside linebacker, but regardless, Jackson is a warrior who runs well and makes plays all over the field. Just a junior, he was a second team all-conference pick and led the team in tackles (136) in his first year as a starter. Backing him up is redshirt freshman Tim Cesa, a player whose work in the spring made Jackson's flexibility to move a possibility. Cesa is strong and very well suited to play "Mike" whereas Jackson has the ability to play where it best serves the team.

Junior William Kershaw and redshirt freshman Wesley Jefferson will do their best to keep Jackson in the middle. Kershaw runs well and has all of the physical attributes the defensive coaching staff is seeking from a "Will" linebacker. Jefferson is a solid tackler who is still working to get his strength and speed where he needs it, but he showed the type of instinct that makes a good linebacker on more than one occasion in game situations in the spring.

The other linebacking position that will get a good look is "Sam." Both sophomore David Holloway and Jeris Smith performed well in their battle for the starting job in the offseason and both showed characteristics that will get them on the field in 2004. Of the two, Holloway may be better suited to the position with his speed, range and ability to play in space while Smith showed the physicality that will give him a shot at both "Sam" and defensive end. True freshman Eric Lenz is one of three newcomers who was here for spring ball and showed the speed and athleticism that will turn heads when he gets the strength and size to match. Trey Covington and Chase Bullock will also get a look at the position, though Covington's future may reside at the end spot currently occupied by Shawne Merriman.

"Overall, we have a challenge to get as good as we have been in the past at linebacker," said Friedgen. ""We have a couple of walk-ons working where we had one of our better players in the past in Leon Joe, so there is going to be a little drop off there and, if not, at least a learning curve. But we have some promising talent and, like with a few other positions, we may just need some experience to have things back like we want them or even better."

Back

All four of Maryland's starting defensive backs earned All-ACC mention last year, whether it be second team or honorable mention. It was quite a feat for the defense but not undeserved considering the team finished 12th in the nation in pass defense and 17th in pass efficiency defense. The concern that surfaced for 2004, even before 2003 drew to a close, was that three of the four starters from that group have graduated. Though viable, the concern seemed to fade in spring practice as the players who remained answered question after question with their play.

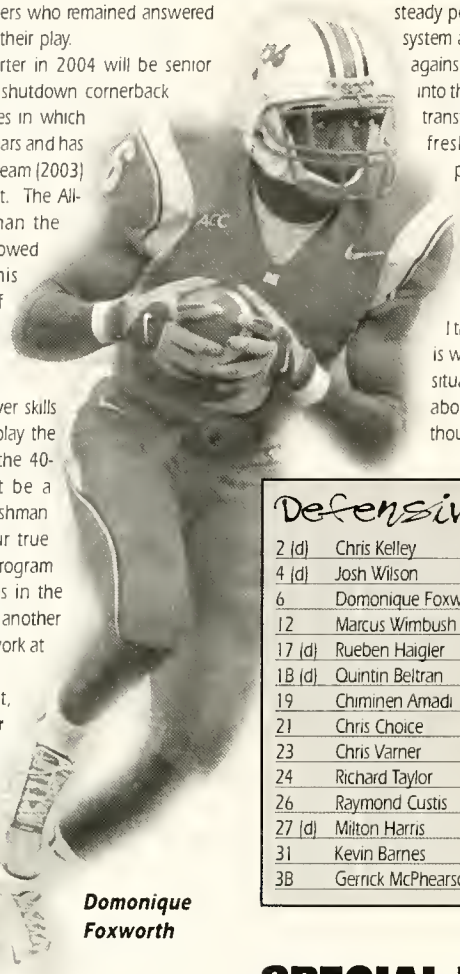
The lone returning starter in 2004 will be senior Domonique Foxworth, a shutdown cornerback who has started all 29 games in which he has played the last three years and has first team (2002) and second team (2003) All-ACC honors to show for it. The All-American candidate will man the "field" corner position and showed in the offseason that his versatility and knowledge of the defense could play a role in nickel and dime situations if needed. Sophomore Josh Wilson has shown good cover skills and the bravado it takes to play the position. Timed at 4.35 in the 40-yard dash, speed will not be a concern for Wilson, either. Freshman Chris Varner is one of four true freshmen who entered the program early and impressed coaches in the spring while Kevin Barnes is another athletic newcomer who will work at field corner this season.

At the boundary spot, senior Reuben Haigler missed most of spring with a groin injury but will start fall atop the depth chart. Haigler is a tough player with good speed and solid cover skills who has worked hard since redshirting in 2003. His status as the starter became a little more uncertain in the spring due to the play of junior Gerrick McPhearson, one of the most athletic players on the team. McPhearson seems to be coming into his own and making use of his team-best 4.29 speed. Sophomore Chris Choice will also work at the spot but the main battle will take place between McPhearson and Haigler.



Domonique Foxworth

"I have been pleased with the secondary," said Friedgen. ""Going into the offseason, I was concerned with the cornerbacks. I mean, we knew what we had in Domonique (Foxworth) but after spring, we know he is playing the best he has ever played. He had a great spring, challenged receivers more and is playing with very good technique. The other guys are the ones who really impressed me and showed me that they are ready to play."

Heading into the offseason, the position in the secondary where competition seemed to be the tightest was at strong safety. That competition did not last long into spring as senior Chris Kelley, after years of physical turmoil, was outstanding and easily took command of the starting job. Kelley showed good instincts and hitting ability while earning praise as one of the offseason's top performers. Hard-hitting sophomore Marcus Wimbush will back up Kelley and look to see action in nickel and dime situations, while a host of players such as senior Quintin Beltran – 2003 Offensive Scout Team Player of the Year at tailback – and newcomer J.J. Justice will look to be factors. At 218 pounds, Justice ran a reported 10.5 in the 100-meters as a prep in the spring.

The Terps' most experienced safety is Ray Custis, a senior who has seen significant action in the nickel and dime the last two years. Custis – who topped the team's list of Iron Terps for the second-straight year in offseason testing – is a steady performer who is comfortable in the system and has the speed (4.46) to protect against the big play. His backups heading into the fall are all inexperienced as junior transfer Milton Harris is joined by true freshman Richard Taylor at the position.

"Chris Kelley, to me, was the most improved defensive player on our team in the spring and he really impressed me," said Friedgen. ""The only questions that I think we need to answer at this point is who goes where in nickel and dime situations. But overall, I feel a lot better about the defensive backfield than I thought I was going to coming in."

conference team (second team). He finished the season with a 42.3-yard average but knocked 22 of his 53 efforts inside the opponent's 20-yard line.

Jon Condo has yet to have a punt blocked in his three years as the team's long snapper and is firmly entrenched as the starter. In the returns, Suter returns as the team's primary punt and kickoff returner, but several players such as Rich Parson and Drew Weatherly showed in the spring that they are very capable should they be called upon. Suter needs just one punt return for a TD to tie the NCAA career record and, as mentioned earlier, will be at full strength this season.

"Nick (Novak) had a very good offseason and appears to have snapped out of the little slump he was in," said Friedgen. ""Podlesh had a very good first year and we hope that he continues to improve on his start. In the returns, we know what we have in Suter but Rich Parson can definitely help us and Weatherly showed us what he could do in the spring game, so we feel pretty good about things overall."

SPECIAL TEAMS

Maryland's special teams units will again be one of the strengths of the team in 2004, with top flight players returning at placekicker, punter and in the returns game. Though always seeking to improve, one important factor this season will be in grooming replacements for players in their last year such as Nick Novak and Steve Suter, while also continuing to be one of the top units overall in the nation.

At placekicker, Novak is a contender for this year's Lou Groza Award and has an outside shot at being the leading career scorer in NCAA history. He will become the leading scorer in ACC history with three more points and, though he struggled some at the end of last year, he still enters this season as the top kicker in the conference. His standing nationally will be determined by how quickly he returns to the form he had in the early part of 2003. Backing him up will be sophomore Dan Ennis, a player who is steady from 35 yards in and Obi Egekeze, a true freshman who will likely redshirt unless he can give the team a different dimension on kickoffs.

Adam Podlesh had an outstanding first season as the Terrapins' punter, combining a good leg with very good directional punting. He was a Ray Guy semifinalist and the first Maryland freshman ever named to the all-

Nick Novak (46) and Adam Podlesh

Paschal ABIAMIRI

Wide Receiver
6-2 • 194 • So.-SQ
Randallstown, Md.
(Mount Saint Joseph HS)

On Abiamiri: Third-year player who is part of a deep Maryland receiving corps ... spent most of 2003 on the offensive scout team but will look to challenge for playing time as a sophomore ... posted a 450-pound squat and 38 1/2-inch vertical jump in spring testing.

2003 (Redshirt Freshman): Saw action in one game (The Citadel) ... did not record any statistics ... looked good in the preseason, having a strong spring game, as he led the White team in receiving with five receptions for 73 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

2002 (Freshman): Redshirt season.

High School: A two-year letterwinner and 2002 graduate of Mt. Saint Joseph High School in Baltimore, Md. ... a two-year starter at wide receiver ... caught 38 passes for 426 yards and three touchdowns as a senior ... also was on the receiving end of two two-point conversions and was the "gunner" on special teams in 2001 ... best year, statistically, was his junior season when he had 42 receptions for 782 yards and seven TDs ... a first-team All-MIAA (Maryland Interscholastic Athletics Association) pick as a senior ... also a second-team all-city and all-county selection ... an All-Atlantic region selection by PrepStar ... team went 15-6 in his two years on varsity ... also ran track and played basketball as a junior ... competed indoors and outdoors in the 200 and 400 meters, the long jump, triple jump and high jump ... verbally committed to Maryland prior to the 2001 season ... high school coach was Mike Working Personal: Paschal E. Abiamiri was born April 23, 1984 ... is the son of Rita and Peter Abiamiri and the brother of current Terp tight end, Rob . majoring in criminology and criminal justice ... name is pronounced PASS-kull.

Rob ABIAMIRI

Tight End
6-2 • 241 • Sr.-1V
Randallstown, Md.
(Mount Saint Joseph HS)

On Abiamiri: Player who will look to play a significant role at tight end his senior season ... will share time as an H-back and "posse" tight end with Vernon Davis, with both players often seeing the field at the same time ... has added 20 pounds since his junior season ... saw spot duty at tight end in 2003, showing his worth as a blocker and occasionally as a receiver ... worked his way to the top of the depth chart at receiver prior to the fall of 2001 before succumbing to a foot injury which limited his ability to compete in '01 and '02 ... has good agility for a player his size ... posted a 37-inch vertical jump in spring testing, second-best ever by a Maryland tight end.

2003 (Junior): Saw action in all 13 games, starting one (West Virginia) due to the formation in which Maryland opened the game ... (vs. WVU) ... had an 8-yard reception on pass up the sideline in the third quarter ... (at FSU) ... recorded his first career reception for four yards.

2002 (Sophomore): Did not see game action.

2000 (Freshman): Redshirt season.

High School: A 2000 graduate of Mount St. Joseph High School in Baltimore, Md. ... a two-year varsity performer . blossomed as a senior by earning first team all-state and All-Mid-Atlantic honors from SuperPrep and PrepStar ... was also named to the Baltimore Sun's All-Metro team .. totaled 13 touchdowns as a senior (eight receiving, two rushing, two on punt returns and one on a kickoff return) ... finished with 28 receptions for 779 yards ... also competed in basketball and track ... a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete honoree ... high school coach was Mike Working.

Personal: Robert Obinna Abiamiri was born December 21, 1982 ... son of Rita and Peter Abiamiri ... brother, Paschal, is a sophomore wideout on this year's team ... majoring in economics and criminology and criminal justice ... a Maryland scholar-athlete in 2001.

Josh ALLEN

Tailback
5-11 • 202 • Jr.-2V
Tampa, Fla.
(Eleanor Roosevelt (Md.) HS)

On Allen: Third-year back who has been solid, if not spectacular, in his first two years at the collegiate level ... worked his way into significant playing time at tailback as a true freshman in 2002 and spent the majority of last season as Maryland's starter ... has breakaway speed and hits the hole hard ... has posted 16 rushing touchdowns in just two years at the collegiate level, a total that places him just two scores outside the school's career top 10 heading into his junior campaign .. averages a robust 5.4 yards per carry for his career ... an Iron Terp who posted a 355-pound bench, 565-pound squat and 4.49 time in the 40-yard dash in spring testing.

2003 (Sophomore): Played in all 13 games, starting eight ... ranked sixth in the ACC with 70.9 rushing yards per game ... led Maryland with eight rushing touchdowns and 922 yards ... (at NCSU) ... averaged 6.3 yards per carry, finishing with 144 rushing yards on 23 attempts ... longest run of the game was 32 yards but his 28-yard scamper up the sideline (on 1st-and-21 from the 11) was one of the key plays in the Terps' comeback ... run came on the Terps' final touchdown drive ... added a 25-yard reception on a screen pass in the second quarter to gain a first down ...' (vs. UVa) ... named ACC Offensive Back of the Week ... had an incredible performance, rushing for 257 yards on 38 carries with two touchdowns ... 257-yard day was the 11th-best in ACC history and the third-best single-game rushing performance in Maryland history behind only LaMont Jordan's 306 yards against Virginia in 1999 and Bruce Perry's 276 yards vs. Wake Forest in 2001 ... it was also the second-best rushing day in the ACC (eighth-best nationally) in 2003 ... 38 rushing attempts in the game stands as the fifth-highest total in a single game in Terp history ... second touchdown came on an 80-yard run in the second quarter when he bounced off right tackle and outran the Virginia defenders downfield to the end zone ... run was the longest of his career ... (vs. UNC) ... had a career-long reception for 43 yards and his first career-receiving touchdown on a screen pass from Scott McBrien in the second quarter ... ran for a touchdown in the second quarter on a 5-yard play as he banged his way up the middle to the end zone ... (at EMU) ... finished with 71 yards on 18 rushing attempts and three receptions for 31 yards ... scored two rushing touchdowns ... second touchdown run of the game featured a stiff-arm of the linebacker on the way to an 8-yard score ... (vs. WVU) ... gained 54 yards on 16 rushing attempts ... showed good awareness by catching a pass which deflected off Jo Jo Walker for a gain of 18 yards in the first quarter... scored a touchdown in the second quarter ... (vs. The Citadel) ... finished with 136 yards on 11 rushing attempts ... sprinted off left tackle for a 72-yard touchdown on the first offensive play of the game ... also had a 28-yard reception that came in the second quarter after he broke two tackles ... (at NIU) ... had 67 yards on 20 rushing attempts ... scored the Terps' first offensive touchdown of the season on a 1-yard run in the first quarter.

2002 (Freshman): Saw action in eight games ... finished the season second on the team in rushing yards (405) and TDs (eight) despite missing five games ... averaged a robust 6.8 yards per carry ... tackled for a loss only twice on 60 carries ... (at UNC) ... had six carries for 91 yards (15.6 avg.) with two touchdowns ... scored the Terps' final two TDs of the game with a 2-yard run in the third quarter and a 60-yard jaunt in the fourth quarter ... (at Duke) ... had two carries for 16 yards, including an 11-yard TD run in the second quarter ... left the game with a sprained left wrist ... (at WVU) ... had a team and career-high 116 yards on 16 carries, while also adding two TDs ... named ACC Rookie of the Week for his play ... broke through two tackles to score the second Maryland touchdown of the day, a 70-yard run in the first quarter ... became the first Terp freshman to run for over 100 yards since 1998 ... had first career catch for five yards ... (vs. Wofford) ... posted 63 yards rushing on 14 carries ... scored two rushing touchdowns (1 and 10 yards) ... had 38 yards rushing and a touchdown in the fourth quarter alone ... (vs. EMU) ... saw the first action of his collegiate career and led the Terps in rushing with 86 yards on 10 carries ... scored his first career TD on an 8-yard run in the fourth quarter.

High School: A three-year letterwinner and 2002 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School in Greenbelt, Md. ... highly rated running back who was named a SuperPrep All-American following his senior season ... rated 34th among the nation's running backs by SuperPrep ... one of the state of Maryland's top high school prospects ... totaled 2,999 rushing yards his junior and senior seasons ... a consensus all-state selection who was named second team All-Met by The Washington Post in 2001 ... named first team all-league and first team all-county ... a powerful back with outstanding speed, he rushed for 1,771 yards and 21 touchdowns on just 129 carries (13.7 average) as a senior despite missing three games with a bruised knee ... caught nine passes for 117 yards and two touchdowns ... helped Roosevelt to a 12-1 record, a state Class 4A runner-up finish and a final Associated Press state ranking of No. 7 ... as a junior in 2000, he rushed for 1,228 yards and 14 touchdowns in a wing-T offensive attack ... had three TD catches among his six receptions ... named second team all-state and second team all-county ... an outstanding track athlete who was the 2001 state Class 4A champion in the 100 meters (10.8) and the Prince George's County champion in the triple jump and long jump as a junior ... ran on the winning 4x200 relay team at the Nike New Balance Games in January of 2002, posting a time of 1:28.62 (the 10th-fastest high school indoor mark ever, according to Track & Field News) ... also recruited by Northwestern, Georgia Tech, Pittsburgh and Georgia ... high school coach was Rick Houchens.

Personal: Joshua Lenard Allen was born June 11, 1983 ... son of Leonard Allen ... majoring in kinesiology ... relocated to the Maryland area from Tampa, Fla., after his sophomore year of high school when his father was transferred for job-related reasons ... high school teammate of fellow Maryland sophomore Chris Choice.

Rob ARMSTRONG

Nose Tackle
6-4 • 298 • So.-1V
Arlington, Va.
(Washington Lee HS/Fork Union Military)

On Armstrong: A strong inside force who saw significant playing time in 2003, his first year as a Terp ... enters fall camp slated to start at nose tackle in 2004 ... originally signed with Virginia out of high school ... recorded a 420-pound bench and 495-pound squat in spring testing.

2003 (Freshman): Played in 12 games, seeing the field more as the season progressed ... lone game in which he did not play was the first of the year, Northern Illinois ... finished with 12 tackles (six solo) and two quarterback hurries ... (vs. UVa) ... tied a season-high with three tackles (one solo) ... also recorded the first QB hurry of his career ... had a big stop on a Wali Lundi run for no gain in the first quarter ... (at GT) ... finished with three tackles (one solo) ... (vs. Duke) ... had three

Tight End
6-3 • 239 • So.-1V
Washington, D.C.
(Dunbar HS)

On Davis: A physically-gifted sophomore who should play a bigger role in the offense this year ... saw time primarily on special teams last season ... his play in spring suggests he is a player to watch in the future ... will likely be used in either an H-back or "posse" tight end role, giving him more chances to touch the ball ... his becoming more involved in the offense gives the Terps a player who can stretch the field and create possible personnel problems for a defense ... Iron Terp who already owns strength records for a tight end at Maryland in bench (410), power clean (352), vertical jump (38 inches) and index (714) . other off-season testing numbers include a 565-pound squat and 4.5 time in the 40-yard dash (second-fastest ever by a Terp tight end)."

2003 (Freshman): Saw the most consistent action of any true freshman, playing in all 13 contests . . finished with five receptions for 59 yards and eight solo special teams tackles ... (vs. WVU in the Gator Bowl) ... made his most athletic play of the season, taking a quick out and turning it into a 28-yard gain, making would-be tacklers miss and breaking tackles along the way ... (at EMU) ... first career game with multiple receptions (two) ... second career reception was good for a first down, keeping the Terps' first scoring drive alive ... narrowly missed first career punt block as he nearly got a piece of one in the first quarter . . had two solo tackles on special teams ... (vs. WVU) ... his lone tackle of the game came on a big hit on special teams during the second quarter, forcing the Mountaineers' drive to begin at their own 18-yard line ... (at FSU) ... had his first career reception, which came on a 1-yard pass from Orlando Evans in the fourth quarter ... (at NIU) ... saw action on punt and kick coverage teams in his first career action as a Terp ... the lone true freshman to play in the season-opener.

High School: A 2003 graduate of Dunbar High School in Washington, D.C. ... a three-year starter who primarily played tight end and safety but also saw time at wide receiver, kick returner, linebacker and defensive end in his tenure ... an outstanding athlete who was clocked at 4.4 in the 40-yard dash, 10.7 in the 100 meters and posted a 39-inch vertical jump as a prep ... caught 21 passes for 511 yards (24.3 avg.) and five touchdowns as a senior despite missing three games with a deep bone bruise below his knee ... also caught three two-point conversions and returned four kicks (two kickoffs and two punts) for touchdowns ... had 35 receptions for 385 yards and 11 TDs as a junior ... selected to play in the U.S. Army All-American Bowl ... rated as the third-best tight end in the nation by ESPN.com's Tom Lemming ... a member of SuperPrep's Elite 50 and that publication's 39th-rated player nationally ... a Mid-Atlantic all-region pick by SuperPrep and the third-best player (at any position) in the region ... second team All-USA by USA Today ... first team All-Met by The Washington Post ... Gatorade Player of the Year for the District of Columbia ... team went 31-5 and won two city championships in his three years at Dunbar ... competed in basketball and track & field ... was the DCIAA champion in the high jump with a leap of 6-5 ... chose Maryland over Florida, Virginia, Purdue and Miami, among others ... high school coach was Craig Jefferies.

2004 RECRUITING CLASS

On Feb. 4, University of Maryland head football coach Ralph Friedgen announced the signing of 22 recruits for the 2004 season.

This year's class – which has drawn more national attention than any Maryland group in recent history — features one quarterback, one tight end, four offensive linemen, six defensive linemen, three linebackers, four defensive backs, a placekicker and three players who are listed as possibilities on either side of the ball.

"This class goes a long way in building the depth of our offensive and defensive lines as well as our secondary," said Friedgen. ""It is a class with players who have great individual strengths and a great deal of talent. As importantly, the kids who signed with us have great character and are goal-oriented."

The 2004 class of signees features a level of national recognition unsurpassed in recent Maryland history. A total of 11 players (Burley, Covington, Feliciano, Frost, Gaither, Justice, Lenz, Marsh, Randolph, Steffy, Varner) in this year's class were named SuperPrep All-Americans with six on that list being defensive linemen. In addition, of SuperPrep's top 20 players in the Mid-Atlantic region, 10 signed with the Terps. Seven (Feliciano, Frost, Hicks, Justice, Lenz, Marsh, Randolph) were named All-American by PrepStar and two others (Burley, Covington) were on that publication's "Dream Team," the highest honor given.

The class again sticks to the guidelines Friedgen laid out in his first year in College Park as the Mid-Atlantic region is well represented (12 players from Maryland, D.C. and Virginia), while top players from all over the country have also signed on with the Terrapins. Also represented are the states of North Carolina (3), Connecticut (2), Pennsylvania (2), Georgia (1), New Jersey (1) and South Carolina (1).

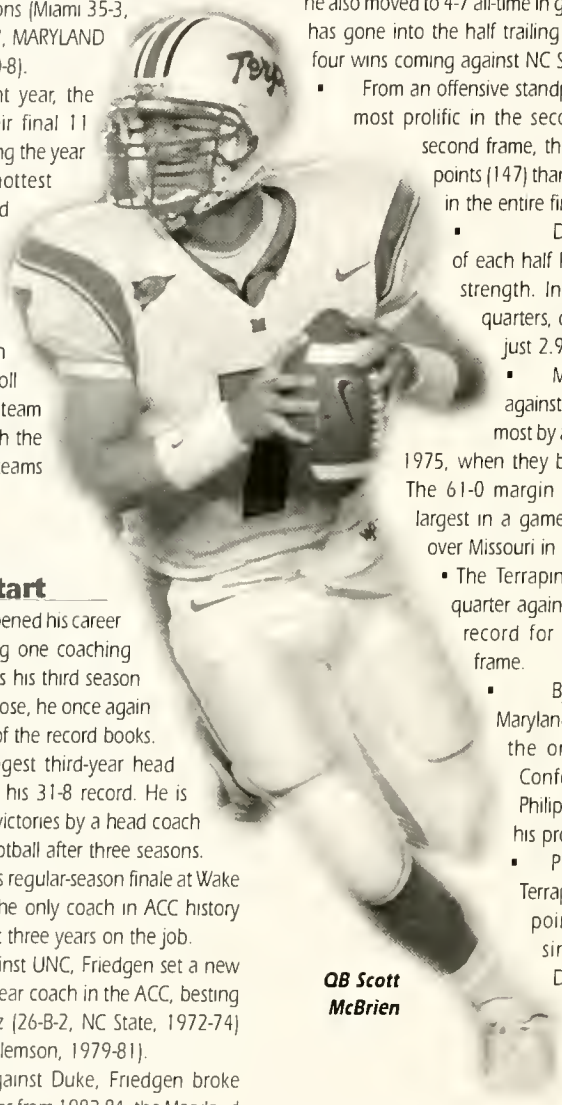
2003 REVIEW NOTEBOOK

Terps Among Nation's Elite with Third Straight 10-Win Season

- With its 41-7 win over West Virginia in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl on New Year's Day, Maryland improved its record to 10-3 on the season. The Terps are one of only five schools in NCAA Division I-A to have posted three straight 10-win seasons (Miami 35-3, Oklahoma 35-6, Texas 32-7, MARYLAND 31-B, Washington State 30-8).
- For the second-straight year, the Terrapins won 10 of their final 11 games of the season, ending the year as one of the nation's hottest teams. Maryland finished second in the ACC with a 6-2 record.
- The Terps finished 17th in the Associated Press final ranking and 20th in the ESPN / USA Today poll of coaches. It was the 18th team in Maryland history to finish the season among the Top 25 teams in the nation.



QB Scott McBrien

Friedgen's ACCeptional Start

- Ralph Friedgen has opened his career as a head coach by setting one coaching record after another and as his third season in College Park came to a close, he once again moved himself to the top of the record books.
- Friedgen is the winningest third-year head coach in ACC history with his 31-8 record. He is also seventh on the list of victories by a head coach in the history of college football after three seasons.
- With Maryland's win in its regular-season finale at Wake Forest, Friedgen became the only coach in ACC history to win 30 games in his first three years on the job.
- With the Terps' win against UNC, Friedgen set a new record for wins by a third-year coach in the ACC, besting the win totals of Lou Holtz (26-8-2, NC State, 1972-74) and Danny Ford (26-9-0, Clemson, 1979-81).
- With his team's win against Duke, Friedgen broke Bobby Ross' record of 25 wins from 1982-84, the Maryland standard for wins in three seasons.

Quick Hits v.2003

- Below are notes of some of the more interesting feats that happened in the Terps' respective games of 2003:
- Maryland lit the scoreboard first in each of its first 10 games of 2003, but fell behind in each of its final two games. The Terps scored first in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl win over West Virginia.
- Prior to the North Carolina game — a game Ralph Friedgen sees as having turned his team's season — Maryland had either led throughout in each game or lost. In three of the last four regular-season games, the Terrapins needed to overcome deficits of eight points or more to win (8 vs. UNC; 14 in the fourth quarter at NC State; and 14 at Wake Forest).
- The Terrapins held half their opponents off the scoreboard in the first quarter in 2003.
- In Ralph Friedgen's three seasons, Maryland is 27-0 when leading at halftime. With the win over Wake Forest, he also moved to 4-7 all-time in games when his team has gone into the half trailing with three of those four wins coming against NC State.
- From an offensive standpoint, Maryland was most prolific in the second quarter. In the second frame, the Terps scored more points (147) than their opponents did in the entire first half (111).
- Defensively, the start of each half has been Maryland's strength. In the first and third quarters, opponents averaged just 2.9 points per game.
- Maryland's 61 points against The Citadel were the most by a Terrapin team since 1975, when they beat Virginia, 62-14. The 61-0 margin of victory was the largest in a game since a 74-13 win over Missouri in 1954.
- The Terrapins' 39-point second quarter against UNC was an ACC record for points in a single frame.
- By beating NC State, Maryland ensured that it was the only Atlantic Coast Conference school that Philip Rivers never beat in his prolific career.
- Prior to 2003, the Terrapins had only hit 40 points in a half once since 1980 (42 vs. Duke in 2001). The 2003 team did it twice (44 vs. The Citadel and 45 vs. North Carolina).
- Maryland's home attendance average in 2003 was 51,236. Though the Terps' attendance this season ranked 40th nationally in terms of raw numbers, as a percentage of capacity, Byrd Stadium was third-best in the nation as it exceeded its seating capacity (106.6 percent filled this year).'

These are the Days

- With its win over West Virginia, Maryland has posted 31 victories over its last three seasons. That three-year win total is the best in school history.
- Maryland's previous best was when it won 28 games in a three-year span, which occurred on three occasions: 1974-76, when it went 28-7-1; 1975-77, when it also went 28-7-1 and 1976-78, when it posted a 28-8 mark.
- Maryland equaled a school record set in 1976 with 1 wins last season. With a win in the Toyota Gator Bowl, joined the teams of 1951, '53, '55 and Friedgen's firs year in 2001 as squads to win 10 games.
- With its win in the Toyota Gator Bowl, Maryland poste its seventh double-digit season win total in progran history.

Terps Among Nation's Elite

- From 2001-03, the Maryland football program wa among the best in the nation. The Terrapins were 31-8 i that span with an 18-1 record at home.
- The Terrapins are one of eight teams from BC conferences to have won at least 30 games in those thre years. The others were Oklahoma (35-6), Texas (32-7) Ohio State (32-7), Miami (35-3), Washington State (30-8) LSU (31-9) and Georgia (32-8). Non-BCS schools includ Marshall (30-8) and Boise State (33-6).

End of the Line

- A total of 21 seniors played their final game as Terrapin in the Toyota Gator Bowl. The class has been one of the most successful in Maryland history, posting a 36-14 (.720 record in the last three-plus years. The following is a lis of those players:

Just Like A Tortoise

- Starting 1-2 is never ideal, especially for a team whose expectations were as high as Maryland's coming into 2003. But after winning 10 of its last 11 games coupled with the team's run at the end of last season, maybe it isn't such a bad way to start a campaign.
- In 2002, the Terps opened 1-2 and then went on to win 10 of their last 11 games, running off eight in a row at one point before dominating Tennessee, 30-3, in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

After a 1-2 start in '03, Maryland finished 0-3 and headed to a third bowl game in 's many years. Though interesting, it may ot be irony that the team has again ome back from the depths of a slow art. Since 1980, Maryland started a eason 1-2 (or worse) 10 times. alph Friedgen has been a coach n four of those 10 teams (1982 & 4; 2002-03). The four teams riedgen was involved with have a omposite record of 38-13 (.745), while e other six finished a combined 17-7-1 (.269).

Running On Empty

It seems like the Maryland corps of unning backs had a different injury to ontend with all year, from Bruce Perry's nkle at the start of the season to Sammy aldonado's knee to Josh Allen's ankle rain prior to the season finale. The one ing that the adversity hasn't affected, owever, is the one thing that it would e expected to — the team's roduction running with the football.

In the last four regular-season ames, the Terrapins ran the ball ore effectively than at any point the last three years. In that an, the average rush utput per game was 64.8 yards per game.

In each of the last ree regular-season games, the Terps had a 100-yard erformance, and twice the team had a back go over 00 yards.

Allen's 257-yard day against Virginia was the top ushing performance in the ACC last year, the eighth-best the NCAA and the third-best in Maryland history.

Perry's 237-yard effort against Wake Forest was his econd career 200-yard game, with both coming at Wake orest (he posted a career-high 276 in 2001, the second-est rushing day in school history).

McNificent

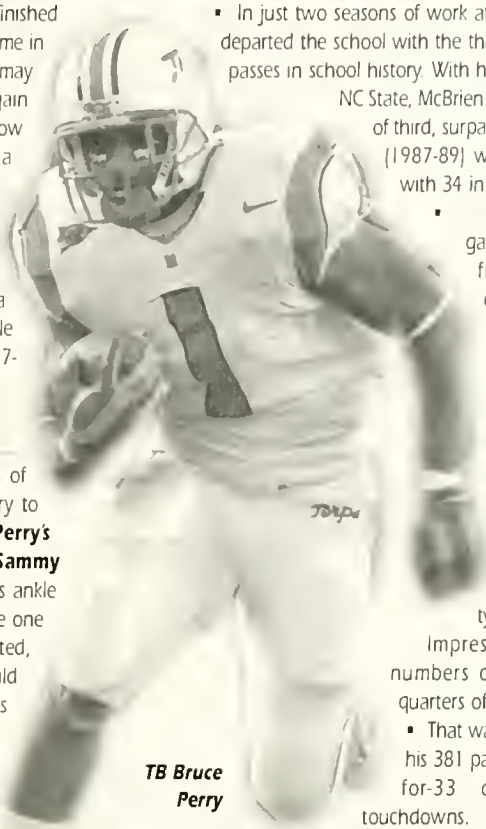
Quarterback Scott McBrien was, at worst, a onsistent force for the Terps, but since Maryland's win ver UNC, the senior was nothing short of outstanding leading the Maryland offense.

For the season, Mc8rien had a 142.7 efficiency rating, rowing for 2,672 yards on 173-for-314 passing while ssing 19 TDs to go along with six interceptions, fewest y a starter in the ACC.

Ironically, it seems that a concussion — that had him t out the second half of the Georgia Tech game — was e turning point for McBrien. In the five games that llowed, his play took a dramatic turn.

In the five games following the setback at Tech (all ins) he was 79-of-138 (.572) for 1,362 yards, 13 uchdowns, one interception and 104 yards rushing with ur TDs.

Mc8rien finished 21-6 as a starter at Maryland.



TB Bruce Perry

- In just two seasons of work at Maryland, McBrien departed the school with the third-most touchdown passes in school history. With his TD passes against NC State, McBrien took sole possession of third, surpassing Neil O'Donnell (1987-89) with 28. He finished with 34 in his career.
- This year's UNC game was one of the finest of McBrien's career, as he completed 15 of 25 passes for a then-career-high 349 yards, four touchdowns (also a career high) and no interceptions. He also rushed for a pair of touchdowns, tying his career best. Impressively, the huge numbers came in just three quarters of work.
- That was surpassed only by his 381 passing yards on a 21-for-33 day with three touchdowns.
- For the second-straight season, Mc8rien threw for three touchdowns against Clemson. It was the first time he had done so in 2003, but he went on to throw for three TDs or more three other times (vs. UNC, Wake Forest and the Gator Bowl vs. West Virginia).
- Against Eastern Michigan, Mc8rien threw for 252 yards and a TD on 14-of-19 passing while completing 8 of 9 passes in the second half to rally the Terps.

Mr. Versatility

- After making his mark by tying the NCAA record for punt returns for a touchdown in a season in 2002 and setting the career record for punt return yardage in 2003, some pundits viewed Steve Suter primarily as a returns specialist. As time has gone on, however, Suter's touches have come in returns, receiving and rushing, giving the Terps a breakaway threat from all angles.
- Finishing his second year as a regular at wide receiver and on special teams, Suter brought an explosiveness unparalleled at Maryland the last few years. In that time, he has averaged 15.4 yards per touch whether it be rushing, receiving or in the returns game.
- Despite playing nearly the entire season on an injured knee (probable meniscus tear in his left knee), Suter still managed to become one of four Terrapins to earn first team All-ACC recognition.
- A year after tying the NCAA record for punt returns for a touchdown in a season (4), Suter notched his first of 2003 by breaking tackles and then bursting free for a 75-yard jaunt against The Citadel. He added an exciting 76-yard punt return for touchdown in the Toyota Gator Bowl early in the second quarter.
- Suter also owns the Maryland career record for punt returns for a touchdown with six.
- Against UNC, Suter tied for the team lead with a career-high tying four receptions for 72 yards (he had a diving grab called back that would have put him over the century mark) and nearly had his first kick return for a TD with a 67-yarder. He also made a diving catch to give the Terps a two-point conversion that tied the game at 14 early in the second quarter.
- At Eastern Michigan, he posted a game-high four receptions for 84 yards, including a 45-yarder before halftime that set up a Nick Novak field goal.
- With 42 punt return yards in the regular-season game against West Virginia, Suter became Maryland's all-time leader in punt return yardage with 922. He enters 2004 with 1,108 and stands just 83 yards from the all-time ACC mark (Ledel George, NCSU, 1,191).

Action Jackson

- In his first season as a starter at middle linebacker, sophomore D'Qwell Jackson looked more like his predecessor E.J. Henderson than a first-time starter.
- Jackson led the team and was seventh in the Atlantic Coast Conference with an average of 10.2 tackles per outing (132 total).
- In addition to his tackle totals, Jackson posted 7.5 TFLs, 2.5 sacks, two interceptions (one returned for a touchdown), two pass breakups, 10 QB hurries, one forced fumble and one blocked kick.
- Jackson led the Terrapins in tackles in seven of 13 games this year. He has had eight games with double-digit tackles (nine career).
- Jackson just missed the record for tackles by a sophomore at Maryland. The record holder is Ratcliff Thomas, who notched 137 in 1994.
- In his first return to his home state as a collegian, Jackson was easily the Terps' player of the game against Florida State. He finished with 11 tackles (five solo) and a forced fumble, but big plays were what helped him make his mark. On FSU's first offensive play, he stepped in front of Chris Rix's intended receiver, came up with the interception and rumbled 58 yards — running through Rix along the way — for what would be Maryland's only touchdown of the game. Later in the quarter, he broke through the line on special teams and blocked a Xavier Beitia field goal attempt to momentarily help the Terps maintain a 10-7 lead

DT Randy Starks

• In his debut as Maryland's starter against Northern Illinois, Jackson led the team with 15 tackles (eight unassisted), a TFL and three QB hurries.

Depth And Experience

• Last year's Maryland squad was easily the deepest and most experienced of any during Ralph Friedgen's three-year tenure in College Park. It is one thing that could be cited for the team's ability to regroup in its final two games — both on the road — and overcome double-digit deficits.

• The 2003 edition of the Terrapins featured 21 seniors, a stark contrast to the '02 Terps, a team with just 10 seniors. Of the 10 seniors on the 2002 roster, just six were starters at season's end.

• 12 seniors were listed atop the chart at their respective positions at the end of the season.

Terps 12th In Scoring Defense

• After an uncharacteristically slow start in its first two games, the Terrapin defense spent the rest of the season looking like the same group that has been one of the top units in the country over the last three years.

• The Terp defense finished the season ranked sixth in the nation in scoring defense (15.9 ppg) and 15th in the NCAA in total defense (308.4 ypg). The team ranked first in the ACC in both categories.

• Since 2001, only one school — Georgia — has ranked higher nationally each season in scoring defense than Maryland.

• Only four opponents scored more than 20 points against the Terps in 2003.

• Ranked in the nation's top 20 in scoring defense each of the three years since Gary Blackney took the reins of the defense, Maryland has yet to see a year under his watch where opponents average more than 20 points per game.

• The Terps held opponents scoreless in 30 quarters in '02, second-most of any team in Division I-A football (Kansas State led the nation with 34). In 13 games last year, the Terps held their opposition scoreless in 26 quarters.

• Maryland held Virginia, one of the conference's premier offenses, to just 186 passing yards, 108 rushing yards and 17 points. Matt Schaub completed 50 percent of his passes, more than 20 percent below his average coming into the game.

• The Terrapins held Clemson to 10 yards rushing and seven points while intercepting Charlie Whitehurst twice (Whitehurst came into the game with just three interceptions for the season).

• Against West Virginia in the regular-season matchup, the Terps held an offense that entered averaging 366 yards a game (and finished the regular-season at almost 380 ypg) to just 156. West Virginia finished with 241 yards in the Toyota Gator Bowl.

The Four Corners

• Once a liability at Maryland, the defensive backfield has been a strength for the Terrapins since 2001. Following the Gator Bowl, the Terps ranked 12th nationally and first in the ACC in pass defense, giving up an average of just 179.0 yards through the air per game.

• Described by Ralph Friedgen as four players with "great character," corners Curome Cox, Domonique Foxworth, along with safeties Dennard Wilson and Madieu Williams also brought extraordinary skill to the table. All four players started in 2002 and all four have spent at least some portion of their collegiate career at cornerback, giving the team one of the most versatile secondaries in the country.

• Maryland was the only school in the ACC to put all four of its defensive backs on the list of all-conference performers last year, as Williams and Foxworth were named to the league's second team, while Cox and Wilson were honorable-mention selections. No other school had more than two defensive backs on the list.

• Cox and Wilson finished T6th in the ACC in passes defensed with 13. Cox moved into a tie for seventh on the Maryland all-time interceptions list with 1 interception in the end zone against NC State, the 10 of his career.

• Between them, Maryland's starting defensive ba brought 129 career starts, 27 interceptions and 98 p breakups.

• The Terrapins were the only school this year to ho the ACC's top passer, Philip Rivers, without a touchdo pass. They also held Rivers to season lows in completi (16) and completion percentage (.533).

• Maryland held four opponents this season below 1 yards passing, including 86 by West Virginia in the Toy Gator Bowl.

AutoMat-Nick

• Placekicker Nick Novak came on midway throu the 2001 season and now, just a junior, is wid considered one of the nation's premier kickers.

• Starting with his game-tying kick at Georgia Tech i '01, Novak has made 58 of his last 69 field goal attem (85%), with four of the 11 misses coming from 50 yar or further and one being a block.

• A semifinalist for last year's Lou Groza Award, Novak 22-of-29 on field goal attempts last season. Just one the six misses came from inside 40 yards.

• With his game-winning 43-yard field goal at NC Sta Novak became the all-time leading scor in Maryland history, surpassing the 3 points of Jess Atkinson (1981-84).

• Novak is currently fourth in AC history with 324 points and needs j three to break the mark of FSU's Sc Bentley (326).

• Novak tied the Maryland scho record with a 54-yard field goal agai Duke last year. The kick tied the mark s more than 30 years ago by Steve Mik Mayer (Sept. 29, 1973).

• A first team All-ACC pick in 20 and 2003, Novak was sixth in the NCA and first in the ACC with an average 1.85 field goals per game.

• Novak has hit the only thre game-winning attempts of career, beat Georgia Tech in 2001 and NC State 2002 and '03.

• The Charlottesville, Va., nati has made 64 percent (7-of-11) of h attempts for his career from 50 yards further.

Off On The Right Foot

• Attempting to fill the shoes your school's all-time leading punter is daunting task. With his first regul season as Maryland's starting punt behind him, however, redshirt freshma Adam Podlesh seemed unphased.

• Podlesh averaged 42.3 yards p punt, 36th-best in the NCAA and thi best in the ACC. He also helped the Ter to the 27th-best net average in the natio at 37.9 yards per punt.

On 53 punts last year, Podlesh dropped 42 percent 2) inside the opponents' 20-yard line.

Podlesh posted the fifth-best average in school history nd best by a freshman.

In being named a second team All-ACC selection at unter, Podlesh became the first freshman in school story to be recognized by the league.

Podlesh was a big part of the Terps' win at NC State, eraging 46.0 yards on five kicks with a long of 57 and vo inside the opponent's 20-yard line.

Punting into the wind on five of seven attempts against emson, Podlesh averaged 41 yards per kick with three ping out inside the 15 and one going out at the Tiger yard line. He earned ACC Specialist of the Week honors r his performance.

In front of the fourth-largest crowd in Florida State story, Podlesh averaged 43.7 yards per punt on seven cks with a long of 52 and three downed inside the eminoles' 20-yard line.

On eight punts against Northern Illinois, Podlesh veraged 45.4 yards per kick, leaving four punts inside e 20 and one inside the 10. He also had a booming 3-yard effort, the longest by a Terrapin in more than vo years.

Byrd-fection

With Maryland's win over Virginia on Nov. 13, the Terps nished the 2003 season with a perfect 6-0 record at ome, marking the second time in Ralph Friedgen's hree-year tenure that the team has finished its home ate unblemished. The Terps are 19-1 at Byrd Stadium in riedgen's three years, and open 2004 with an 11-game ome winning streak.

In 111 seasons of football, Maryland has finished ndefeated at home 19 times. Just seven of those ccasions, however, have come since 1950 (when Byrd adium opened) and it has happened just three times nce 1975 (1976, 2001 and 2003).

The Terrapins' 6-0 mark is a tie for the second-best cord at home in school history. The 1976 team was so 6-0, only to be trumped by the 2001 team, which on all of its games on a seven-game home slate.

A 25-Year Holliday

"Voice of the Terps" Johnny Holliday celebrated his lver anniversary with Maryland in 2003, as the roadcaster had his 25th season as the key cog in the erp broadcast team.

Johnny Holliday

With a long list of edentials that includes overing numerous ummer and winter lympics and the lasters, the Terps' irector of broadcasting ay be best known to ome fans from his days s a disc jockey in leveland, work which ltimately landed him in that town's Rock & Roll Hall of ame and most recently (Oct. 5) in the Radio & Television roadcasters' Hall of Fame.

Game 1

Huskie Stadium
DeKalb, Ill.
Aug. 28, 2003

NORTHERN ILLINOIS 20
#15 MARYLAND 13 (OT)

DEKALB, Ill. — After Dan Sheldon caught a 20-yard touchdown pass from Josh Haldi in overtime, Randee Drew turned the score into a victory when he intercepted a pass in the extra period to lift Northern Illinois to a victory over 15th-ranked Maryland in the season opener for both teams played before a sellout crowd.

The homestanding Huskies forced the overtime with a 25-yard field goal by Steve Azar with just 1:12 left. After NIU held the Terps on the next possession, the Huskies drove 43 yards in 27 seconds to set up Azar with a 43-yard field goal with five seconds left that could have won the game. But Maryland's Curtis Williams blocked the attempt, sending the game into overtime.

The Terrapins scored on their first possession of the game when Josh Allen dived over from the 1-yard line midway through the first quarter. The score capped an eight-play, 58-yard drive and gave Allen a score in his first start as a Terrapin.

The Huskies took a 10-7 lead into halftime, getting a 52-yard field goal by Azar and a 5-yard scoring pass from Haldi to P.J. Fleck. Haldi finished with 266 yards passing, including 116 on 13 catches by Fleck.

Northern Illinois' star running back Michael Turner finished the game with 30 carries for 90 yards.

A 46-yard field goal by Maryland's Nick Novak tied the game early in the third quarter, and the Terrapins went ahead 13-10 midway through the fourth quarter when Novak boomed a 50-yard field goal.

Scott McBrien hit 12 of 24 passes for 110 yards for theTerrapins, who were led on the ground by Allen's 67 yards on 20 carries. Redshirt freshman punter Adam Podlesh kept the Terps out of trouble through much of the game, averaging 45.4 yards in his collegiate debut and pinning NIU inside its own 20-yard line on four of his eight punts.

D'Qwell Jackson took advantage of his first career start, finishing with a team-high 15 tackles, with Leon Joe adding 14 for a Maryland defense that allowed the Huskies just 59 yards rushing.

Tallahassee, Fla.
Sept. 6, 2003

#10 FLORIDA STATE 35
MARYLAND 10

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Maryland took a 10-0 lead in the opening five minutes, but 10 ranked Florida State reeled off 35 unanswered points to earn a victory over the Terrapins Maryland's Atlantic Coast Conference opener played before 82,885 at Doak Campbell Stadiu

Seminole quarterback Chris Rix passed for a pair of touchdowns, while senior tailback Gr Jones added two other scores on the ground. Jones finished the game with 88 yards on carries for FSU.

D'Qwell Jackson started the scoring for the Terps by making the most of his first care interception. He picked off a pass from Rix and went 58 yards for a touchdown, runni through Rix and Lorenzo Booker on the way to the end zone just 1:54 into the game.

On the next drive, the Terps turned a long punt return from Steve Suter into a 44-yard fie goal from Nick Novak that gave Maryland a 10-0 lead in the opening 4:54

Florida State came back to score on its next possession.

Rix, who completed 16 of 29 passes for 228 yards, had his first TD pass on 18-yarder Craphonso Thorpe midway through the first quarter. Jones' first touchdown run, a 44-ya scamper, came early in the second quarter and gave the Seminoles their first lead of the game at 14-10. Jones dived in from the 1-yard line with 5:38 left in the second quarter to give Florida State a 21-10 halftime lead.

Both defenses stiffened early in the third quarter, as Maryland kept the Seminoles within reach. On their second possession after halftime, Maryland drove into FSU territory, but had to punt. From there, Florida State went on an 80-yard, 11-play drive that was capped by a 34-yard scoring pass from Rix to P.K. Sam, putting the Seminoles ahead 28-10.

FSU finished the scoring on a 2-yard plunge by Willie Reid that was set up by a Terrapin turnover.

Orlando Evans came off the bench to complete 7 of 12 passes for 57yards for the Terps, who got four catches from Jo Jo Walker. Bruce Perry returned from an injury suffered during fall camp, gaining 32 yards rushing and five more on a reception in his first start of the season.

MARYLAND 61
THE CITADEL 0

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Maryland got its struggling offense going early and often, starting vith Josh Allen's 72-yard touchdown run on the first play from scrimmage and Maryland went n to score its biggest win since 49 years in a victory over The Citadel before a sellout crowd for ne Terrapins' home opener at Byrd Stadium.

Allen finished with 136 yards on only 11 carries, including 119 yards on eight rushes in the rst quarter. It was Maryland's first 100-yard rushing effort of the season, and Allen had his entury mark in the opening four minutes of the game.

Sammy Maldonado followed with a 7-yard scoring run on the Terps' next possession, as Maryland cored on its first nine possessions, not including a 75-yard punt return for a score by Steve Suter. he first of two scoring runs by Maldonado came after a 12-play, 99-yard scoring drive.

Suter followed the score with his first punt return TD of the year, following the four he had a ear ago. Nick Novak closed the first-quarter scoring with a 31-yard field goal, his first of four on he day and running a string of successful kicks to 7-for-7 field goals and 6-for-6 in extra-point kicks.

Maldonado went over from three yards out to open the scoring in the second quarter for the erps. Novak followed with field oals of 38 and 21 yards before IcBrien dived over from the 1-ard line on the final play of the rst half and Maryland went to he locker room with a 44-0 alftime lead and holding a 21-edge in first downs.

Meanwhile, the Maryland efense was well on its way to shutout, holding the Bulldogs o just 41 yards in total offense n the first half. Quarterback Villie Simmons was 2-for-11 assing for 18 yards in the first vo quarters, and The Citadel nded the game having ompleted only three passes.

The Terps, who needed to unt only once in the game, ot three scores in the second alf, as Maryland rested its arters after halftime. Novak ad his final field goal of the ontest before reserve uarterback Orlando Evans hit ernck Fenner with a 62-yard ouchdown pass.

Mario Merrills finished the oring with a 4-yard run in the nal quarter.

Maryland's lopsided win was s largest since a 74-13 rout of lissouri in 1954. The Terps ored more points in the first uarter than they had in the st two games of 2003.

MARYLAND 34
WEST VIRGINIA 7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Maryland dominated the first three quarters offensively and defensively, scoring 34 straight points before allowing a late West Virginia touchdown, in beating the Mountaineers before a sellout crowd at Byrd Stadium.

The Terrapins outgained the Mountaineers, 498-156, and held a 28-11 edge in first downs in controlling both sides of the ball. Maryland had 260 yards on the ground, getting a balanced rushing attack with four different ballcarriers gaining at least 47 yards.

Sammy Maldonado finished with 88 yards, Bruce Perry gained 79 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns, Josh Allen had 54 yards and a score, while quarterback Scott McBrien finished with 47 yards rushing. McBrien also had 220 yards through the air, including his first touchdown pass of the season with a 25-yard strike to Latrez Harrison early in the fourth quarter.

Maryland took the opening kickoff and went 14 plays before a drive stalled. Nick Novak missed a 52-yard field goal attempt, his first missed kick of the season.

The Terps held West Virginia to a three-and-out to set up a 52-yard, five-play scoring drive that ended with a 4-yard TD run by Perry.

WVU picked up one first down on its next possession, but was forced to punt. Maryland then made it 10-0 on a 41-yard field goal by Novak. The Terps' next two possessions ended in a 2-yard scoring run by Allen and a 32-yard field goal by Novak with six seconds left in the first half.

By halftime, Maryland held a 279-58 edge in total offense, and held the ball for 19:46 over the first two quarters.

Maryland scored on its second series of the third quarter, as Perry went in from 12 yards out to make it 27-0. Just 1:15 into the final quarter, the score improved to 34-0 on McBrien's pass to Harrison.

West Virginia, which got 71 yards rushing and 13 yards receiving from Quincy Wilson, averted the shutout when Kay-Jay Harrison scored on a 13-yard run with 4:02 left in the game. The score capped a six-play, 50-yard drive. The Mountaineers had 78 of their 156 yards of total offense in the fourth quarter.

MARYLAND 37
EASTERN MICHIGAN 13

YPSILANTI, Mich. — Maryland senior quarterback Scott McBrien had his best throwing day of the season thus far, throwing for 252 yards on 14-for-19 passing with one touchdown through the air and another on the ground to lead the Terrapins to a dominating second half and a victory at Eastern Michigan at Rynearson Stadium.

McBrien was 8-for-9 for 148 yards in the second half alone, as Maryland scored the game's final 21 points to break out from the 16-13 edge it held early in the third quarter. He found Danny Melendez on a 14-yard scoring pass midway through the final period, and scored on his own with a 9-yard run on the first play of the fourth quarter.

The Terrapins also stiffened on defense after halftime, allowing the homestanding Eagles to just three points and three first downs in the second half.

Domonique Foxworth got Maryland on the board early. On third down on the Eagles' first possession of the game, Foxworth intercepted a sideline pattern and went 44 yards for a touchdown, Maryland's second interception for a TD this season (D'Qwell Jackson vs. Florida State). Two series later, EMU got a 42-yard field goal from Andrew Wellock to pull within 6-3.

Josh Allen scored the first of his two touchdowns on the day late in the second quarter, capping a 13-play, 70-yard drive. But after EMU recovered a fumble on a punt return, the hosts converted the turnover into an 8-yard scoring pass from Chinedu Okoro to Kevin Zureki with 23 seconds left.

Latrez Harrison gave the Terps good field position with a 31-yard kick return and McBrien found Steve Suter on a 45-yard pass to set up a Nick Novak field goal with two seconds left in the half, sending Maryland into the break with a 16-10 lead.

Eastern took the second-half kickoff 64 yards in nine plays to set up a 25-yard field goal by Wellock. But Maryland responded, using 11 plays to go 83 yards, a drive capped by an 8-yard touchdown run by Allen.

The Terrapins scored on each of their next two possessions to put the game away, as McBrien ran and passed for touchdowns after the next two drives.

Allen finished with 71 yards and a pair of touchdowns on 18 carries, while Suter finished with four catches for the Terps.

Anthony Sherrill became the first opposing running back to hit the century mark against Maryland, as he rushed 28 times for 117 yards.

CLEMSON 7

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Scott McBrien threw three touchdown passes and the Maryland defense held Clemson scoreless in the second half as the Terrapins won their first Atlantic Coast Conference game of the year with a victory over the Tigers before the third straight sellout crowd at Byrd Stadium.

McBrien threw touchdown passes to Steve Suter, Rich Parson and Derrick Fenner as the Terrapins won their fourth straight game and snapped a three-game Tiger win streak.

Clemson took the opening kickoff and drove 49 yards to the Maryland 31, before missing a 48-yard field goal into a stiff wind. The Terps took advantage on their first possession of the game, using 12 plays to go 68 yards to set up a 25-yard scoring pass from McBrien to Suter with 5:41 left in the first quarter.

Maryland's next possession was set up on a short Tiger punt, and the Terps used the short field to their advantage. McBrien ended a 44-yard drive with a 10-yard scoring pass to Parson on a fade pattern, giving the hosts a 14-0 lead just three plays into the second period.

Clemson got on the scoreboard late in the first half when Charlie Whitehurst hit Derrick Hamilton on a 70-yard scoring pass with 2:33 left before halftime.

The Whitehurst-to-Hamilton hookup would work often through the game, with Hamilton finishing with 175 yards on seven catches. Whitehurst completed 22 of 45 passes for 320 yards but was picked off twice and sacked six times by a Maryland defense that allowed just 10 net yards rushing to the Tigers.

Both defenses stiffened early in the second half before Maryland picked up its biggest play of the season to date. McBrien hit Derrick Fenner along the right sideline on a 69-yard bomb that made it 21-7 with 2:43 remaining.

Clemson drove to the Maryland 25-yard line on its next possession, but failed to convert a fourth-and-1. Clemson's next two possessions ended with interceptions, as Madieu Williams and Leon Joe picked off Whitehurst passes. Joe's pick came as the Tigers had advanced to the Terrapins' 24-yard line.

Josh Allen led the Maryland running game with 65 yards on 16 carries, while Latrez Harrison had four catches for 39 yards. McBrien finished with 204 yards passing on a 14-for-27 day.

The game marked the first time in Byrd Stadium history that Maryland had drawn more than 50,000 in three consecutive home games.

DUKE 20

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Maryland rolled to a 27-0 lead through three quarters before Duke staged a comeback bid as the Terrapins won their fifth straight game of the season in a victory over the Blue Devils before the fourth consecutive crowd of more than 50,000 fans at Byrd Stadium.

Through three quarters, the Terrapins took advantage of good field position set up by a defense that held the Blue Devils to 201 yards prior to the fourth quarter. Duke scored three times in the final period, though, including a pair of rushing touchdowns by Alex Wade, gaining 212 yards in the final 15 minutes alone.

Maryland got four field goals from Nick Novak, including a 54-yarder in the first quarter that tied a school record for the longest successful field goal. Novak also hit from 34, early in the second quarter, and helped the Terps hold off the Blue Devils' fourth-quarter comeback bid with kicks of 31 and 48 yards.

Scott McBrien threw for 238 yards and a touchdown, completing 18 of 32 passes. Two of those completions were for 49 yards and 15 yards to Latrez Harrison, accounting for the only two plays on a scoring drive late in the second quarter that gave the Terps at 13-0 halftime lead.

Maryland took the opening drive of the second half to the Duke end zone, going 80 yards in eight plays to set up an 18-yard touchdown run by Bruce Perry less than three minutes into the third quarter.

The Terps went ahead 27-0 late in the quarter when Sammy Maldonado went over from five yards out, allowing Maryland to dash in on a Blue Devil fumble on the 10-yard line.

Novak's two field goals were sandwiched between Duke's touchdowns by Wade.

D'Qwell Jackson had 12 tackles, Leon Joe finished with nine, while Randy Starks had nine tackles, including three for loss, 1.5 quarterback sacks, three quarterback hurries, a pass breakup and a forced fumble.

The Maryland defense was on the field a great deal in the game, as Duke ran 92 plays and held the ball for more than 36 minutes over the contest.

GEORGIA TECH 7
MARYLAND 3

ATLANTA, Ga. — Georgia Tech used one of Maryland's four turnovers to set up an early touchdown in the fourth quarter and held on for a victory over the Terrapins in an ACC game played before 51,524 at Bobby Dodd Stadium.

The game, played on national television as part of ESPN's Thursday Night Football schedule, jumbled the league's standings and placed six teams in the middle of the pack with a pair of conference losses.

Following a Terrapin fumble, Tech got the ball on the Maryland 18-yard line late in the third quarter. The Yellow Jackets needed five plays to get into the end zone to erase a 3-0 deficit, scoring when Reggie Ball hit Jonathan Smith with a 4-yard scoring pass in the back of the end zone.

Maryland had gone ahead late in the third quarter on a 35-yard field goal by Nick Novak. The play capped a 12-play, 62-yard drive engineered by redshirt freshman quarterback Joel Statham, who replaced starter Scott McBrien after the senior suffered a concussion in the second quarter.

Seeing his first significant playing time as a Terrapin, Statham finished by hitting 10 of 22 passes for 110 yards, but suffered three sacks and an interception by a Yellow Jacket defense that applied tremendous pressure.

Georgia Tech iced the game with a long drive in the fourth quarter. The Yellow Jackets took 7:08 off the clock on a 12-play drive that began on their own 4-yard line after an outstanding punt by Maryland freshman Adam Podlesh.

The Maryland defense was outstanding in the game, led by Leon Joe (14 tackles), D'Qwell Jackson (13) and Randy Starks (nine). The Terps limited Georgia Tech to just 228 yards in total offense in the game and forcing nine punts.

Bruce Perry, making his second start of the season for Maryland, had a strong performance with 75 yards rushing on 17 carries. Steve Suter led the Terps with four catches for 60 yards and added 91 yards on punt and kick returns.

McBrien had 47 yards on 4-for-11 passing before leaving the game with 2:17 left in the first half.

NORTH CAROLINA 21

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — With five minutes remaining in the first half, Maryland and North Carolina were tied. When Maryland went to the locker room at halftime, the Terrapins used a lightning strike over those last five minutes to take a 45-21 lead into the break.

The Terps used that streak to go on to capture a Homecoming victory over the Tar Heels before a sellout crowd of 51,195, the fifth time in as many games Maryland had played before 50,000 or more this season at Byrd Stadium.

Senior quarterback Scott McBrien threw for four touchdowns and ran for two others in the victory. McBrien, who played three quarters, finished with a career-high 349 yards passing on a 15-for-25 day. Two of his touchdown throws went to Latrez Harrison, while he also found Josh Allen on a 43-yard TD pass and Jo Jo Walker on a 67-yard scoring strike.

Maryland's 39 points in the second quarter set an Atlantic Coast Conference record. The Terps rolled up 612 yards in total offense, including 259 on the ground.

North Carolina led 7-3 when Nick Novak hit his second field goal of the first quarter. UNC's Mike Mason took the ensuing kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown, giving the Tar Heels a 14-6 lead, despite having run only nine plays and holding the football less than four minutes.

Maryland responded when McBrien scored on a 6-yard run, then found Steve Suter for a two-point conversion to tie. But UNC quarterback Darian Durant hit Chad Scott on a 52-yard scoring pass and the 'Heels recaptured the lead at 21-14 with 9:13 left in the second quarter.

From that point, the Terps scored the final 45 points of the contest. Maryland scored on its first nine possessions of the game and 10 of its first 11. The Terps turned two UNC turnovers late in the second quarter into points, aiding in the 39-point outburst in the period.

Defensively, Maryland blanked the potent Tar Heels over the final 2-1/2 quarters, led by eight-tackle days from Domonique Foxworth and D'Qwell Jackson.

Bruce Perry had his top game of the season in leading the Terrapin rushing game, finishing the first half with 96 yards on 17 carries before leaving the game with an injury at halftime.

VIRGINIA 17

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — On a night when driving winds made the running game critical, important, Maryland sophomore Josh Allen had a career night.

Allen ran for 257 yards, the third-best single-game rushing total in Maryland football histor scoring a pair of touchdowns and leading the Terrapins to a victory over Virginia in a Thursday nig game nationally televised by ESPN.

With sustained winds of more than 25 mph and gusts to 40 mph, each team's running game w crucial. Allen carried 38 times for his 257 yards, including an 80-yard touchdown run in the middle the second quarter.

He had 154 yards by halftime, but also had 86 important yards in the final period that allowe Maryland to hold off a strong comeback bid by the Cavaliers. The Terrapins held the ball for nearly minutes in the fourth quarter, keeping the ball out of the hands of Virginia quarterback Matt Schau the reigning ACC Offensive Player of the Year.

Schaub finished with 186 yards and one TD pass on a 13-for-26 night. The Cavs managed ju over 100 yards rushing, with 56 yards from Wali Lundy and 53 from Alvin Pearman.

On the opening coin toss, Virginia elected to take the wind. Despite the strategy, Maryland to its opening drive 84 yards in 11 plays, setting up an 11-yard scoring pass from Scott McBrien to Latr Harrison to allow Maryland to score first for the 10th time this season.

Early in the second quarter, a 41-yard pass from McBrien to Jafar Williams set up a 1-yard scoring run by Allen, capping a six-play, 61-yard drive.

Virginia got on the board on its next possession, with Schaub diving over from the 4-yard line to complete an 80-yard drive.

On the next play from scrimmage, however, Allen scampered 80 yards for a score that put the Terps ahead 21-7. Nick Novak had a 33-yard field goal with 32 seconds left to send Maryland to halftime with a 24-7 edge.

Virginia scored the game's next 10 points, getting a third-quarter score on a pass from Schaub to Pearman. A 43-yard field goal into the wind from Connor Hughes brought the Cavs within seven points with 9:15 left.

But Maryland used a 10-play, 45-yard drive that took 5:33 to set up a 45-yard field goal by Novak that extended the Terps' edge back to 10 points.

The Terp defense forced a three-and-out on the Cavs' next possession, including a sack by Randy Starks, who finished with eight tackles, including three for losses. Virginia never got the ball again.

MARYLAND 41
WAKE FOREST 28

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Bruce Perry made the most of his final Atlantic Coast Conference contest, as well as his final trip to Groves Stadium by rushing for 237 yards and three touchdowns, bringing Maryland to a comeback win for the second time in as many weeks.

Maryland, which earlier in the week had accepted an invitation to play in the 2004 Toyota Gator Bowl, clinched sole possession of second place with the victory.

Perry, who had rushed for more than 200 yards in a game at Wake Forest as a sophomore, scored all three of his touchdowns in the second half. In fact, coupled with a touchdown pass from Scott Mc8rien to Jafar Williams, Perry's scoring runs helped Maryland score 28 points in a span of 6:46 late in the third quarter and early in the fourth that erased a 21-13 halftime deficit.

Perry and Demon Deacon sophomore Chris Barclay (243 yards on 28 carries) each went over the 200-yard mark on the ground, marking the first time in ACC history and only the fifth time in NCAA Division I action that opposing rushers gained 200 yards in the same contest.

The Terrapins trailed 21-6 after a 5-yard run by Barclay with 4:21 left in the second half. McBrien, who threw three touchdown passes, hit Dan Melendez on a 14-yarder to bring the Terps within eight points at halftime.

Late in the third quarter, Perry capped an 87-yard drive that took only three plays by going the final 49 yards with 2:56 left. McBrien hooked up with Rich Parson for 31 yards to aid that drive.

On Wake's second play of the next drive, Madieu Williams got an interception for Maryland. McBrien hit Jafar Williams on a 28-yard pass and Maryland had its first lead at 28-21.

Barclay broke loose for a 74-yard scoring run on the next play from scrimmage to tie the game.

But Perry answered on the Terps' next play, going 80 yards to put Maryland on top again.

The Terrapins' defense got a three-and-out on the next series and Curtis Williams gave Maryland a short field when he blocked the Deacs' punt. McBrien took the Terps 28 yards in seven plays to set up Perry's 2-yard score for the game's final points.

Madieu Williams finished with 13 tackles to lead the Maryland defense. McBrien finished with 198 yards passing on a 12-for-22 day.

#20 WEST VIRGINIA 7

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. - Scott McBrien threw for a career-high 381 yards to help No. 23 Maryland to a 41-7 victory over No. 20 West Virginia in the Gator Bowl, a rematch of a regular-season game that was almost as lopsided.

Playing against the team he left in 2001, McBrien threw for three scores and ran for another. His teammate, Steve Suter, returned a punt for a touchdown and made a highlight-reel catch to help the once-downtrodden Terrapins (10-3) reach 10 wins for the third straight year under coach Ralph Friedgen.

Only Texas, Oklahoma, Miami and Washington State can boast a similar three-year stretch.

Counting the 34-7 win in the regular season, the Terps have defeated the Mountaineers four times over the last three years by an average score of 35-13.

Suter, a junior playing with a bum knee that needs surgery, made the highlight plays for Maryland.

Early in the second quarter, he fielded a punt at his 24 and went the length of the field, barely touched by only one Mountaineer, for a score and a 17-0 lead. It added to his 80-yard punt return for a score last season against West Virginia in a 48-17 win.

In the third quarter, Suter jumped with Mountaineers cornerback Lance Frazier for a long pass down the sideline that Frazier batted into the air, only to watch it fall to the receiver at the West Virginia 7. Three plays later, McBrien ran in for a 31-0 lead.

The senior quarterback finished 21-for-33, a great closing act for the native of Rockville, Md., who transferred from West Virginia to Maryland. McBrien finished 21-6 as a starter for the Terps and 3-0 against the Mountaineers.

McBrien's favorite target was backup receiver Jafar Williams, a senior who came in with 10 catches for one score all season, but made four catches for two TDs in his final game.

Rasheed Marshall finished 10-for-16 passing for 87 yards. Kay-Jay Wilson finished with 49 yards on 12 runs.

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

John Swofford, ACC Commissioner

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 52nd year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 91 national champion-ships, including 47 in women's competition and 44 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 116 times in men's competition and 57 times in women's action.

The conference had an immediate impact on the national college football scene in the fall of 1953 when the University of Maryland captured the first of what would eventually be five national football titles for the ACC. Clemson laid claim to the league's second national title in 1981 while Georgia Tech followed suit in 1990. Florida State pocketed national titles No. 4 and 5 in 1994 and 1999, respectively.

In addition, one of the league's two new members - Miami - has laid claim to five national gridiron titles over the past 21 seasons. Four of the Hurricanes' five national titles (1983, 1987, 1989, 2001) were unanimous with both the sportswriters and coaches polls in agreement, while in 1991 Miami (AP) shared the national title with Washington (coaches).

The 11 institutions that take to the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 474 first or second team gridiron All-Americans and 68 first team academic All-Americans. The current 11 ACC schools have had 1,911 players selected in the annual professional football draft, including 173 first-round selections. A year ago, the nine ACC member institutions had 160 former players on NFL rosters during the regular season or playoffs.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC over the years has proved itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The ACC is the nation's winningest bowl conference as the 11 current league teams are a combined 119-106-5 (.528) in postseason play.

Following its 5-1 bowl mark in 2003, the ACC is the only conference to have a winning bowl record in each of the past three seasons. Over the past three years, the ACC is 13-6 in postseason play and has the best bowl winning percentage (.684) among all BCS conferences.

In 2003, the ACC set an NCAA record when seven of its nine teams (78%) received bowl bids.

Georgia Tech is the winningest bowl team in Division I-A history. Following its 52-10 win over Tulsa in last year's Humanitarian Bowl, the Yellow Jackets are 21-11 (.656), while USC (.642) is second.

For the first time in league history, ACC schools surpassed the 3,000,000 mark in total attendance in 2003 and for the fourth straight year, the league set new single season records in attendance. In 58 home games during the 2003 season, ACC teams drew 3,006,841 fans, breaking the existing record of 2,944,936 set during the 2002 season.

2003-04 in Review

The 2003-04 academic year concluded with the league pocketing three more national team titles and —— individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 48 national team titles over the last 14 years.

The ACC's 2003-04 national champions were Wake Forest in field hockey, North Carolina in women's soccer and Virginia in women's lacrosse. Overall, 66 ACC teams took part in postseason play compiling a 101-66-4 (.596) record.

A total of 169 student-athletes from the ACC earned first, second or third-team All-America honors this past year. In addition, the ACC produced nine national Players of the Year, two national Rookies of the Year and three national Coach of the Year recipients.

The ACC placed at least one team in the top 10 nationally in 17 sports. In all, 31 ACC teams finished their season with a top 10 ranking.

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on M 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., w seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, No Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wa Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southe Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 19 during the Southern Conference's annual spring meetin On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Ralei N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the na became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Suggestions from fans for the name of the new c ference appeared in the region's newspapers prior to t meeting in Raleigh. Some Conference's annual spri meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met Raleigh, Tobacco, Blue-Gray, Piedmont, Southern Sev and the Shoreline.

Duke's Eddie Cameron recommended that the nam of the conference be the Atlantic Coast Conference, a the motion was passed unanimously. The meeting co cluded with each member institution assessed $200.00 pay for conference expenses.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met aga at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of V ginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and onl withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 3 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was a mitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Sout eastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 199 with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami an Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On C tober 17, 2004, Boston College accepted an invitation become the league's 12th member starting with the 200 06 academic year.

2004 BOWL GAME HIGHLIGHTS

2004 Bowl Game Info

- College bowls will pay out $187 million this coming season.
- Bowl games paid out more than $820 million in the past five years alone and will pay out at least $2 billion over the next decade.
- Bowls drew a Record Total Attendance of 1.45 million fans in 2003-04
- The combined TV audience for the 28 bowls was an average of 117 million households and 17 games saw an increase in TV viewership.
- Average attendance at Bowls in existence at least five years has increased 3.3% over that period. The same for Bowl's that have been around at least ten years (9.3% increase) or twenty years (14.1% increase). On average these games are more popular than ever.
- Of the 20 current bowls that have been played at least five years stadiums, were filled to 95.2% of capacity and 13 bowls were at least 99% filled.
- College bowls generate $1.1 billion in annual economic impact (excluding exposure)
- 26 Communities hosting 28 bowl games provide stability and commitment one promoter/sponsor could not
- 56 teams, or 48% of Division I-A programs will have a chance to be a part of the college football postseason bowl experience compared to approximately 20% in other NCAA sports (Div. I-AA football 13%; men's & women's basketball 20%; etc.)

Bowl Games Provide Revenue...

- This year 28 bowl games will distribute more than $187 million to NCAA schools. More than $820 million has been paid out in just the past five years, and the bowls will conservatively pay out more than $2.1 billion over the next ten years.
- Almost all bowl games are non-profit organizations. The more revenue the bowl brings in through ticket sales, sponsors, etc. the more money can be paid to NCAA schools.
- While it is true that some teams in conferences that don't send multiple teams to bowls don't receive as much revenue, that is a key reason additional bowls have been added recently — to provide more opportunities for those conference members and increase their revenue. Indeed some bowls have been setup with the help of conferences to provide all the other benefits of a bowl.

Bowl Games Are Tradition...

- Bowl games have been a part of college foot for 90 years. They have provided some of the gr est moments in college football history and add the pageantry, color and excitement of the gai Bowl games are as much a part of the tradition college football as any other aspect of the game
- While there has been an increase in the numb of bowl games, half of the bowls have been arou for at least 15 years and 12 of these have been existence for 25 or more years.
- The addition of bowl games has provided opportunities for more schools to participate the Abowl experience. That means more student athletes, coaches, cheerleaders, band me bers, halftime performers, administrators, alumni, college football fans and communities c be a part of this unforgettable experience. College football bowl games offer these peo memories that can last a lifetime. This season about 5,600 student-athletes, 11,000 ba members, 1,100 cheerleaders, 50,000 - 100,000 performers and millions of fans and com nity members were a part of this experience.

Rules for Selecting BCS Bowl Teams

As participating members of the BCS, the four BCS Bowls (Fiesta, Orange, Rose and Sugar) will host specific conference champions in the years the national championship game is not played at their site. Regional consideration tie-ins include: the ACC or Big East champion in the Orange Bowl, the SEC champion in the Sugar Bowl, the Big Ten and the Pac-10 champions in the Rose Bowl and the Big 12 champion in the Fiesta Bowl.

Should a BCS Bowl's regional tie-in champion be ranked number one or two in the final BCS standings, when such bowl is not hosting the national championship game, the number one or two-ranked team shall move to the national championship game and the Bowl shall select a replacement team from the BCS pool of eligible teams. The pool will consist of any Division I-A team that is ranked among the Top 12 in the final BCS standings and has achieved nine wins during the regular season excluding NCAA-exempted contests.

BCS At-Large Guidelines

* Notre Dame (or any independent) is guaranteed a spot if it finishes in the top six of the final BCS standings. The Fighting Irish are not in a conference.
* The third-place team in the final BCS standings is guaranteed an at-large spot.
* If the third-place team is not an at-large choice and a spot still remains open, then it goes to the fourth-place team.
* If there's still an open spot, any of the top 12 teams in the final BCS standings can be invited as long as it has the required nine victories.

BCS Schedule

2004/05 Bowl Season
Jan. 1, 2005 - Rose Bowl
Jan. 1, 2005 - Fiesta Bowl
Jan. 2, 2005 - Sugar Bowl
Jan. 4, 2005 - Orange Bowl*

-National Championship Game

• Bowl games bring a measure of importance to the regular season not seen in other sports. The numerous upsets of November 2001 were a great example of this. Had all those teams being playing for was seeding for a playoff, the outcomes would not have meant as much and the interest and excitement, likewise, would have not been as feverish.

• No other intercollegiate sport plays as few regular season games as football and every game means something, conference championships mean something

• 86 (out of 117) different Division IA schools have participated in at least one bowl game in the past six seasons. A total of 56 schools, or 48 percent, will be a part of the postseason bowl experience this season and 28 teams will finish their season as a Abowl champion. This compares to approximately 20 percent that are selected in NCAA Championships in other sports (I-AA Football – 13 percent; Baseball – 22 percent, Men's & Women's Basketball – 20 percent; etc.)

Bowl Games Are Popular...

• Total attendance increased this past year as a record of more than 1.45 million fans attended 28 bowl games. The average capacity-filled of the bowl stadiums was 89%. Fifteen bowls were at least 90% filled. Thirteen bowls were at least 99% filled.

• Average attendance was up 3.2% this past year. Of the 20 current bowls that have been played at least five years, attendance was up and stadium capacity was at 95.2%. Newer bowls don't have the benefit of years of building a local base of support.

• The combined TV audience for the 28 bowls was an average of 117 million households and 17 games saw increases in TV viewer-ship.

Bowls Benefit Communities...

• Bowls benefit not only NCAA institutions but local causes and charities. Many bowls contribute in excess of $100,000 annually to charitable causes and host camps for disadvantaged youth. A small sample of charities benefiting include the Boys & Girls Clubs, numerous hospitals, YMCA, local education programs through elementary and high schools, college scholarship programs, the United Way, Make a Wish Foundation and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation Bowls Provide New & Unique Experiences...

• Players take part in many diverse experiences and see many sights during their bowl trips.

• Players at the Holiday Bowl have lunch and tour an aircraft carrier. Imagine the insight these players have today as they watch these same men fight for freedom in Iraq. Players visit the Alamo in San Antonio, tour historic Alcatraz in San Francisco, Disney theme parks in Orlando, go snowmobiling in Boise, experience a luau and visit Pearl Harbor in Hawaii, and much more.

The Terps will take charter flights on Delta to three road trips in 2004, beginning with their trip to Duke in September and continuing with Clemson on Oct. 23 and at Virginia Tech at Nov. 18 on Thusday night.

Terps fans travel around the country to follow the team. Rich Parson (22) and Steve Suter showed their love for the fans by jumping into the stands after the Gator Bowl victory.

All-Time 1953 National Champs HISTORY

YEAR-BY-YEAR RESULTS

Game-by-game results for every Maryland football season since 1892. Maryland was known as Maryland Agricultural College from 1892-1915, and as Maryland State College from 1916-1919. Maryland's conference affiliations: Atlantic Coast Conference since 1953, Southern Conference from 1921-51 (SC standings not available from 1921-32) and South Atlantic Intercollegiate Athletic Association in 1920.

Home games were played at Byrd Field or "Old" Byrd Stadium, across the street from the campus on Baltimore Ave., from 1923-1947 and again in 1949. Home games in 1948 were played at Griffith Stadium in Washington, D.C. Home games since 1950 have been played at Byrd Stadium on campus.

Home, road and neutral records are in parentheses (H, A, N). Maryland and opponent Associated Press rankings are in brackets – AP polls began in 1936. From 1961-1967, the Associated Press ranked only the nation's top 10 teams.

MARYLAND 20 GEORGIA 20

In front of the first capacity crowd in Gator Bowl history, 16,666, Maryland's Lu Gambino was a one-man wrecking crew, rushing for 165 yards and scoring three touchdowns. Gambino's three scores propelled Maryland to a 20-7 lead, but Georgia reeled off 13 points in the fourth quarter to tie the game. The Bulldogs threatened to win the game in the closing seconds, but time ran out with Georgia on Maryland's four-yard line. Despite the tie, there was no question as to the game's most valuable player. Gambino won the Burkhalter Award, signifying the game's outstanding performer. Gambino was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame in 1992.

Three times in the first half Missouri turned the ball over, and al three times Maryland scored a touchdown as the Terrapins de feated the Tigers, 20-7, to earn their first-ever postseason vic tory. The Terrapin running attack, led by Bob Shemonski and Ed Modzelewski, amassed 266 rushing yards, the second-mos by a Maryland bowl team. Maryland defensive back John Idzi set up Maryland's first score with a 26-yard interception return to the Tiger 11-yard line. Shemonski scored on a sweep on the next play for the go-ahead touchdown. Shemonski scored again on a six-yard run late in the second quarter to put the Terps up 20-0.

MARYLAND 28 TENNESSEE 13

In what may have been perhaps the biggest win in Maryland football history, the Terps upset No. 1-ranked and regular season national champion Tennessee, 28-13, in the 1952 Sugar Bowl. The Terps were led by running back Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski (153 yards on 28 carries) and the brilliant play of running back/defensive back Ed Fullerton who scored two touchdowns and threw for another. The Terps put the game out of reach in the third quarter with a 46-yard interception for a touchdown by Fullerton, giving the Terps a 28-6 lead. Maryland finished the season with an overall record of 10-0-0 and a No. 3 national ranking.

OKLAHOMA 7 MARYLAND 0

This was the first game of the contract that pitted the Big Eight Conference champion against the Atlantic Coast Conference champion. The Terrapins took an undefeated season and the nation's No. 1 ranking into the game against an Oklahoma squad that used a powerful running attack to grind out a second quarter touchdown to propel the Sooners to a 7-0 win. Twice the Terps had first down opportunities with the ball inside the 10-yard line and failed to come away with any points. Despite the narrow loss, the Terrapins claimed the 1953 national championship.

The third-ranked Terps came into the Orange Bowl riding a 15-game winning streak, only to have it snapped by an Oklahoma team that extended its winning streak to 30 games with its 20-6 win. The Terps, who led 6-0 at halftime, were stunned when the Sooners went into their famous "fast break offense" and reeled off two third quarter touchdowns to earn the national championship. Ed Vereb, who scored the Terps' lone touchdown, finished with 108 rushing yards. Maryland was hurt by five turnovers.

GEORGIA 17 MARYLAND 16

Maryland came away from its first bowl game in 18 years a bitterly disappointed team. The Terrapins dominated Georgia in all phases, but the game was tied 10-10 at the half thanks to a couple of big plays by the Bulldogs. In the third quarter, a costly Terp fumble led to Georgia's go-ahead touchdown. Seven times the Terrapins were inside the Georgia 20-yard line, coming away with only nine points. The Terps' lone touchdown came via Walter White's 68-yard touchdown reception.

TENNESSEE 7 MARYLAND 3

The Maryland defense, led by All-ACC defensive tackle Randy White, shut out Tennessee for nearly four quarters but lost the game when the Volunteers' quarterback, Randy Wallace, found Larry Seivers for an 11-yard touchdown pass with 2:08 to play. The Terps were punting from their own 13 when a bad snap from the center was recovered by the Volunteers on the Maryland seven-yard line. Maryland had a chance to win the game but an apparent 20-yard touchdown pass was ruled out of bounds.

MARYLAND 13 FLORIDA 0

The ACC champion Terrapins headed into the 1975 Gator Bowl as a seven-point underdog to the Florida Gators. However, this did not deter the Terps, who were coming off their best season (8-2-1) in 20 years. Maryland shut out the Gators, 13-0, in front of a large pro-Florida crowd in a steady downpour. The Maryland defense held the SEC's total offense leader scoreless and intercepted two Florida passes which led to the first 10 Maryland points. This was the first Terp win over an SEC team since 1955.

The Maryland Terrapins were truly the comeback team of 1984. Maryland trailed Tennessee 21-0 at halftime and erupted for a Terrapin bowl record 22 points in the third quarter. Frank Reich's third-quarter touchdown pass to Ferrell Edmunds put the Terps up 22-21, but the ensuing kickoff was returned for a touchdown by the Volunteers to give them a 27-22 lead. Then with 0:03 left to play, the Terps' offense pounded out a 5:05 drive that was capped by a one-yard scoring run by Rick Badanjek for the game-winning touchdown.

The Terps posted their first bowl win since 1985 with a dominating performance over the Tennessee Volunteers. QB Scott McBrien ran for a pair of touchdowns, Nick Novak booted three field goals, All-America linebacker E.J. Henderson registered 12 solo tackles, and cornerback Curome Cox returned an interception for a touchdown to highlight Maryland's performance. The Terps never trailed in the game, taking their opening possession in for a touchdown on a one-yard run by McBrien and taking a 17-3 lead into intermission. It was the most lopsided bowl loss in UT history.

The Tatum system was clicking by the third season under the new coach. Maryland scored more points than in any previous season in its history – 266 to its opponents' 81. Jim Tatum and a collection of new players lifted Maryland to its first ranking in the AP poll. Newcomers such as Ed Modzelewski, Bob Ward, Bob Shemonski and junior All-America tackle Ray Krouse were instrumental in leading the Terrapins to eight decisive regular season victories, losing only to No. 13 Michigan State, 14-7. The Terps plowed through the opposition, and after beating No. 15 Boston U. by a 14-13 count, earned the No. 15 poll position themselves. Maryland ended the regular season with a 13-0 shutout at Miami. The Terps earned their first bowl victory with a 20-7 rout of Missouri in the Gator Bowl.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE CO-CHAMPIONS

Maryland completed its only undefeated season in history and clobbered top-ranked and heavily favored Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl to lay its own claim to a national crown. Led by All-America tackles Bob Ward and Ray Krouse, brothers Ed and Dick Modzelewski, and QB Jack Scarbath, Maryland accepted a Sugar Bowl invitation against the recommendation of Southern Conference presidents who sought for all league institutions to boycott the bowls. The Terps were decided underdogs against No. 1 Tennessee, but Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski's 153 rushing yards and a 28-13 victory prompted Tennessee coach Bob Neyland to state, "We were soundly beaten by a superior team."

POSTSEASON HISTORY

Entering the season ranked No. 3 in the nation, the Terps began the 1954 campaign in convincing style, shutting out Kentucky 24-0 in their season opener. But the Terps stumbled in their next game, losing a close 12-7 decision to fourth-ranked UCLA. That dropped Maryland to No. 13 in the polls heading into its ACC matchup vs. Wake Forest. A 13-13 tie with the Demon Deacons sent the Terps tumbling out of the national rankings for the first time since 1950. Maryland rebounded to shut out North Carolina 33-0 before dropping a 9-7 road decision to Miami. The Terps went on to win their final five games by a combined score of 200-33, including a 74-13 Thanksgiving Day shellacking of Missouri. Maryland finished the season with a No. 8 national ranking.

unior quarterback Boomer Esiason led the Terrapins and first-year head oach Bobby Ross to a seven-game midseason win streak which earned laryland its first national ranking in two seasons. After early season losses No. 7 Penn State and No. 17 West Virginia, Maryland scored points at ill while rolling through its ACC schedule. The Terrapins' 31-point aver-ge was second only to its undefeated season of 1951, and Ross was amed the national coach of the year by the Washington Touchdown lub. A 31-24 win at No. 10 North Carolina put Maryland back in the inkings, and another shootout with Clemson would determine the ACC hampion. No. 16 Maryland was invited to the inaugural Aloha Bowl in onolulu where it surrendered a last-second touchdown to No. 9 Wash-ngton, losing 21-20.

ACC CHAMPIONS

Maryland pocketed the championship for the second year in a row and earned its fifth outright crown over the past 11 seasons. The title was not decided until the season's final weekend when the Terps knocked off Virginia, 45-34, for the league crown. Maryland, trailing Miami 31-0 at the half on Nov. 10, rallied for 42 second-half points to beat the No. 6 Hurricanes, 42-40, setting a record for the greatest comeback in NCAA Division I-A football history. The Terps, taking part in their third straight bowl game, defeated Tennessee in the Sun Bowl, 28-27.

After starting its season 0-2, Maryland finished the season by winning 10 of its last 11 games for the second year in a row. In doing so, the Terrapins became the first team in Atlantic Coast Conference history to win 10 games after starting 0-2. The Terps finished 2003 10-3, winning the Toyota Gator Bowl by a resounding 41-7 margin over regional rival West Virginia, a team they had beaten once already earlier in the season. Scott McBrien was named the game's MVP after posting a career performance (21-33, 381 yards, 3 TDs, 0 int, 2 rush TD) against his former school. Ralph Friedgen's 31 wins in three years marked the seventh-most in NCAA history by a third-year coach and most-ever by an ACC coach. Ten players were named first or second team All-ACC, most by any team in the league.

BYRD STADIUM

Byrd Stadium, which celebrated its 50th birthday during the 2000 season, has been home to national championship football and men's and women's lacrosse teams, and to more than 50 ACC track and field champions. It hosted the Queen of England at a football game, and was the stage where the greatest high hurdler in history, Renaldo Nehemiah, performed his amazing feats. It also has been a regular site for the NCAA men's lacrosse Final Four, where several attendance records have been shattered.

Byrd Stadium — it's the first-class home of the Maryland Terrapins.

Situated at the foot of the campus' North Hill, the stadium is named for Dr. H.C. Byrd, a multi-sport athlete as an undergraduate who later became head football coach and eventually served as university president. His vision gave University of Maryland preeminence among Eastern campus sports facilities for decades and the impetus for the Terrapins to win more ACC championships than any league school.

Since opening on Sept. 30, 1950, when Maryland defeated Navy 35-21 in the dedication game before a school-record crowd of 43,386 fans, Byrd has undergone a number of major facelifts, three of which occurred in the 1990s and have resulted in its present form. The first came shortly after the 1990 home season, when the Tyser Tower press box — a fantastic five-tier, 90-foot high, 160-foot long structure — was built on the stadium's south rim. Tyser Tower accommodates 300 exterior luxury seats, a hospitality suite with theater-style seating, a spacious working press area, television and radio booths, and a photo deck.

In 1991, construction was completed on a beautiful new football complex — since named the Gossett Football Team House — just beyond the east end zone. This $7 million building houses football coaching offices and meeting areas, academic computer lab, locker rooms, weight facility, and a medical support area. A bronze Terrapin sits in front of the team house, its installation coming in 1992 as part of the celebration of the 100th year of football at the university. Following the 1994 campaign, Byrd's seating capacity increased by more than 12,000 to its current level of 48,055 when a massive upper deck was added on the stadium's north side. The cost for the latest renovation exceeded $45 million. With the addition of temporary seating—which took place in 2001 and 2002—the stadium's capacity expanded to house over 51,500 fans.

The refurbishing of Byrd included new restrooms, bleachers and the stadium's first formal entranceway off of Field House Drive. The Gossett Football Team House, Tyser Tower, concession stands, restrooms and stadium portals, designed by H.O.K. Architects of Kansas City, are enclosed in sand-molded brick that matches the Williamsburg-style brick used on most of Maryland's 335 buildings. The brick gives the contemporary architecture a timeless veneer and unity with the university's traditional Georgian look.

'yser Tower, shown here from the south, features a pacious press box and a hospitality suite with heater-style seating.

Byrd Highlights

1950 Byrd Stadium is constructed at a cost of $1 million. The original capacity was 34,680, but could be boosted to more than 50,000 with temporary bleachers around the rim of the stadium.

1953 Byrd is home to the national champion Terrapin football team.

1955 In a game billed as the "Best of the East" vs. the""Best of the West," Maryland defeated No. 1-ranked UCLA 7-0. Historians called that game one of the greatest of the decade.

1957 Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Phillip visited while former Terp head coach Jim Tatum returned to the scene of his greatest coaching triumphs. The Terps went on to upset North Carolina in what then- head coach Tommy Mont later called his finest moment as coach.

1974 The legendary Bear Bryant returned to College Park with his third-ranked Alabama Crimson Tide on Sept. 14. Temporary bleachers were installed for only the second time in stadium history to accommodate 54,412 fans, then the largest crowd ever at Byrd. Later in the season, on Oct. 11, the then-second-largest crowd (49,647) in Byrd history watched the 15th-ranked Terps defeat 17th-ranked NC State 20-10.

1975 The Byrd Stadium attendance record of 58,973 was set when 14th-ranked Maryland hosted ninth-ranked Penn State.

1983 Byrd Stadium played host to its second-largest crowd, 54,715, as the 17th-ranked Terps met No. 20 West Virginia.

1985 The Terps, ranked No. 1 in the preseason by Sport magazine, set the all-time school home attendance record, averaging 49,385 for five home games.

1990 Construction began following the last home football game of the season on what was the first major athletic construction on campus in 35 years. The Byrd Stadium refurbishment was the first of its kind to be done without the supervision of Curley Byrd.

1994 Following the end of the football season, renovations continued with the addition of an upper deck.

1995 Seating capacity is 48,055 — an increase of 12,000 — following the completion of the upper deck on the stadium's north side.

ATTENDANCE RECORDS

Season attendance records for home and overall since 1950. Byrd Stadium opened Sept. 30, 1950 before 43,386 fans. Total attendance includes bowl games.

TERPS IN THE HALL OF FAME

JERRY CLAIBORNE

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1999)

Former Maryland football coach Jerry Claiborne was selected to join 12 legendary college football players and two other coaches among the 1999 class of inductees into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame.

Claiborne coached 28 seasons overall between stints at Virginia Tech (1961-70), Maryland (1972- 81) and Kentucky (1982-89), and compiled a 179-122-8 record in the process.

At Maryland, Claiborne was named The Sporting News National Coach of the Year in 1974 after winning the Atlantic Coast Conference and finishing the season ranked No. 13 by the Associated Press. He was the District III Coach of the Year in 1973, 1975 and 1976.

In all, Claiborne was the coach of the year in three different conferences – Southern (1963), ACC (1973, '75, '76) and Southeastern (1983) – while leading his teams to 11 bowl games. Throughout his coaching career, he was a strong advocate of the right combination of academics and athletics. In his years as head coach, he had four players named Academic All-America and 87 players earn academic all-conference honors. On the field, he coached 13 All-Americans and 53 who earned all-conference status.

DICK MODZELEWSKI

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1993)

Through three All-America years at Maryland and 14 All-Pro years in the National Football League, Dick Modzelewski was always "Little Mo." At 6-0, 235 pounds during his playing days at Maryland, he was one of the bigger collegiate linemen during the early 1950s. He was the second Mo at Maryland, following his older brother Ed, "Big Mo."

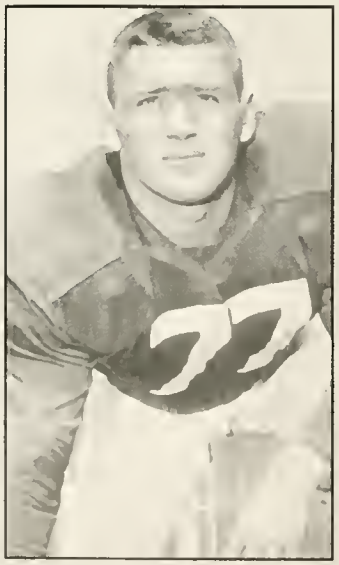
Dick Modzelewski played three years at defensive tackle for the Terps on the great teams which were 24-4-1. He became Maryland's first winner of a major national honor when he received the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman in 1952. Through his career at Maryland, the Terps fashioned a 22-game unbeaten streak.

At the end of his senior season, Modzelewski was named to every All-America team. He was a second-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins. He spent 14 seasons in the NFL, with the Redskins, the Pittsburgh Steelers, the New York Giants and Cleveland Browns. Modzelewski was an All-Pro and on NFL championship teams with both the Giants (1956) and the Browns (1964).

Dick Modzelewski was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1993.

STAN JONES

Pro Football Hall of Fame (1991) National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (2000)



Stan Jones was the starting right tackle on the Terp defense that allowed only 31 points during 10 regular season games in 1953. With Jones leading the way, Maryland recorded six shutouts and allowed only one team, Georgia, to score more than six points.

It all added up to a 10-0 regular-season for the Terps, who captured the national championship despite an upset loss to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Jones earned consensus All-America honors in 1953 and was chosen "Outstanding College Lineman of 1953" by the College Football Coaching Board. A fifth-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears, Jones went on to have a lengthy pro career. He spent a majority of his career with the Bears (1954-65) before finishing at Washington (1966).

"I was very prepared for the NFL when I left Maryland," Jones said. "From my coaches who taught me football to my professors who taught me anatomy, physiology and weight training, I received a great education. I couldn't have picked a better place to go."

Jones was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1991 and selected for the College Football Hall of Fame in 2000.

BOB PELLEGRINI

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1996)

Bob Pellegrini was recruited to Maryland as a quarterback, but made his name as one of college football's best linemen. In his first season, Pellegrini was a 6-2, 215-pound sophomore guard for the 1953 national champion Terrapins. He would play guard again in 1954 in an era when players went both ways, before switching to center for his senior year to fill a Terrapin void.

As a senior, Pellegrini led Maryland to its second 10-0 regular season and ACC championship in three years as the Terps defeated defending national champion UCLA. He was selected ACC Player of the Year, named consensus All-American and pictured as Herman Hickman's cover boy for Lineman of the Year in 1955.

Pellegrini led the Terps to a 27-4-1 record over his career, with rankings in the Top 10 each season. He was the first pick in the National Football League draft by the Philadelphia Eagles. Pellegrini became one of the building blocks of an Eagle turnaround that took the team to the top of the football world. A losing team when he joined, the Eagles defeated Vince Lombardi's Green Bay Packers for the World Championship four years later with Bob Pellegrini at linebacker.

Pellegrini was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in December 1996.

JACK SCARBATH

Jack Scarbath is an integral part of Maryland football history. In his first start, the All-America quarterback scored the first touchdown in the new Byrd Stadium, a 21-yard run in the first game of the 1950 season.

Scarbath was the quarterback for head coach Jim Tatum's new split T offense for three seasons (1950-52). Scarbath led the Terps to a 24-4-1 record, including a perfect 10-0 season and a 28-13 upset of national champion Tennessee in the 1951 Sugar Bowl. Scarbath called the signals during Maryland's 22-game unbeaten streak over the course of the 1950, '51 and '52 seasons.

During his stellar career, Scarbath rewrote the Terrapin record book, completing 125 of 260 passes for 2,287 yards, an average of 18.3 yards per completion. In 1951, AP and UPI voters named him honorable mention All-American. In 1952, he was honored with first team All-America citations from AP, UPI, International News Service, Colliers, and Look. He finished runner-up to Oklahoma's Billy Vessels in the 1952 Heisman Trophy balloting.

A first-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins, Scarbath went on to play with the Redskins and Pittsburgh Steelers.

He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1983.

BOB WARD

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1980)

Bob Ward weighed all of 165 pounds throughout his four-year playing career at Maryland and, even in the early 1950s, that was no size for a lineman. Especially a lineman who was a first team All-America middle guard on defense as a junior in 1950 and a first team offensive guard as a senior in 1951.

The forte of the Maryland teams of the early 1950s was consistency—a winning consistency. During Ward's four years, the team was a combined 32-7-1, winning two bowl games (1949 Gator over Missouri, 1951 Sugar over Tennessee to complete a perfect 10-0 season).

The awards and honors Ward earned as a Maryland player belie physical stature, but speak volumes about the man. He was the MVP of the 1949 Gator Bowl, Maryland's first bowl victory. He was the only player ever to earn All-America honors as both an offensive and defensive position player. He earned Southern Conference Player of the Year honors as a senior and was chosen Lineman of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club and the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association in 1951.

Bob Ward was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1980.

JIM TATUM

National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1984)

In a brief time as a college football head coach – one season at North Carolina (1942, 5-2-2), one at Oklahoma (1946, 8-3, Gator Bowl victory over North Carolina State) and nine years at Maryland (1947-55, 73-15-4, 2-2-1 in bowl games) – Jim Tatum had become a coaching legend.

Tatum's Maryland teams from 1950-55 were 51-8-2, with a perfect 10-0 record and Sugar Bowl victory in 1951. The squad posted 10-0 regular-season records in 1953 and 1955 before both teams were upset by Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. Tatum's 1953 team was declared national champion, and Tatum was named national Coach of the Year.

During his career at Maryland, Tatum led the Terps to 19 consecutive wins and an unbeaten streak of 22 games (21-0-1) during the 1950, '51 and '52 campaigns. In the 1952 Sugar Bowl, the Terrapins defeated top-ranked Tennessee 23-13.

Tatum left Maryland following the 1955 season to return to his alma mater, North Carolina. He coached the Tar Heels for three more seasons.

RANDY WHITE

Pro Football Hall of Fame (1994) National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame (1994)

Randy White changed the look of football's defensive lines. At Maryland, and later in an All-Pro National Football League career with the Dallas Cowboys, he was regarded as the quickest defensive lineman to play the game. He could be in an opponent's backfield before a quarterback could make a hand-off.

In 1974, White cleaned up the college football awards plate. He was honored with the Outland and Lombardi trophies as the top collegiate lineman, was ACC Player of the Year, was an unanimous first-team All-America choice, named the Delaware (his home state) Athlete of the Year and named the Amateur Athlete of the Year by the Philadelphia Sportswriters Association.

A first round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys, White was an All-Pro performer throughout his career and shared Super Bowl MVP honors with Dallas teammate Harvey Martin when the Cowboys defeated Denver in Super Bowl XII.

White's jersey number, 94, has been retired at Maryland. He was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1994

LeFRAK SCHOLARSHIP

The Samuel J. and Ethel LeFrak Foundation donated $1 million in 2003 to establish the Samuel J. LeFrak Scholars Fund at the University of Maryland.

The gift will fund annual LeFrak Scholars in the sports of men's basketball, football and men's track. Beginning in 2004-05, the three LeFrak scholarships will be awarded annually, concurrently and in perpetuity to three student-athletes who exhibit extraordinary athletic ability, leadership and academic achievement.

Nick Novak

Men's basketball player Nik Caner-Medley was the first-ever recipient of the LeFrak Scholarship at Maryland for the 2003-04 season.

Placekicker Nick Novak was named the first winner from the football team.

Prior to his death in April 2003, Samuel J. LeFrak, a 1940 graduate of the University of Maryland and one of its most distinguished alumni, was chairman of the Lefrak Organization, one of the world's largest private development companies. The firm's accomplishments include building Lefrak City, a community of apartments, stores and office buildings in Queens, N.Y. and creating and developing Battery Park City in New York City, as well as New[illegible] billion mixed-use community in New Jersey on 600 acres overlooking the H[illegible]

While a student at Maryland, LeFrak was a varsity track letterman, president of the Latch Key Honor Society, and an officer of his class and of Tau Epsilon Phi.

"In keeping with Dr. LeFrak's dedicated support of the university for more than 60 years, the foundation is happy to sustain his wishes to help the school in its many endeavors to maintain high scholastic and athletic standards," said Deborah Dolan, director of the LeFrak Foundation.

Said athletics director Deborah A. Yow, "The LeFrak scholar-athletes will serve as role models to young people across the country. We are very grateful for the generosity of Dr. and Mrs. LeFrak."

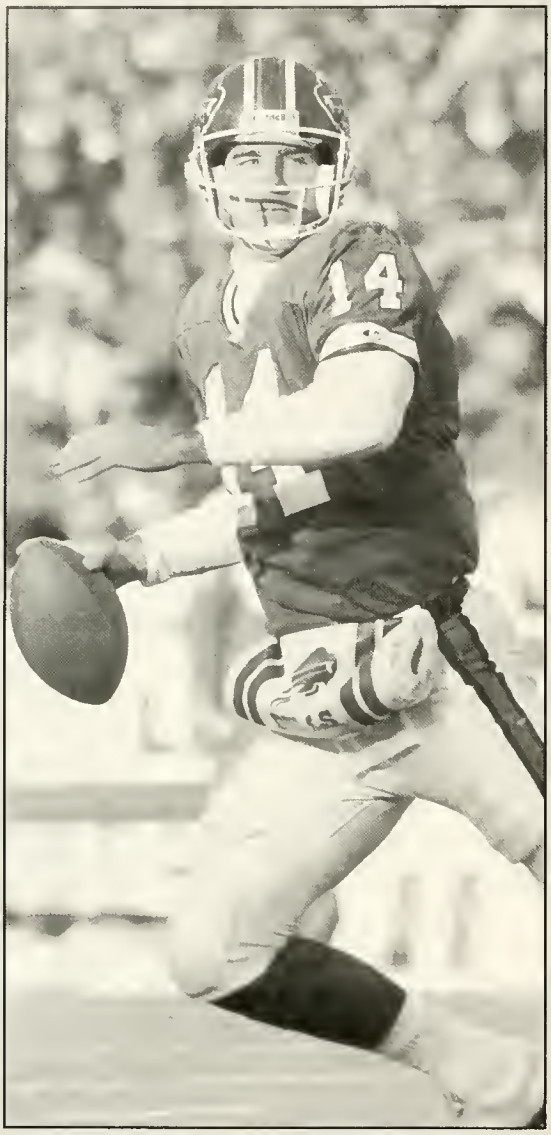
FRANK REICH: THE KING OF COMEBACKS



Reich led the Bills back from a 35-3 third-quarter deficit.

When it comes to engineering record-setting comeback victories, no one has done it better than Maryland's Frank Reich, who was at the controls for the greatest comebacks in NCAA and NFL history.

Reich's first encounter with greatness occurred as a senior in 1984, when he came off the bench to lead the Terps to what then ranked as the biggest comeback in NCAA history. Down 31-0 at halftime to the defending national champion Miami Hurricanes, head coach Bobby Ross inserted Reich into the lineup in place of Stan Gelbaugh, and Reich proceeded to complete 12 of 16 passes for 260 yards and three touchdowns in propelling the Terps to a 42-40 victory in the Orange Bowl.

Eight years later, on Jan. 3, 1993, Reich met destiny again as he led the Buffalo Bills to the greatest comeback in pro football annals. As in the Miami game in 1984, Reich came off the bench and performed his heroics against a top-notch opponent. This time the foe was the Houston Oilers, who appeared on their way to an easy playoff win by building a 35-3 lead early in the second half.

Reich, however, wasn't deterred. Filling in for the injured Jim Kelly, he demonstrated grace under fire by throwing for a career-high 289 yards and four touchdowns as the Bills went on to win 41-38 in overtime.

Reich led Maryland to victory after trailing 31-0 at the half.

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Thirteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest-rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality. The average high school GPA of entering students has zoomed from 3.01 to nearly 3.90, and the average SATs are now more than 1270. The student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 67 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, exceeding $350 million last year. Private giving also has increased, and the university last year concluded its first campaign by topping its $350 million goal by more than $100 million. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, Fall 2002 enrollment was 25,240 undergraduate and 9,561 graduate students. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library and White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their unique interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high-technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clance Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

Did You Know?

In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 67 programs ranked among the nation's elite, and the university is ranked 18th nationally among public universities.

A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.

Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university fourth nationally in bachelor's degrees earned by African-American students at traditionally white schools. Maryland ranks first in African-American undergraduate degrees in social sciences and history.

The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 16 among the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 8 in information technology, No. 6 in faculty research and No. 7 in entrepreneurship.

In the only undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report–business and engineering–both the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 18) and A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 24) were ranked among the top 25. The university also ranked in the top 25 for its learning communities (3rd), first-year experience (12th) and service learning programs (24th).

An economic impact study conducted by the economists with the Jacob France Center, an applied economics analysis center at the University of Baltimore, concluded that the University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, for a total statewide effect of nearly $1.8 billion.

Nobel Laureate William Phillips joined the university's physics faculty and is establishing a world-class atomic, molecular and optical physics group on campus. The Philip Merrill College of Journalism now has five Pulitzer Prize winners on its faculty. A sixth faculty member, Eugene Roberts, directed the Philadelphia Inquirer to multiple Pulitzer's as managing editor.

MORE, BETTER STUDENTS GO TO MARYLAND

There is no place better to be than the University of Maryland. As university President C.D. Mote Jr. noted in a recent Baltimore Sun front-page story, "This place is clearly on a tear."

With top-ranked academic programs (67 in the top 25, according to U.S. News and World Report), an honors program that competes with the Ivy League for top students, a prize-winning faculty (topped by a Nobel and six Pulitzers, among others), a highly diverse population, and a beautiful 1,580-acre campus located between the cultural and population centers of Washington, D.C., and Baltimore, Md., it's little wonder that more of Maryland's top high school graduates choose the University of Maryland over all other Maryland colleges, public and private, combined.

In the latest U.S. News and World Report rankings, Maryland was 18th nationally among all public universities. The colleges of engineering, education, computer, mathematical and physical sciences, and information sciences are all ranked in the top 25 nationally. So are many of the individual programs in those schools and others, including criminology, journalism, public relations, counseling and others. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has been ranked among the top business schools in the world by the Wall Street Journal and the Financial Times of London.

More than 40 percent of all entering freshmen at Maryland are now enrolled in high-achieving programs like the Honors Program, Honors Humanities, College Park Scholars, Gemstone and a growing roster of living-learning communities where students with common interests in such topics as civil society and entrepreneurship can live and study together. With their wide variety of subject areas and top faculty from throughout the university, these programs compete for students with the best public and private universities in the country.

Supporting the research needs of students and faculty are some of the country's best research facilities. In 1994, the largest, most technically advanced research archives in the world — National Archives II — moved to College Park. In addition, just outside of College Park are the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution and the National Libraries of Agriculture and Medicine, among others. The university itself has the most comprehensive library system in the area.

PRESIDENT C.D. MOTE JR.

University President
Seventh Year

As the 19th president of the University of Maryland, C. D. "Dan" Mote Jr. has presided since 1998 over a university that is claiming a well-earned position in the top echelon of research universities in the nation. An internationally-respected researcher and member of the National Academy of Engineering, Dr. Mote is Glenn L. Martin Institute Professor of Engineering. He serves on the Technology Council of Maryland, is co-chair of the Potomac Conference of the Greater Washington Board of Trade and heads its Technology Transfer Committee.

Under President Mote's leadership, Maryland has received national and international notice for innovative undergraduate education opportunities, high-impact research and academic programs, outstanding performing arts, and athletes and athletic teams competitive with the best in the nation.

"The future of the state depends on this university," says Mote. "It is the State of Maryland's most important asset." As president, Dan Mote has been determined to make that asset even greater by nourishing a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, strengthening the university's connections with its various stakeholders, building partnerships with State and national corporations and federal agencies and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere. The university's progress can be seen in all areas, from its nationally-ranked programs to its success in building external partnerships to its state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, the quality of Maryland's programs and reputation has climbed steadily. In 2003, the University of Maryland moved up to 17th place among public universities in U.S. News & World Report rankings, up from 30th in 1998. We currently have 44 graduate and undergraduate programs and units ranked in the top 15 by U.S. News & World Report, up from 5 in 1995.

While our academic successes have spread across the board, the university has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, environmental policy, education and journalism. Maryland is one of only 10 public and private universities that have their programs in computer science, mathematics, physics, and engineering each ranked in the top 20. Our College of Education is ranked in the top 20 nationally and 5 of its programs are in the top 10.

Faculty Stature

Dr. Mote believes a university's quality is built by its faculty, and under his leadership, Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. The university recruited a Nobel Laureate in Physics in 2001 and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty). More than 30 of our faculty are members of the national academies, the highest professional recognition attainable.

This past year alone, the university was among the top institutions in the nation in the number of awards flowing to our faculty: three faculty members were elected to the National Academy of Engineering; three were elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences; 10 received National Science Foundation Early Career Awards, and 6 received National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships, more than any other institution in the nation.

Among our faculty members are the lead scientist on NASA's Project Deep Impact, which will shoot a rocket into the heart of a comet, one of the most sought-after experts on the Middle-East, the writer and two-time Emmy winner of the script for the Discovery Channel's "Walking with the Cavemen"; and the brilliant young geneticist whose research into the evolution of DNA from early Africa earned her a place among "Popular Scientist's" "Brilliant Ten," its list of the top ten up and coming scientists in the nation.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2003 was 3.9, while the average SAT score was over 1250.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. Our extremely popular living-learning programs, which bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting, were ranked 3rd in the country in the latest U.S News & World Report. In the last academic year, over 6,000 students enrolled in such enriched curricula programs as Gemstone, College Park Scholars, and the Hinman CEO Entrepreneurship Program, sponsored jointly by the Schools of Engineering and Business and widely hailed as the most successful student entrepreneurship program in the nation.

Business Partnerships

The university's reputation for excellence and entrepreneurship attracts new partners to the state. A key drawing card to bring major players into the state is the University of Maryland Enterprise Campus, "M Square," a 128-acre research park located near the College Park Metro. Tenants include a new global weather prediction center for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the headquarters of the Center for the Advanced Study of Languages, a joint partnership between the University and the Department of Defense.

A future tenant with extraordinary promise for economic enrichment is China, which is moving rapidly to become engaged in the global economy and seeking links to Western industry. The Ministry of Science and Technology of the People's Republic of China has established its first overseas research park in Maryland in partnership with the University. The Ministry sees this partnership as an opportunity to introduce China's emerging entrepreneurs to Western business practices and establish contacts with the state's businesses and to serve as a base for China's technology entrée to the U.S.

In order to fulfill its role as the state's most important asset, President Mote has emphasized that the university must be engaged with the business community in substantial and meaningful ways. In recent years, Maryland has assisted hundreds of Maryland businesses through its Technology Extension Program and Maryland Industrial Partnerships program, and incubated some of the state's most successful biotech firms, including Martek and Digene, in its Technology Advancement Program.

World-Class Facilities

During Mote's second year in office, the university began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities.

Highlights of the construction activity on the campus include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, the Comcast Center; new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering, new residence halls; extensive renovations to the Adele Stamp Student Union, and new parking structures.

President Mote also led the development of a new campus facilities master plan that focused on first class facilities and stresses environmental stewardship. In April 2003, the university was recognized by the Environmental Protection Agency and the National Wildlife Foundation for environmental achievements, including the environmentally friendly master plan and the creation of a cogeneration power system that will significantly reduce energy consumption.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in the 2002 NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America. "That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in football, basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

DEBORAH A. YOW

Athletics Director

11th Year at the helm of Maryland Athletics

Deborah A. Yow is in the 11th year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a tenure that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about steady and continued improvement. In Yow's 10 years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships and graduated its student-athletes at an enviable rate as Maryland athletics has soared to sustained new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics three years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration. Yow was selected to serve on the U.S. Department of Education's Commission on Opportunities in Athletics to review the status of Federal Title IX regulations. She has served as the chair of the Atlantic Coast Conference Committee on Television for 2003 through 2004. The committee, comprised of the ACC's athletics directors, is charged with overseeing the league's TV contracts and dealing with issues related to television. Yow led the committee during the recent, very successful renegotiation of comprehensive, multiyear ACC football and basketball contracts with ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and syndication entities. Additionally, she has represented intercollegiate athletics with presentations in a number of prominent settings such as the Harvard University School of Law conference on "Shaping the Future of Collegiate Athletics" and the Street and Smith Sports Business Journal national forum on the direction of intercollegiate athletics. She was also recently inducted into the State of Maryland Women's Hall of Fame.

Yow, who has served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America.

Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all 10 of the department's annual budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $42 million annually and the sizable prior accumulated operating debt has been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent for student athletes at Maryland
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the top six percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased over 350 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by over 300 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 27 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area of Maryland athletics.

Yow joined head coach Ralph Friedgen and president Dan Mote in celebrating the Terps' 2004 Gator Bowl championship.

• Selected by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).

• In football, won the 2002 Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl, followed this with an 11-win season and a 30-3 victory over the University of Tennessee in the Peach Bowl, followed by a 10-win season and a 41-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day 2004. Maryland is one of only five NCAA Division I football teams to have won 10 or more games in the each of the past three seasons.

• In men's basketball, the Terps won the Atlantic Coast Conference over Duke in the Championship Game in 2004 and won the NCAA National Championship in 2002.

• In 2003-04, 12 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play. This placed Maryland in the Top 25 programs in the nation in the prestigious USSA Directors Cup rankings.

Additionally, Maryland is one of only six universities to win a National Championship in both basketball and football (UCLA, Michigan, Michigan State, Syracuse, Ohio State and Maryland).

• Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach. In her second season at the helm, in 2003-04, her team drew 13,250 to a regular-season game and advanced to the NCAA Tournament.

• Hired Dave Cottle, the third-winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S., who guided his team to the NCAA Final Four in his second year.

• Field Hockey played for the National Championship in 2001 and continues to be a Final Four team.

• Women's Lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001 with additional Final Four appearances.

• Enhancing football facilities significantly with team house, stadium and practice field upgrades.

• Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center, housing athletic department offices and seating for 18,000 fans for basketball and other events.

• The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past 10 years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools... to work hard and work smart...to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being highly organized and a strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Reflecting on the status of the Terrapin football program, Maryland's Director of Athletics points out, "Our 2001 ACC Championship and three consecutive major bowls are an important part of our emergence as a preeminent national football program. Our football coaches care greatly about their players and their welfare. They emphasize the importance of going to class, being good students and getting their college degree. Parents of our football players understand that these young men are in good hands with this wonderful staff of coaches. Our young men in Terrapin football have a full range of support in training, academics and career guidance from our coaches and staff of caring specialists. We are winning in the classroom and on the football field."

Summing up the entire athletics program, our athletics director recently stated, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the M Club members who serve and give liberally. We are also blessed with a terrific President, Dr. Dan Mote, who has fostered a mindset of excellence across our institution. He is a strong and balanced advocate for what he calls the three A's of the University —— Academics, the Arts and Athletics. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success... and the basis for our bright future. It's a great time to be a Terp."

Kathleen WORTHINGTON

Executive Senior Associate Athletics Director

Sixth Year

Kathleen Worthington was named associate athletics director for internal operations in May 1999, and promoted to executive senior associate athletics director in September 2002. She came to Maryland from Morehead State University, where she had served as associate athletics director since February 1998 after spending two years as an assistant athletics director.

At Maryland, Worthington is responsible for supervision of the department's daily operations including all internal operations, academic support, media relations, facilities and events, personnel and compliance.

During her time at Morehead State, her primary focus was business operations, policy development, and strategic planning. Prior to Morehead State, Worthington spent two years as the assistant to the AD at the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

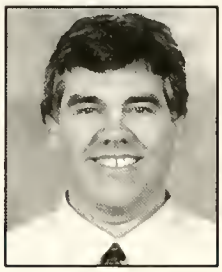
She earned her bachelor's degree in mass communications from the College of Notre Dame in Maryland in 1985. She earned a master's degree in public relations from Syracuse and a master's in athletics administration from Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

In April of 2004, Worthington was appointed a member of the NCAA Division I Academics, Eligibility and Compliance Cabinet. On July 1, 2004, she will begin a four-year term as member of this Cabinet. She was inducted into College of Notre Dame's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1997 and in 1999 was named an NCAA Leadership Fellow. In 1996, she earned the Graduate Student Achievement Award from University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

Joe HULL

Senior Associate Athletics Director/External Operations

Seventh Year



Joe Hull is in his seventh year at the University of Maryland following 12 years in various athletic fund-raising, ticketing and marketing capacities at North Carolina State University.

Hull was promoted to senior associate athletics director for external operations in June 2002 after serving in that role on an interim basis during the previous year. At Maryland, he oversees all fund-raising efforts for the Terrapins' athletic program. During his tenure, athletic fund-raising has increased by 500 percent. Hull also oversees the media relations and marketing offices in addition to the men's and women's tennis teams.

In addition, Hull serves as the project manager for the Comcast Center, the university's extraordinary new arena that opened in October 2002. His duties relevant to the arena process have included coordinating the efforts to find a naming gift, designing and managing a capital campaign to help fund arena construction, and working with the architects, construction manager and Maryland Stadium Authority to design and build the arena. Hull also serves as the athletic department's liaison for Phases II and III of the Gossett Football Team House expansion/renovation project.

Prior to his arrival in College Park, he was associate director of the NC State Student Aid Association (Wolfpack Club), which raises more than $7 million annually for athletic scholarships from its more than 14,000 members/contributors. The Wolfpack Club also was responsible for raising more than $50 million for the construction of a 20,000-seat sports arena through a campaign designed by Hull.

Hull earned his bachelor's degree in business management from North Carolina State University in 1978 and played four years of collegiate golf for the Wolfpack while earning ACC Honor Roll status. He also earned a law degree from Campbell University in 1981 and a master's in sports administration from Ohio University in 1985.

His wife, JoAnn, formerly served as an assistant attorney general for the state of North Carolina.

Senior Associate Athletics Director Business & Finance/ Chief Financial Officer

Third Year

Larry Leckonby was hired as the Chief Financial Officer for the Athletics Department in September 2002. As the department's CFO, he manages the athletic department's annual $41 million operating budget and long-range financial forecasting.

In addition, he is the sport supervisor for women's basketball and is responsible for coordinating departmental construction projects, which have included expansions to the Gossett Football Team House, new grass and field turf practice fields and the Field Hockey and Lacrosse Complex.

Leckonby came to Maryland after serving as the senior associate director of athletics at the University of Houston for five years. For Maryland, Leckonby oversees the business operations and advises on financing for facilities enhancements, while focusing on keeping the department fiscally solvent through creative revenue opportunities and various cost containment initiatives.

At Houston, Leckonby was appointed as the senior associate AD in January 1998, with responsibility for the daily administration of the department and specific areas of duty involving finance, planning, fund-raising and marketing. He also served as interim athletics director for six months in 2001 and 2002.

Prior to his arrival at Houston in January 1998, Leckonby served as the associate AD for business affairs at Boston College for four-and-a-half years (1993-98), and the assistant AD for finance and operations at Old Dominion University for five years (1988-93). He was the ticket manager and assistant business manager at Boston University from 1982 to 1988, after beginning his athletics business career at the University of Massachusetts (Amherst) where he was an administrative assistant to the business manager beginning in 1981. In addition, he has served as the assistant men's lacrosse coach at Duke University and the University of Massachusetts, as well as the head men's club lacrosse coach at Boston University.

A former lacrosse player at Duke University, he graduated with a bachelor's degree in management science in 1979. He earned a master's degree in sport management from Massachusetts in 1983. Leckonby is an active member of the College Athletic Business Managers Association. Besides serving on numerous finance and planning committees during his career, he also has helped direct several NCAA and conference championships including NCAA Baseball Super Regional events in 1999, 2000 and 2002. He also currently serves on the ACC Women's Basketball Committee.

He and his wife, Cris, have two daughters, Hunter and Katie, and a son, Liam, and reside in College Park.

Doug

Associate Athletics Director/Media Relations Second Year

Doug Dull returned to his alma mater in June 2003 to assume the duties of associate athletics director for media relations. Dull directs the media relations staff and coordinates communications and media relations functions for all 27 sports within the department.

Before coming to Maryland, Dull spent three years as the sports information director at Kansas State University, where he was primarily responsible for the nationally ranked football and track programs.

Prior to that, he was as assistant athletics director for media relations at the University of California, Davis, and at Chico State University in northern California. A member of the Football Writers Association of America and the Track and Field Writers Association of America, Dull is also active in the College Sports Information Directors of America, having served two terms on its national board of directors and currently serving as the 1,800-member organization's second vice president.

A native of Smithsburg, Md., Dull began his career as a sports writer and sports editor at the Herald-Mail newspapers in Hagerstown. He is the recipient of a number of writing and design awards both in the newspaper and collegiate sports information realms.

A 1981 graduate of the University of Maryland, he holds a bachelor's degree in individual studies with a concentration on sports administration.

Randy
EATON

Associate Athletics Director/Business Second Year

Randy Eaton was named Associate Athletics Director for Business in June 2003, after three years as the Associate Athletics Director for Facilities, Operations and Special Events at the University of Houston. Eaton is responsible for overseeing all aspects of the Terrapin athletics business office.

Eaton has over 15 years of experience in ticket office and business operations in collegiate athletics, having spent time at Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi, East Tennessee University, Ohio State and UT-San Antonio.

While at East Tennessee, Eaton served in various capacities as Athletic Business/Ticket Manager, Associate Athletic Director for Compliance, Associate Athletics Director for Business Operations and Interim Director of Athletics. He was in charge of all components of internal operations and was accountable for all departmental budgets and oversaw event management and event staff.

Eaton was also the Director of Ticket Operations for the Ohio Glory of the World League Football, where he supervised the front office staff and was responsible for all aspects of the team's ticket operations.

Eaton earned a BBA in business administration from UT-San Antonio in 1990 and a master's of arts degree in sports administration from Ohio State in 1992.

He and his wife, Jeannette, are parents of an 18-year-old daughter, Alex, who is a freshman at Maryland.

Shawn
FLYNN

Associate Athletics Director/Internal Operations Third Year

Shawn Flynn is in his third year as associate athletics director for internal operations and championships coordinator. He is responsible for overseeing men's lacrosse, men's soccer, women's soccer, men's and women's track and field men's and women's cross country, women's water polo and the men's and women's swimming programs.

Flynn came to Maryland in 1988 as a graduate assistant for Intramurals and Sports Clubs with Campus Recreation Services. In 1990 he was hired as the Campus Recreation Coordinator for Facilities and Sports Clubs. In that role he administered a 25-club Sport Club Program in addition to establishing a First-Aid/CPR program. In 1994 his responsibilities expanded when he was promoted to assistant director for facilities and sports clubs.

Two years later Flynn was promoted to associate director for facilities. He played an integral role in the development, opening and operation of two major facility initiatives, the Campus Recreation Center and Ritchie Coliseum. Flynn served as the department liaison with various campus departments and worked with university committees and working groups. Flynn was the event director for the 1999 and 2000 FINA United States Swimming World Cup.

In addition to his work at Campus Recreation Services, Flynn served as the site director for the Nationals Futures Tournament/Super Camp for the United States Field Hockey Association since 1996. He was also a member of the 2000 U.S. Swimming Olympic Trials event team and has assisted the Washington Regional 2012 Coalition.

Flynn earned his bachelor of arts degree in business/economics from the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown in 1988. He went on to earn a master's in kinesiology with a concentration in sport management from the University of Maryland in 1992.

Flynn and his wife Debbie have two children, Shane (9) and Matthew (5).

Dave
HAGLUND

Associate Athletics Director/Varsity Sports Seventh Year

Dave Haglund is in his seventh year on the University of Maryland athletic staff and his second as associate athletics director for varsity sports. He joined the University of Maryland athletic staff in January of 1998 following a 16-year career in the sports information office at Fresno State University.

In June 2003, after 5 1/2 years as the associate athletic director for media relations, he took over as associate athletic director for varsity sports and championships coordinator. Haglund is the sport supervisor for volleyball, baseball, men's golf, gymnastics, softball and competitive cheer in addition to overseeing the sports medicine and strength and conditioning units. In addition, he coordinates ACC and NCAA championship events hosted by the university.

A 1981 graduate of Oregon State University, Haglund began his sports information career as an assistant SID at Fresno State in 1981 and was elevated to sports information director in 1996. During the course of his career at Fresno State, he served as the primary contact person for the Bulldogs' Division I football, basketball, baseball and soccer programs. He also served as information director of the California Bowl (1982-83) for two years.

Haglund and his wife, Cindy, are the parents of two children: Samantha (11) and Matthew (8).

Cheryl
HARRISON

Associate Athletics Director/External Operations
Ninth Year

Cheryl Harrison, who has served in various fundraising positions since joining Maryland Athletics in June of 1996, is associate athletics director for external operations.

Harrison is responsible for overseeing units within development operations, including capital campaign and major gift fund raising, the M Club and the Walk of Fame and History.

Harrison came to Maryland in 1996 as the assistant director of major gifts. In July 1997 she was promoted to director of advancement projects and was again promoted in September 1999 to director of development for major gifts. She became the interim assistant AD for external operations in August 2001, and was named permanently to that position in July 2002. Since her arrival at Maryland, capital campaign gifts have increased by over 300 percent. Harrison planned and implemented campaigns to provide funding to capital projects including the Comcast Center and the expansion and renovation of the Gossett Football Team House. She managed day-to-day activities of the Building Partners Campaign for the Comcast Center that surpassed its $20 million goal. Harrison is the fund raising coordinator for the Fear the Turtle Campaign, the department's effort to raise $1.2 million in scholarship funds for the eight men's teams that do not have full scholarship funding. Harrison also supervises Terrapin Club travel and event arrangements for post-season games.

Prior to her arrival at Maryland, Harrison served as the director of alumni affairs at Winston-Salem State University for nine years.

Harrison graduated from Winston-Salem State University in 1982 with a bachelor of arts in business administration with a concentration in information systems

Michael
LIPITZ

Associate Athletics Director/Administration
Sixth Year

Michael Lipitz is in his sixth year with Maryland Athletics and was promoted to associate athletics director in June of 2003.

Lipitz works closely with the athletics director in managing the day-to-day operations of the athletics program. He supervises the marketing and licensing unit and serves as the department's liaison to Maryland's marketing rights holder, Terrapin Sports Marketing. He also oversees the Terps wrestling and women's golf programs.

Lipitz takes a lead role in numerous internal and external initiatives, such as the launch of FridgeTV.com, online ticket distribution for the Maryland student body and the athletic department's successful recertification via the second-cycle of the NCAA Division I Athletic Certification Self-Study. He also serves as the department's liaison to Dr. Charles Wellford, Faculty Athletics Representative, the Student-Athlete Advisory Council and other campus constituencies.

Lipitz graduated from the University of Maryland with a degree in government and politics and dual concentrations in English and political leadership. He was a four-year varsity starter and two-year co-captain on the men's tennis team.

Before returning to Maryland, Lipitz earned his law degree from Villanova Law School, where he debated for the moot court team and specialized in domestic relations.

Darryl
CONWAY

Assistant Athletics Director/Sports Medicine
First Year

Darryl Conway was hired in June 2004 as Maryland's assistant athletics director for sports medicine after spending three years as the head athletic trainer at the University of Central Florida. Conway will oversee all medical and athletic training operations for the Terrapins' 27 varsity athletic programs.

Conway, who has been an athletic trainer at both the collegiate and professional levels, comes to the Terrapins after serving as head athletic trainer at the University of Central Florida for three years. There he was the head trainer for the Golden Knight football squad, while supervising the assistant trainers, graduate assistants and student assistants who provide training coverage of Central Florida's 17 varsity sports. At UCF, Conway was responsible for overseeing the compilation and input of daily medical records, the computerized injury surveillance program and the NCAA injury surveillance system. He served as a clinical instructor/field experience supervisor for athletic training students, assisted in the development of marketing and fundraising projects for the sports medicine department and served as the site coordinator for the NCAA drug testing program at UCF.

Prior to his position at Central Florida, Conway served as the Director of Sports Medicine at the University of Northern Iowa, working as the head trainer for the Panthers' football and men's basketball teams from 1999 to 2001. He was the head athletic trainer at Morgan State University in Baltimore for one season and was an assistant trainer and professor at Delaware, his alma mater, for two years. From 1993 to 1996, Conway was an assistant trainer with the NFL's New York Jets.

Conway earned a bachelor's degree in physical education studies, magna cum laude, from the University of Delaware in 1993, before receiving a master's degree in physical education and a certificate in sports management from Adelphi University two years later.

Conway has taught numerous collegiate courses related to athletic training, has made numerous presentations and has co-authored several scholarly publications and book chapters. He has been a member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association (NATA) since 1989, and is also a member of the United States Weightlifting Federation.

Conway and his wife, Tracy, have a son, Michael.

Jonathan
EVANS

Assistant Athletics Director/Annual Fund
First Year

Jonathan Evans was named assistant athletics director for the annual fund in June 2004. Evans came to Maryland after serving as the Assistant Athletics Director for Development at Bucknell University since February 2003. He had also served as Assistant Athletics Director for Ticket Operations and Donor Relations and in several other capacities at the University of California, at Berkeley from 1998 to 2003.

Evans oversees the identification and solicitation of prospects to increase membership in the Terrapin Club from its current base of 8,000 members. He will also facilitate the annual charitable contributions from individuals and corporations to achieve annual fund goals.

While at Bucknell, Evans helped facilitate an increase in giving by 35 percent during his year-long stint. He solicited gifts for annual, capital and endowment purposes, worked with the Bison Club Board and served as a liaison between university relations and athletics.

Prior to his position at Bucknell, Evans spent five years at Cal, serving in several capacities that involved intercollegiate athletics development and ticket operations. While at Berkeley, Evans was part of a team that increased annual giving by 31 percent while completing a $36 million capital campaign.

Evans earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Humboldt State University in Arcata, Calif., before receiving a master's degree in sport management from Appalachian State University.

Evans and his wife, Madeline, reside in Crofton, Md.

GOFF

Assistant Athletics Director/Academic Support & Career Development First Year

Anton Goff was named assistant athletics director for the Terrapins' Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) in June 2004. Goff, who served as an ASCDU assistant director from 1998 to 2001, returned to Maryland after four years as the Associate Director of Student-Athlete Support Services at Michigan State.

Goff is responsible for leading the Terps' academic support unit in providing quality developmental programs and need-based services that enhance academic progress, facilitate career development and encourage the psychosocial growth of all student-athletes.

While at Michigan State, Goff served as the academic coordinator for the Spartan football team, where he was responsible for tracking the student-athletes' classroom efforts and monitoring progress toward their degrees in compliance with NCAA and Big Ten regulations. Goff was responsible for overseeing the tutoring programs and study table at MSU and coordinated a faculty/staff mentorship program. Goff supervised four full-time academic counselors/learning specialists, graduate students and several undergraduate tutors.

Prior to his tenure at MSU, Goff provided academic support for Maryland men's basketball, men's and women's track, men's and women's soccer and softball programs from 1998 to 2001. During his first stint in College Park, Goff was instrumental in the development of the Terrapin Student-Athlete Handbook and the implementation of educational programs concerning alcohol and drug abuse, academic integrity, gender violence and human diversity.

Goff earned a bachelor's degree in the administration of justice from Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond in 1991, before receiving a master's degree in the same discipline from VCU two years later.

Chris NATIONS

Assistant Athletics Director/ Facilities & Operations Second Year

Chris Nations was named the assistant athletics director for facilities in June 2003 after serving three years as the Director of Athletic Facilities & Operations at Arizona State University in Tempe, Ariz.

Nations is in charge of overseeing Maryland's vast athletic complexes, including Byrd Stadium and the Comcast Center, as well as fields for lacrosse and field hockey and football practice which opened in the fall of 2003. He also has responsibilities revolving around the expansion of the Gossett Team House and the renovation of the Varsity Team House.

Prior to his stint at Arizona State, Nations worked as the director of athletic facilities and operations at Santa Clara University in California from 1997-2000 and the assistant to the athletics director at Indiana State University from 1994-1997, while attending graduate school.

Nations and his wife, Wendi, reside in Annapolis, Md.

Greg

Assistant Athletics Director/Ticket Operations Sixth Year

Greg Schiller was promoted to assistant athletics director for ticket operations in January 2003, after working as the Terrapins' associate ticket manager since 1999. Schiller oversees all phases of advance and game-day ticket sales, and works closely with the athletic marketing office in the design of ticket sales campaigns, brochures and advertisements. He has also assisted in major hardware and software advancements in the ticket office within the past year. In addition, Schiller oversees the department's information technology unit.

Prior to joining the University of Maryland staff four years ago, Schiller served as the assistant ticket manager at Miami (Fla.) from 1996-99. He also worked in various intern positions from 1993-96 with Miami (Fla.), the Richmond Braves and Texas at Austin.

Schiller received his bachelor's degree in mass communications from Miami University of Ohio in 1993.

Dr. Charles
WELLFORD

Faculty Athletics Representative Ninth Year

Dr. Charles F. Wellford, professor and chair of the Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice, is in his ninth year as the University of Maryland's faculty athletics representative. In this role, he represents the University of Maryland and its faculty in the institution's relationships with the NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference. Dr. Wellford also serves as director of the Maryland Justice Analysis Center.

He served as president of the Atlantic Coast Conference for the 1999-2000 academic year, and has chaired the University of Maryland's Athletic Council since 1995-96. He previously served on the Athletic Council from 1986-89 and 1992-95.

At the University of Maryland, Dr. Wellford has been involved in a variety of leadership roles. He was interim associate provost for research and for continuing education. He is chair of the law and justice committee at the National Academy of Sciences.

He serves on numerous state and federal advisory boards and commissions, and is a past (1995-96) president of the American Society of Criminology (ASC).

Dr. Wellford received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Maryland and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by assistant athletics director Anton Goff, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, a new academic wing was added to the Gossett football team house last Fall. It features offices for two counselors, a program assistant and the learning specialist; as well as a quiet study area, 29-desk computer lab, classroom, tutor rooms and classroom/lab for the individualized learning program.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100 (First-year transitions to the university)

Maryland Gameplan

The Maryland Gameplan is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process. It is distributed to more than 500 corporations and businesses across the country, in addition to being featured on the M Club website. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club.

Career Networking Night

Because career development is an ongoing process, ASCDU provides a variety of programs for student-athletes throughout the year. Professional assistance with resume-writing, interviewing skills, graduate school search and job search is readily available to all student-athletes. During the spring semester ASCDU hosts the Career Networking Night, where student-athletes can learn about career interests and career planning. Unlike typical "job fairs," the purpose of this program is to allow student-athletes to explore multiple career opportunities by speaking directly to individuals in their chosen areas of interest. Employers at the Career Networking Night recognize the marketable qualities student-athletes have gained through athletic participation. Student-athletes learn about opportunities for internships and full-time jobs.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

Gossett Teamhouse features a 29-desk computer lab.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success (C.H.A.M.P.S.) Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balance system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Commitment Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation.

Commitment to Athletic Excellence To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete.

Commitment to Personal Development To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging emotional well-being, personal growth and decision-making skills.

Commitment to Career Development To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals.

Commitment to Service To engage student-athletes in service to his/her campus and surrounding communities.

Academic Support For Returning Athletes Program

The Academic Support for Returning Athletes Program was created in 1986 to support the academic efforts of former varsity student-athletes at the University of Maryland, College Park. In 1989, ASRAP was assigned by the President's Office to the Academic Achievements Program and enrolled 40 students that year. As a member of the National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), the University of Maryland is committed to assisting its former athletes with degree completion. A key component of the program is community outreach. Each returning student completes a "workship" that allows the cost of tuition and fees to be exchanged for community services with youth. In 2002, ASRAP moved into the ASCDU.

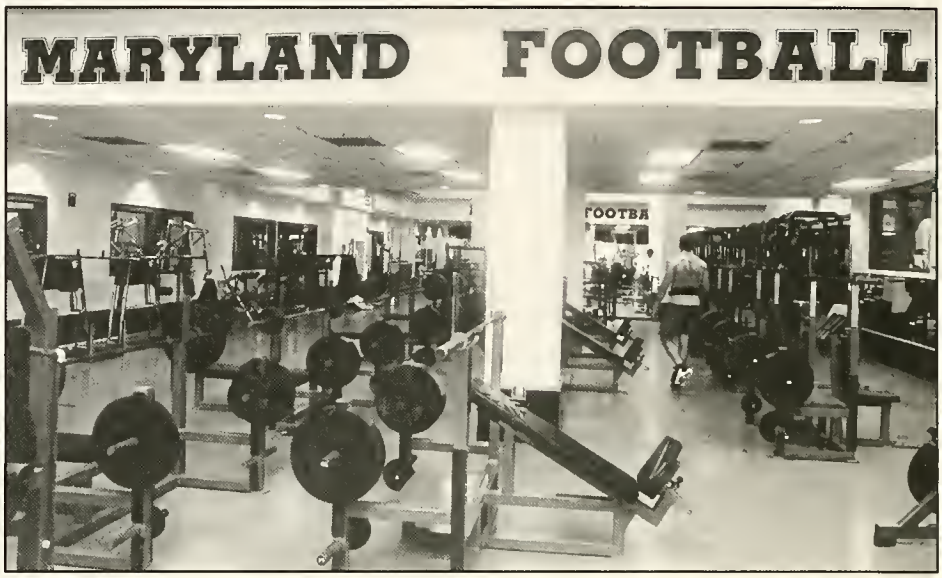
STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

In today's highly competitive world of collegiate football, the off-field preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the on-field success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning, believes strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention to the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.



The Terrapins are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the country. Conveniently located in the Gossett Football Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the playing field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.

Maryland football players train with some of the best equipment available, including 20,000 pounds of customized York free weights, seven pieces of Keiser progressive air resistance machines, and a full line of Hammer strength equipment. The weight complex also features immense, self-contained power rack stations, Olympic lifting platforms with Eleiko bumper plates and 10 upper body pressing stations.

A meaningful goal of every Terrapin football player is achievement of the prestigious "Iron Terp" award, which is recognized twice a year to those team members who achieve extremely challenging strength goals, based on body weight. It is a great honor and matter of pride to earn an "Iron Terp" award, and the Terps must "pay the toll" to accomplish this.

SPORTS MEDICINE

The University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics and the University of Maryland Medical Center's Sports Medicine program have joined forces to provide the best possible medical attention and care to all Terrapin student-athletes.

Says Deborah A. Yow, Maryland's director of athletics: "When we recruit student-athletes to play for Maryland, we owe them the best education, the best coaching and the best comprehensive health care. It is especially gratifying for us to partner with our medical center in the same fashion as other ACC institutions do with their medical schools."

Craig

BENNETT, M.D.

Head Team Physician/ Orthopaedic Surgeon First Year

Craig H. Bennett, M.D., begins his first season as the head team physician and orthopaedic surgeon for Maryland. Dr. Bennett is the Chief of Orthopaedic Sports Medicine at the University of Maryland School of Medicine and has also served as the head orthopaedic surgeon for the NFL's Baltimore Ravens. Prior to his arrival at Maryland, Dr. Bennett was at the University of Pittsburgh where he served as an assistant professor of orthopaedics, as a team physician for Pittsburgh's athletic department and as the associate team physician for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., Dr. Bennett graduated with honors from Brown University in 1985. He earned his medical degree from the University of California at San Francisco and completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery at Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia. He then completed a sports medicine-knee and shoulder fellowship at the University of Pittsburgh and subsequently stayed on staff at Pittsburgh for five years. While at Pittsburgh, he also served as the team physician for the men's basketball team.

Dr. Bennett was selected to the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons Leadership Fellows Program in 2003-04 and Towson University honored him as their African-American Scholar of the Year in 2004. He is a board certified member of the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery and a member of the NFL Team Physicians Association.

Yvette

ROOKS, M.D.

Primary Care Physician Sixth Year

Dr. Yvette Rooks is in her sixth year as a primary care physician for Maryland's program. Dr. Rooks graduated from the Update Medical School/Health Science Center in Syracuse, N.Y., in 1993. She completed her residency in family medicine and a sports medicine fellowship at the University of Maryland, Baltimore. She currently is an assistant professor in the Department of Family Medicine at the University of Maryland School of Medicine. Dr. Rooks also serves as a team physician at Coppin State.

She graduated with honors from the State University of New York at Albany where she was a four-year starter on the volleyball team.

Michael

YORIO, M.D.

Assistant Team Physician Sixth Year

Michael Yorio, M.D., an internist with specialized training in sports medicine, is the assistant team physician for Maryland. He is also an assistant professor in the department of orthopaedics and medicine at the University of Maryland School of Medicine. He completed his undergraduate degree at Villanova University, and received his medical degree from SUNY Health Science Center at Syracuse. Dr. Yorio also studied at St. George's University School of Medicine in Grenada. Dr. Yorio previously served as a sports medicine fellow with the University of Maryland Orthopaedics. Prior to that, he was a resident physician in internal medicine at Carolinas Medical Center.

Dr. Yorio is an active member of the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine and the American College of Sports Medicine.

Dr. Yorio and his wife, Amy Hearne, M.D., an OB/GYN physician, reside in Annapolis, Md.

STUDENT HEALTH CENTER

Dr. Sacared Bodison, Dr. Stephen Fahey and Dr. Yulanda Swindell are three full-time University Health Center physicians who specialize in sports medicine. Dr. Bodison is the director at the Health Center and has been involved with the care of student-athletes since 1982 and is a member of the Maryland Athletic Council. Dr. Fahey is an emergency physician who is in his 18th year working with the Terrapins. All three doctors are available to treat student-athletes daily on an as-needed basis in the Health Center. In addition, Dr. Yulanda Swindell is in her first year at Maryland.

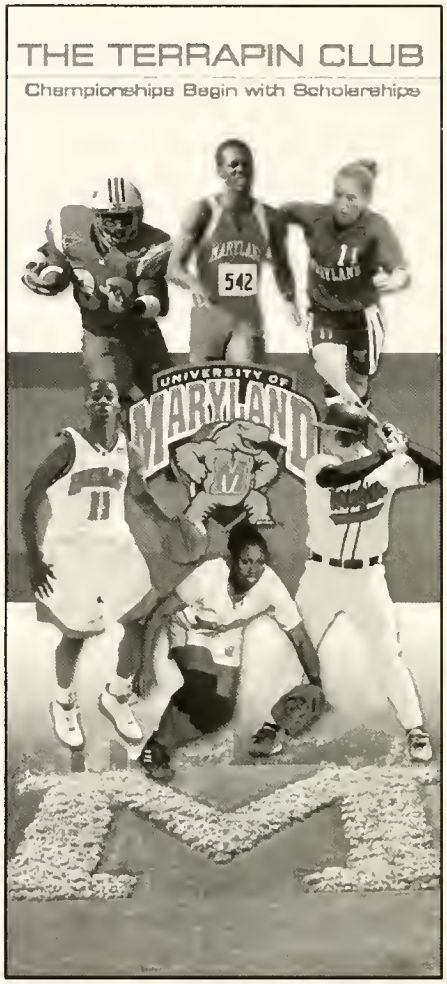
TERRAPIN CLUB

Championships Begin With Scholarships

Athletic excellence is a tradition at the University of Maryland—a tradition alumni and friends alike want to see continue and flourish. That's why we are inviting you to be a member of the Maryland Athletics Family by joining the Terrapin Club. Whether you are an alumnus of the University of Maryland or a friend interesting in supporting the state's flagship campus, belonging to the Terrapin Club enables you to:

- Provide annual scholarship support for our student-athletes who will contribute to the community
- Share our vision to fully scholarship all sports to best represent the University
- Take pride in the achievement of athletic excellence
- Participate in the camaraderie and fellowship unique to Terrapin Club members
- Receive a tax deduction for your financial contribution for scholarships
- Enjoy access to great benefits including priority seating in Byrd Stadium for football and Comcast Center for basketball, priority parking and tickets to other events
- Access your own personal member page within the Terrapin Club web site, to review your account

Your donation is a vital part of our strategic plan. At Maryland, the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics operates without significant University funding and receives no state appropriations or tax dollars for operational expenses. Sanctioned by the University of Maryland College Park Foundation, 100% of the funds raised through the Terrapin Club are managed by the Foundation for the exclusive use of Maryland Athletics. Your contribution directly supports an annual student-athlete scholarship cost of over $7 million and Terrapin Club and department expenses. The Terrapin Club provides scholarship support to many of the 700 student-athletes who compete on 27 varsity team representing the University of Maryland.



Getting Involved

Direct Gifts are the most common way of contributing. They are made in the form of cash, stock, checks or credit card (Visa, MasterCard, American Express or Discover). For your convenience, a personal checking account can be debited a set amount every month.

In many cases, corporate matching gifts may be used to make your Terrapin Club contribution. Please contact your employer to see if you are eligible for a matching gift program.

MAJOR GIFTS FUNDRAISING

The University of Maryland Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to providing its student-athletes the resources they need to excel athletically and academically. It also strives to provide fans an exciting game day environment in which to enjoy the exhilaration of collegiate athletics. The Athletics Major Gifts staff works with Terrapin Club members, alumni and friends to raise funds for facility construction or renovation projects, and endowments for scholarships and programs.

The Gossett Football Team House campaign began in 2002 as an effort to provide Maryland Football with the necessary tools to compete annually for conference and national championships. Funds raised through this vital campaign have helped make significant improvements to the football facilities and fields. Three main areas were either refurbished or newly constructed, adding over 20,000 square feet to the team house. The Foxman Family Academic Support Unit was completed in the fall of 2002 with over 35 computer work stations, as well as private tutoring and counseling areas and large group study areas. The Erik B. Young and Family Dining Hall was completed in winter 2004. The Young Dining Hall serves as the training table for football and other teams, and provides invaluable space for hosting recruits and their families. The Lowell and Harriet Glazer Family Auditorium and the new entrance and the Howard and Stanley Bender Lobby are scheduled for completion by fall 2004. The Glazer Auditorium will have space sufficient for the entire football team and coaching staff to meet together as a group to prepare for competition. The new entrance and the Bender Lobby, as well as the Hall of Fame area, will present Maryland Football and its past glories in a truly exceptional way.

The renovations to the Gossett Football Team House are making a positive and strong impression to prospective players, the team, alumni and visitors about the seriousness we place on football at Maryland. These continuing facility upgrades are crucial in order to compete with the top colleges and universities in the country for the best student-athletes, as well as making Maryland Football a source of pride for alumni and fans alike.

You can have your name permanently associated with the excitement of Maryland Football by making a gift to the Gossett Football Team House campaign. Naming opportunities exist for gifts beginning at $2,000 for chairs in the Glazer Auditorium, $5,000 for player lockers in the team locker room and beginning at $25,000 for other rooms and areas in the team house. Gifts to the Gossett Football Team House campaign are managed by the University of Maryland College Park Foundation.

To obtain information on the Gossett Football Team House campaign or other Athletics fund raising opportunities, contact the Athletics Major Gifts Office at (301) 314-7020, or toll free at (800) 653-7667, or by email at terrapinclub@umd.edu

The Gossett Football Team House Campaign has resulted in a wonderful renovated complex completed with a new scoreboard.

THE M CLUB

An 81-Year Tradition of "Athletes Helping Athletes"SM

The M Club was founded in 1923 by a group of former University of Maryland athletes led by Dr. H.C. "Curley" Byrd to encourage excellence in athletics. It is one of the oldest and most respected letterwinner clubs in the country with an organization of more than 4,500 former Maryland varsity athletes and a leader in the National Letter Winners Association.

The M Club goals are to help achieve the very best overall academic and athletic program for all the varsity teams, to aid the athletes in making positive contributions to the community, to obtain and maintain funds for awards and scholarships and to cultivate networking, social contact and good sportsmanship among the wearers of the "M."

Membership participation, through the payment of annual dues, helps build the scholarship endowment fund, support student-athletes' awards and recognition efforts and provide for career development initiatives. Members receive information about the current teams and news about former teammates through a monthly electronic newsletter and a quarterly printed newsletter.

In addition, active members receive information about, and discounts for, various M Club activities. Many benefits are intangible, though, including the satisfaction of having lettered at a great university and being a part of a unique and exclusive organization.

University of Maryland letterwinners interested in the M Club should call David Diehl at (301) 314-5372 or Dotti Warren at (301) 314-7020, or visit our website at www.themclub.org.

Remember the M Club, "Athletes Helping Athletes."

TERPS ON THE RADIO

All of Maryland's games will be broadcast live on the Terrapin Sports Network, which boasts one of the strongest coverage areas in collegiate sports. Terrapin Sports Marketing, a division of Viacom Sports Marketing, manages the Terrapin Sports Network in College Park. In its third year as the multi-media marketing rights partner for University of Maryland athletics, Terrapin Sports Marketing is building a stronger network that will provide coverage in Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and Washington, D.C.

WBAL (1090) in Baltimore and WMAL (630) in Washington D.C., will serve as the flagship stations for football with many more stations across the state picking up the games.

Maryland's broadcasts will be accessible on the Internet via the Terps' official athletics website, www.umterps.com.

Johnny HOLLIDAY

Play-By-Play Announcer
26th Year

Johnny Holliday, now in his 26th year as "Voice of the Terps," is considered one of the finest play-by-play announcers in the country. In addition to calling the action for the Maryland football and basketball teams, Holliday hosts the Ralph Friedgen and Gary Williams television shows. As the Terps' director of broadcasting, he handles a myriad of speaking duties within the athletics department, ranging from banquets to golf outings.

His long list of credits include being heard coast to coast Monday through Friday mornings on the ABC radio networks, XM Satellite and Sirius, ABC's coverage of the 2000 and 1996 Summer Olympics and the Winter and Summer Olympics in 1984, 1988 and 1994. He is now in his 24th year with ABC Sports and, in addition, has covered championship boxing, the Masters, and the Liberty and Aloha bowls.

Holliday's announcing career allows him to lay claim as Washington's most versatile broadcaster, and among the best nationally. He was inducted into the Radio Television Broadcasters Hall of Fame in October 2003. Whether it be in radio, where he was named America's No. 1 disc jockey during his deejay days, to his public address duties with the Cleveland Browns, Oakland Raiders, and Golden State Warriors, to his work in Washington television for the Senators and Bullets, Holliday makes a complicated business look easy. In September of 2002, Holliday released his autobiography, From Rock to Jock, reflecting on his career as a deejay and his transition into sports broadcasting.

He brings that ease to the Maryland coaches' television shows on Comcast SportsNet, the region's premier sports channel. Holliday is among the pioneer broadcasts for the sport of women's basketball, earning a Distinguished Service Award from ACC women's basketball officials for his work on that league's women's basketball telecasts. Additionally, Holliday was named one of the top 16 radio announcers for college basketball by ESPN's Dick Vitale. Holliday has broadcast more than 1,500 Terp football and basketball games, including nine bowl games, 10 Sweet Sixteens, two Final Fours and Maryland basketball's national championship game in 2002.

A native of Miami, Fla., Holliday began his broadcasting career in Perry, Ga., and through the years has worked in four of the nation's prime radio networks: Cleveland, New York, San Francisco and Washington. At one time, he was recognized as America's No. 1 disc jockey. In addition to his broadcasting accomplishments, he also has been extremely successful raising money for charity. Washingtonian magazine honored him as a Washingtonian of the Year for his many civic duties. His basketball and softball teams, the Radio Wonders, have raised more than $1 million for charity. He is involved in Special Olympics, Catholic Charities, Operation Smile, and the Boy Scouts of America. He has served as television host for the Easter Seals, Muscular Dystrophy, March of Dimes and Leukemia telethons. In October of 2003, he will be inducted into the Radio-Television Broadcasters Hall of Fame.

In 1998, he was honored by the Greater Washington, D.C. Chapter of Operation Smile with its 1998 Smile Award for his outstanding service to the community. In 1995, he was the recipient of the University of Maryland M Club Distinguished Citizen Award. He earned the Touchdown Club Award for outstanding achievement in sports broadcasting in 1991, and was the recipient of the Maryland basketball service award in 1999. He is an honorary member of the university's chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa and the university's Alumni Association.

Holliday and his wife, Mary Clare, are the proud parents of three daughters: Kellie, a physician who resides in Bel Air, Md., with her husband Steve, who is also a physician; Tracie, a neonatal nurse at Shady Grove Hospital who resides in Potomac, Md., with her husband Chris, an attorney; and Moira, who works for Discovery International Television and resides with her husband Bob who works for Bonneville Broadcasting.

Jonathan CLAIBORNE

Color Commentary
Fifth Year

Former Terrapin standout Jonathan Claiborne is in his fifth season as the color analyst on Maryland's radio broadcast team. Claiborne, who lettered from 1975-77 as a safety, is the son of former Terp head coach Jerry Claiborne, who was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame in 1999 after a 28-year career as head coach at Virginia Tech, Maryland and Kentucky.

Originally a walk-on at Maryland in the mid-'70s, Jonathan Claiborne eventually worked his way into a first-string safety position and earned a scholarship. He was a two-year starter and played on three bowl teams. The Terps were 28-7-1 during his varsity playing career.

Claiborne, who is now a practicing attorney in the Baltimore area for the firm Whiteford, Taylor and Preston, excelled on and off the field while playing with the Terrapins. He was a two-time All-ACC Academic selection and a 1977 CoSIDA Academic All-American. He also was the recipient of a NCAA Post-graduate Scholarship in addition to earning a fellowship from the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame. Claiborne earned a double degree at Maryland (history and accounting) and posted a cumulative GPA of 3.57. He was a two-time winner of the George C. Cook Award (given to the Terp varsity football player with the highest grade point average) and also won the Talbot T. Speer Award for leadership, scholarship and athletic ability.

Claiborne previously spent four years as a color analyst on Towson Tiger football radio broadcasts.

Tim STRACHAN

Sideline Reporter
Ninth Year

Former DeMatha standout Tim Strachan is in his ninth season as the sideline reporter on Maryland's football broadcasts. Strachan, a 1999 graduate of the University of Maryland with a degree in communication, was a student assistant coach with the Terps from 1996-99. He graduated from Georgetown University Law Center in the spring of 2004.

Strachan, who was paralyzed in a swimming accident before his senior year of high school, launched T13 Charities — A Foundation for Spinal Cord Injuries as a way to benefit others with spinal cord injuries. He is a professional motivational speaker and also is a freelance reporter for the Ralph Friedgen and Gary Williams coaches' television shows. He was named the 1999 Washingtonian of the Year by Washingtonian magazine.

Credentials

Credentials and working space for media members are issued at the sole and exclusive discretion of the University of Maryland Athletics Media Relations Office. Issuance of credentials may be based on the following priorities and guidelines:

1. Originating radio and television personnel involved in a live broadcast

2. Daily newspapers regularly covering the University of Maryland, the current-game opponent or another Atlantic Coast Conference school. Wire services, regional and national publications are also afforded this priority

3. Non-originating radio and television personnel producing reports on the game. Only local radio stations with a full-time sports director conducting a regular sports show receive consideration for credentials.

5 Non-daily newspapers or publications reporting on the game.

Other Guidelines

• Season media credentials are issued to those outlets which cover Maryland Athletics on a regular basis. They do not guarantee working space in media work areas.

• With the exception of Terrapin beat reporters covering the team on a daily basis and producing daily reports, all passes are approved and issued on a game-by-game basis.

• Passes are non-transferable and are subject to immediate revocation if transferred to non-working members of a media outlet.

• Due to limited space and to ensure compliance with NCAA guidelines, no credentials will be issued to "free-lance" writers or photographers without a specific assignment received in writing by the assigning organization.

• The University of Maryland and the NCAA prohibit the issuance of credentials to representatives of an organization that regularly publishes gambling information, such as "tout sheets" or "tip sheets."

• Credentials are issued to web sites that are affiliated with national or regional media organizations, e.g USA Today.com, ESPN.com, CBS SportsLine, etc., for web sites of Atlantic Coast Conference schools or non-conference opponents, or for the Atlantic Coast Conference office

• Web sites that sponsor "message boards" or "chat rooms" where people are allowed to post anonymous information or rumors are ineligible for credentials or access to media functions. If a news-gathering medium has an online site that sponsors these anonymous forums, they may continue to request credentials under their traditional medium (newspaper, magazine, radio or television), but will not be granted additional passes or access for online staff.

• All persons picking up credentials will be required to furnish positive identification. All credentials are non-transferable, and no credentials will be issued to those under the age of 18

Credential Requests

Credential requests must be made by sports editors or sports directors on official letterhead no later than five days prior to an event. They should be sent to the Athletic Media Relations Office, University of Maryland, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. They may also be faxed to 301-314-9094 No credential requests will be accepted via e-mail or by phone.

Admission to media facilities are for working media only.

E-mail Service

Football releases can be obtained electronically by contacting Greg Creese at gcreese@umd.edu. List TERP NEWS in the subject heading, and include the name of your media outlet and phone number in your message (This is a media service only).

Internet Guidelines

The acceptance of media credentials is an acknowledgement of the University of Maryland's rights to the game and play-by-play coverage and an outlet's agreement to abide by any restrictions the University of Maryland may place on real-time play-by-play coverage and use of comprehensive game statistics. Failure to abide by these restrictions implemented by the University of Maryland may result in revocation of press credentials. The University of Maryland reserves the right to grant approval for distribution of real time play-by-play, game-related statistics and information through the Internet ("real time" is defined as any online media providing live continual play-by-play coverage, in-game statistics, digital photographs, or audio or video of an event).

Parking

Game-day press parking is located in the Union Lane Garage which is adjacent to Cole Field House and along Field House Drive. The parking garage is best accessed from the Stadium Drive entrance to campus. Access is via pass only and is available on a limited basis.

Photography Regulations

Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment. Photographers should obtain an armband from the media-relations assistant on the field below Section 28 to gain admittance to the field Under NCAA and ACC rules, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside of the restraining lines surrounding the playing field

Photographers are expected to comply with all University regulations and policies. Any photographer or any media a member not complying with instructions of University staff may be required to surrender their credentials.

Player Interviews

All player interviews must be arranged through Greg Creese or Doug Dull. Players have been instructed not to participate in interviews unless they have been arranged through the Media Relations Office. Interviews will be conducted Monday through the start of practice on Thursday No interviews will be allowed on Sunday or Friday Player phone numbers will not be released, and members of the media are asked not to attempt to contact student-athletes or relatives on the telephone or via e-mail. Players are not available for live call-in radio shows.

Postgame Interviews

Head coach Ralph Friedgen and selected players will be brought to the Gossett Team House Dining Facility on the second floor of the Gossett Football Team House for postgame interviews following home games. The team room is accessed through the front door of the complex, located one level above the playing field. Please enter the glass doors and follow the hallway to the team room on the right. Interviews with the visiting team coach and players will be coordinated by the opponent SID staff The interview area for the opposing coach is in the weight room of the Varsity Team House, located outside the stadium on the opposite side of the field from the Tyser Tower Press Box The Terps follow similar guidelines for coach and player interviews for road games.

Maryland's locker room is closed following games.

Practice Coverage

Only the first 30 minutes of practice are open. Media wishing to attend practice should contact the Media Relations Office in advance. All members of the media are asked to view practice from the sloped portion of the field (along Stadium Drive). Once the team goes into pads in the fall, TV B-roll and still photographers will be allowed to shoot warm-ups, stretching drills and the first four periods of practice. Team meetings before, during and after practice are private. Practices generally begin at 3:45 p.m. and conclude at 6 p.m. The team does not practice on Sunday during the season with the exception of the weeks on Thursday night games.

Ralph Friedgen Interviews

Coach Friedgen will be available to the media at his weekly Tuesday media luncheons, which begin at 1 p.m. in the Gossett Team House Dining Facility. Friedgen will also be available on the weekly ACC Teleconference held each Wednesday at 11:50 a.m. ET.

Press Box

The press box is located on the south side of Byrd Stadium in Tyser Tower. Access to Level 3 (print) and Level 4 (radio, television booths) is via elevators.

Statistical Services

Complete team and individual statistics by quarter, play-by-play, and postgame notes and quotes will be provided to the working media. Scores of other college games are provided before, during and after the game. In-game stat monitors are stationed throughout the press box. An internal PA system will provide updated statistics and notes throughout the game.

Teleconference

The 11 ACC football coaches will be featured on a weekly teleconference each Wednesday from 11.00 a.m., to 12:50 p.m., beginning Sept. 1 and concluding Nov. 24 Each coach will have 10 minutes to make an opening statement and answer questions. There will be an instant replay of each teleconference on the Conference's internet site TheACC.com each Wednesday afternoon. The media phone number for the teleconference is to be announced at a later date.
